Tornadic Winds, Rains Pose New Flood Threat

Anthrax Hits Deeper Into Two Parishes

Cattle Losses In Morehouse, Ouachita Mount

By JOHN CALE
Staff Writer

Anthrax, dreaded cattle disease which may also be contracted by human beings, spread deeper into Ouachita parish yesterday from neighboring Morehouse, according to a report from W. B. Aycock, associate county agent here.

"I called the Police Jury Thursday night to get a bulldozer to bury four dead cows in the Perryville area," Aycock said. "By sundown last night, we had burned or buried 28 animals."

Morehouse Hit Hard

The disease was first reported last week in Morehouse across the parish line from Ouachita near Perryville. Later this week, however, it spread to the far side of the parish in the Jones-McGinity area and in the Collinston and Mer Rouge areas.

R. M. McDuff, county agent for Morehouse Parish, said the disease had reached the epidemic stage in his area with more than 200 dead animals accounted for.

Thus far, the outbreak in Ouachita parish has been limited to cattle in the Perryville area. Both Aycock and McDuff, county agents urged cattle owners to contact their offices in any case where the disease was suspected.

Carcass Disposal

Agriculture and Health authorities urged persons in the affected areas not to touch or otherwise handle any dead or afflicted animal. Dead animals must be burned or buried on the spot, officials on the scene yesterday stressed.

Dr. B. B. Vail, Area Veterinarian for the Livestock Sanitary Board, pointed out the disease was transmitted by a spore which destroys the components of the blood of all warm-blooded animals.

"This spore is carried from animal to animal through drinking water, grazing material or by insects," he said.

Cecil Allen and Al Lord, of the state and parish health departments respectively, were supervising dusting carcasses and areas where the disease was known to exist. Allen, an entomologist with the Insect Vector Control Section of the La. Dept. of Health stressed the need for thorough insect control in bringing the disease to a halt.

Dr. H. B. Elliot, head of the Louisiana Livestock Sanitation Board's diagnostic laboratory in Baton Rouge, came to the Perryville area yesterday with other veterinarians and took specimens. The team rushed back to Baton Rouge to determine the particular

United States Brushes Aside Red Disclaimer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States brushed aside a Soviet disclaimer and insisted Friday on dealing with the Soviets for the release of a helicopter and nine U.S. soldiers held in East Germany.

The move came as something of a surprise.

Secretary of State Dulles told his news conference last Tuesday the United States was prepared to negotiate with East Germany—whose puppet Communist regime this country does not recognize—for return of the aircraft and its passengers.

That was after the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin had said it was exclusively an East German affair.

Found Guilty Of Malfeasance

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The president and vice president of the St. Bernard Parish police jury were found guilty Friday of charges of malfeasance in office.

Judge J. Bernard Cocke said he would set a date later for sentencing jury president Celestine Melerine and vice president James Licciardi.

Cocke earlier rejected a move by defense counsel asking the court for a directed verdict of not guilty after the prosecution rested its case.

Both men denied charges of alleged kickbacks in road repair projects.

Contractor John B. Lopez testified he kicked back $698 on shell purchases made by the police jury. He also testified both Melerine and Licciardi were present during the kickback negotiations.

Arcadia Man Killed, Several Others Injured

An Arcadia man was killed and four or five other persons injured in a two-car crash shortly before 11 last night on Highway 80, near the colored school in Choudrant.

Killed instantly was Henderson Jordan, who was alone in his car.

The Lincoln Parish Sheriff's Department, who investigated the mishap along with State Police, identified four of those injured as belonging to one family.

"The Fullilove family, the man, his wife and their two children were in the other car" officials stated. The family is from Shreveport. All were taken to the Ruston hospital, where their conditions were still unknown at midnight.

A Lincoln Parish Deputy Sheriff said that there was a possibility that one other person, a passenger in the Fullilove auto, was also injured.

LSU Requests Investigation Of Integration

'Retreat' Of Whites, Negroes Is Said Held

By BRYCE MILLER

BATON ROUGE (UPI) Louisiana State University Friday asked YM-YWCA officials to investigate and act on a story that the campus "Y" had conducted a racially mixed "retreat" of white and Negro college students from LSU and Southern University.

United Press International confirmed the story.

The university is currently enmeshed in a legislative probe of purported "un-American activities" brought on by opposition by a group of 66 university professors to proposed segregation legislation.

Joseph H. Mattox Jr., director of Public Relations at LSU, said the small amount of "official" information gathered by the university during the past 24 hours has been turned over to the board of directors of the campus YM-YWA. The university employes who set up the party, which occured three years ago, is still employed at LSU.

"The university's policy with respect to segregation is crystal clear," Mattox said. "We have departed from it only as required by federal court orders. If there has been any social activity involving LSU students and Negroes, it has been held

State Powers Over Disputes In Labor Win

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supporters of a move to expand state power over labor disputes won a tentative victory Friday by defeating a proposal to assert federal authority over all such disputes affecting interstate commerce.

The Senate turned down by a vote of 46 to 43 an amendment by Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.) to the Senate labor reform bill which would have forced the National Labor Relations Board to take jurisdiction in all such cases.

Ives offered his amendment as a substitute for a proposal by Sen. Arthur Watkins (R-Utah) to give state labor boards and courts authority to handle cases over which the NLRB arbitrarily declines jurisdiction.

But forces seeking a stronger bill must put across the Watkins amendment to solidify their victory. Should it be defeated, the original language of the bill would stand.

No Man's Land

That would mean that the NLRB would have jurisdiction in the so-called "no man's land" created by Supreme Court decisions which held that state agencies cannot handle labor disputes involving interstate commerce even if the NLRB declines jurisdiction.

The NLRB claims it lacks the facilities to handle all cases.

Earlier, the Senate headed warnings not to load the bill with controversial amendments and rejected by a 60 to 27 vote a proposal to let states ban public utility strikes.

COULDN'T FLY; PLANE STOLEN

Airman On Joyride Dies In Jet Crash

ALCONBURY, England (UPI)—A young U.S. airman who could fix planes but not fly them piloted a stolen jet bomber into the night sky on a solo joyride Friday. His moment of glory ended in a flaming crash moments later.

The plane, a B45 twin-jet Tornado, plunged into the main railroad line between London and Edinburgh a few minutes before an express was due. Trainmen stopped the express in time to prevent a worse tragedy.

The amateur pilot was identified as Airman 2-C Vernon Lewis Morgan, 21, of Elizabeth, Ind., chief of a B45 mechanical crew. He died instantly.

He is survived by his wife, Susan Marie, and his father, Chester Earl Morgan, who live on Route 2, near Elizabeth.

Four Killed

Only 10 minutes earlier, two American and two British airmen were killed five miles southwest of this big U.S. air base when a U.S. jet trainer and a British jet bomber collided in air.

Air force officials said there was no connection between the two accidents.

The youthful mechanic sneaked aboard the Tornado and roared off the runway in it at 12:23 a.m.

Air Force authorities were baffled as to the reason.

There were only two Tornados on the base and both were headed for scrapping as obsolete. They are being replaced with B66 Destroyers.

Just getting the plane off the ground was a feat for the young airman. B45s usually carry four-man crews.

Leftist British leaders have voiced fears that some airman might steal a plane with a hydrogen bomb in it and cause a catastrophe in just such a crash.

Sen. Long Calls For Tax Relief

WASHINGTON (Special) —Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana Friday advocated passage of tax relief legislation providing for immediate return of one-month's withholding tax deduction to the taxpayer.

He estimated that his approximately eight and one-half percent reduction of the personal income tax would average about $30 for the average working man and would place about $2 billion in immediate circulation.

Long said he felt this money would go into purchasing power, would stimulate many businesses that have been on the wane and would accordingly provide many jobs.

He also came out for Alaskan statehood. He said at the present time Alaska is being discriminated against since its people are paying taxes but have very little representation in the affairs of the Nation.

Long pointed out that, while the territory has a delegate in the House, that delegate has no vote and there is no representation of Alaska in the Senate.

"I am convinced that Alaska as a state will develop rapidly," he said. "While I was a member of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee I was impressed with the potential of Alaska and I feel that when Alaskans secure statehood, the expansion of their tremendous natural resources will be quickly noticeable."

The Senator said he believes the Alaskan representation in congress would probably take a position on most issues similar to that taken by the Senators from the Pacific Northwest. He reminded Southerners of how helpful the Senators from those states were in limiting the civil rights bill

Miss. Governor Is Subpoenaed On Negro Case

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Circuit court has subpoenaed Governor J. P. Coleman and six other persons for a habaes corpus hearing Monday on whether a Negro who tried to enroll at a white university is being held illegally at a mental hospital.

A lunacy hearing last week sent Clennon King, 37-year-old former Alcorn A&M (Negro) College history professor, to Mississippi State (mental) Hospital at nearby Whitfield for examination.

King had tried to enroll in the University of Mississippi graduate school. School officials refused to permit him to register immediately on grounds his application had not been filed and accepted in accordance with college procedure.

King's attorney, R. Jess Brown of Vicksburg, filed a writ of habeas corpus on grounds King's lunacy hearing did not constitute due process of law.

Besides Coleman, who has said the governor is constitutionally immune from subpoena, the circuit court subpoenaed these witnesses:

Commissioner of Public Safety Tom Scarbrough; Hinds County Chancery Clerk Frank Scott; Dr. Mary Lee of the Hinds County Health Department; Dr. Beverley Smith, neuro-psychiatrist; Sam Ivy, director of the highway patrol bureau of identification; and Charles Dunagan, Jackson State Times reporter.

Scarbrough and Ivy were on the scene when King sought to register. Scott and the physicians constituted the lunacy hearing. Dunagan wrote that he was ejected from the lunacy hearing, from which the public and press were barred.

FIRST IN YEAR

Production Index Upturn Is Noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first upturn in the nation's industrial production index in almost a year was reported Friday by the Federal Reserve Board.

The board said the index of mine, mill and factory output inched up one point from April to May. At 127 per cent of the 1947-49 average, the May figure was still 18 points below the level of last August and 20 points below the record high of December 1956.

The index is regarded as a highly sensitive indicator. It began to slip a year and a half ago, well ahead of other economic barometers.

Summary

In its monthly summary of business conditions, the reserve board said "economic activity firmed in May following eight months of decline."

"Industrial production, employment and incomes edged up," it said, "and retail sales were maintained.

"Unemployment declined more than seasonally.

Dr. Emerson P. Schmidt, economic research director for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, was asked at a chamber symposium Friday when he expects the country will pull out of the recession.

He replied: "Once people are convinced that we are at the bottom, that there will be no more layoffs, they will start buying and the recession will begin to end. This will happen before the end of this year."

Dolly The Cow Falls 40 Feet

GLASTONBURY, Conn. (AP)—Dolly the cow slipped.

She reached for a clump of grass on the rim of an abandoned quarry and skidded on damp moss. She fell 40 feet into water 30 feet deep.

She swam to a ledge and clung with her forefeet.

Her heifer, Bessie, gave the alarm. She returned to the home of her owner, Mose Galli, and mooed plaintively.

Galli went to the pasture to take a look. He found Dolly and sought help.

Two men, lowered on a rope to the ledge, helped the cow to solid rock.

Then police summoned a crane. Finally, the rescue party fashioned a sling of canvas for Dolly, floated her back into the water to position her for a clear hoist and the crane lifted her to safety.

Moscow Agrees To Meeting On Nuclear Issue

LONDON (AP)—Moscow agreed Friday night that a meeting of experts to study means of detecting nuclear explosions should begin at Geneva July 1.

Moscow radio announced that a note agreeing to President Eisenhower's proposals for such a meeting was handed to U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The Soviet note was in reply to a letter from President Eisenhower to Premier Khrushchev Tuesday.

The broadcast Tass dispatch said both the letter and the answer are being published in Moscow Saturday morning papers.

The Soviet reply expressed regret that no agreement has been reached on a suggestion that Indian experts take part in the meeting from the beginning.

White House Is Silent On Adams Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House firmly refused to say Friday whether Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine gave an expensive coat and valuable Oriental rug to his friend in high position, Sherman Adams.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty was definite, however, on two points:

Adams has not handed in his resignation as No. 2 man at the White House, and President Eisenhower hasn't asked him to.

And for the third time in three days, Hagerty told reporters:

"The President has complete confidence in Gov. Adams."

Adams, former New Hampshire governor, has acknowledged getting in touch with two federal agencies on behalf of Goldfine and letting Goldfine pay his bills at hotels in Boston and Plymouth, Mass.

Denied

But he has denied — Hagerty said he "knocked into a cocked hat"—what Adams termed insinuations by a House subcommittee that Goldfine received any favored treatment as a result.

Hagerty refused repeatedly to say whether Adams had accepted a $700 vicuna coat and $2,400 Oriental rug as gifts from Goldfine. He said he believes Adams "put on the record all the facts," in a letter Thursday to the chairman of the subcommittee, Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark).

The letter said nothing about a coat or rug. It mentioned the contacts with government agencies

GROUND CREWS DISPATCHED

Say 'Suicide' Plane May Be Down In Tex.

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP)— Two search planes from Hensley Air Force Base, Dallas, reported Friday night that they saw something in the woods between Henderson and Tatum, Tex., that could be Donald Keeton's missing aircraft.

Ground crews made their way toward the spot.

Keeton has been missing since Thursday when he flew a rented Cessna 120 out of Gulfport, Miss., leaving behind a note that he contemplated suicide.

Meanwhile, Texas police had a pickup order, authorized by Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., for Keeton, an airman at the base. His trail ended at a private landing field here in east Texas Thursday.

"Please come home, Don," pleaded his childhood sweetheart, Doris Lynn Bowling of Dallas. And meager clues indicated Keeton, 19, had that in mind when he made a hurried stop near Longview Thursday.

Civil Air Patrol craft went aloft to search for the yellow plane with black trim. Maj. Donald Davidson, commander of the Southern Rescue Coordination Center in Dallas, said the State Highway Patrol was making a ground search.

Keeton landed the Cessna 120 at about 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the Premier Oil Co. private airport at Greggton, a Longview suburb. He asked Earl Cleveland, superintendent, for gas.

Cleveland, who didn't realize it was Keeton until he saw an Associated Press Wirephoto of the youth in Friday's Longview News-Journal, said: "He acted funny. He told me he had flown from the Gulf Coast but wouldn't tell me where he was going. ... He was very nervous."

Cleveland directed Keeton to the Gregg County Airport eight miles away for fuel. But Keeton, his engine sputtering and the light plane gaining altitude slowly, took off in a different direction — toward Tyler, but also in the general direction of Dallas.

Indiana Is Beleaguered By Weather

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Tornadic winds and new downpours swept Indiana floodlands Friday and rivers threatened to go on a brand new rampage through beleaguered cities and towns.

A three-state area stretching from 3 miles east of Springfield, Ill., to 20 miles east of Zanesville, Ohio, was warned to prepare for possible tornadoes, damaging winds, hail and thunderstorms. A previous alert, which covered the north central Indiana floodlands, was cancelled.

Tornado funnels swirled across Illinois and Indiana in mid-afternoon, but damage appeared to be slight. The Weather Bureau reported twisters above the ground near Dyer, Ind., Warsaw, Ind., and Tinley Park, Ill., a Chicago suburb.

As a warmup to the new storms rains ranging up to 3½ inches pounded cities in the Indiana flood zone, winds of tornado force smashed Logansport and Markleville, and a flash flood isolated the town of Scircleville. Storm damage at Markleville was estimated at $8,000, while National Guardsmen stood by at Frankfort ready for a possible call for help from Scircleville.

First Flood Death

Indiana counted its first death directly related to the floods. Leonard Dunsen, 15, Indianapolis, drowned in the swollen White River when a raft on which he was playing broke up and he was swept beneath the racing waters. His death brought the total of storm-linked fatalities in Indiana this week to 14.

Indiana's storms were part of tempestuous Midwest pattern. An 80-mile-hour wind storm, at first described as a tornado, smashed 800 barracks windows at the Lockbourne Air Base in Ohio.

Stage Is Set For Fight On Farm Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee set the stage for another election-year farm battle Friday by approving a catch-all bill that already is threatened with a possible presidential veto.

Split along party lines, the committee voted 21-10 to send to the House floor a bill continuing the overseas surplus disposal program and proposing controversial new price support programs for wheat, rice, cotton, feed grains and milk.

Lumped in with these features, some of which have drawn fire from Secretary of Agriculture Benson, was a three-year extension of the domestic wool subsidy and school milk programs and various other provisions.

Two years ago, President Eisenhower vetoed a bill calling for mandatory high price supports and a "two price" wheat program idential with the wheat section in the current House committee bill.

Congress followed up the 1956 veto by enacting the President's soil bank programs for paying farmers to retire surplus crop lands.

Miss. Governor Is Subpoenaed On Negro Case

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Circuit court has subpoenaed Governor J. P. Coleman and six other persons for a habaes corpus hearing Monday on whether a Negro who tried to enroll at a white university is being held illegally at a mental hospital.

A lunacy hearing last week sent Clennon King, 37-year-old former Alcorn A&M (Negro) College history professor, to Mississippi State (mental) Hospital at nearby Whitfield for examination.

King had tried to enroll in the University of Mississippi graduate school. School officials refused to permit him to register immediately on grounds his application had not been filed and accepted in accordance with college procedure.

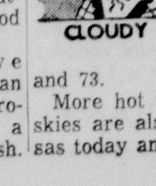
King's attorney, R. Jess Brown of Vicksburg, filed a writ of habeas corpus on grounds King's lunacy hearing did not constitute due process of law.

Besides Coleman, who has said the governor is constitutionally immune from subpoena, the circuit court subpoenaed these witnesses:

Commissioner of Public Safety Tom Scarbrough; Hinds County Chancery Clerk Frank Scott; Dr. Mary Lee of the Hinds County Health Department; Dr. Beverley Smith, neuro-psychiatrist; Sam Ivy, director of the highway patrol bureau of identification; and Charles Dunagan, Jackson State Times reporter.

Scarbrough and Ivy were on the scene when King sought to register. Scott and the physicians constituted the lunacy hearing. Dunagan wrote that he was ejected from the lunacy hearing, from which the public and press were barred.

Outlook Still Hot, Partly Overcast



A sweltering Father's Day weekend is apparently in store for Monroe area residents, with partly cloudy skies and soaring temperatures predicted.

Yesterday's high was 94, with a low of 75. Thursday's readings were 94 and 73.

More hot weather and overcast skies are also expected in Arkansas today and tomorrow.

COULDN'T FLY; PLANE STOLEN

Airman On Joyride Dies In Jet Crash

ALCONBURY, England (UPI)—A young U.S. airman who could fix planes but not fly them piloted a stolen jet bomber into the night sky on a solo joyride Friday. His moment of glory ended in a flaming crash moments later.

The plane, a B45 twin-jet Tornado, plunged into the main railroad line between London and Edinburgh a few minutes before an express was due. Trainmen stopped the express in time to prevent a worse tragedy.

The amateur pilot was identified as Airman 2-C Vernon Lewis Morgan, 21, of Elizabeth, Ind., chief of a B45 mechanical crew. He died instantly.

He is survived by his wife, Susan Marie, and his father, Chester Earl Morgan, who live on Route 2, near Elizabeth.

Four Killed

Only 10 minutes earlier, two American and two British airmen were killed five miles southwest of this big U.S. air base when a U.S. jet trainer and a British jet bomber collided in air.

Air force officials said there was no connection between the two accidents.

The youthful mechanic sneaked aboard the Tornado and roared off the runway in it at 12:23 a.m.

Air Force authorities were baffled as to the reason.

There were only two Tornados on the base and both were headed for scrapping as obsolete. They are being replaced with B66 Destroyers.

Just getting the plane off the ground was a feat for the young airman. B45s usually carry four-man crews.

Leftist British leaders have voiced fears that some airman might steal a plane with a hydrogen bomb in it and cause a catastrophe in just such a crash.

FIRST IN YEAR

Production Index Upturn Is Noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first upturn in the nation's industrial production index in almost a year was reported Friday by the Federal Reserve Board.

The board said the index of mine, mill and factory output inched up one point from April to May. At 127 per cent of the 1947-49 average, the May figure was still 18 points below the level of last August and 20 points below the record high of December 1956.

The index is regarded as a highly sensitive indicator. It began to slip a year and a half ago, well ahead of other economic barometers.

Summary

In its monthly summary of business conditions, the reserve board said "economic activity firmed in May following eight months of decline."

"Industrial production, employment and incomes edged up," it said, "and retail sales were maintained.

"Unemployment declined more than seasonally.

Dr. Emerson P. Schmidt, economic research director for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, was asked at a chamber symposium Friday when he expects the country will pull out of the recession.

He replied: "Once people are convinced that we are at the bottom, that there will be no more layoffs, they will start buying and the recession will begin to end. This will happen before the end of this year."

Moscow Agrees To Meeting On Nuclear Issue

LONDON (AP)—Moscow agreed Friday night that a meeting of experts to study means of detecting nuclear explosions should begin at Geneva July 1.

Moscow radio announced that a note agreeing to President Eisenhower's proposals for such a meeting was handed to U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The Soviet note was in reply to a letter from President Eisenhower to Premier Khrushchev Tuesday.

The broadcast Tass dispatch said both the letter and the answer are being published in Moscow Saturday morning papers.

The Soviet reply expressed regret that no agreement has been reached on a suggestion that Indian experts take part in the meeting from the beginning.

Dolly The Cow Falls 40 Feet

GLASTONBURY, Conn. (AP)—Dolly the cow slipped.

She reached for a clump of grass on the rim of an abandoned quarry and skidded on damp moss. She fell 40 feet into water 30 feet deep.

She swam to a ledge and clung with her forefeet.

Her heifer, Bessie, gave the alarm. She returned to the home of her owner, Mose Galli, and mooed plaintively.

Galli went to the pasture to take a look. He found Dolly and sought help.

Two men, lowered on a rope to the ledge, helped the cow to solid rock.

Then police summoned a crane. Finally, the rescue party fashioned a sling of canvas for Dolly, floated her back into the water to position her for a clear hoist and the crane lifted her to safety.

White House Is Silent On Adams Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House firmly refused to say Friday whether Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine gave an expensive coat and valuable Oriental rug to his friend in high position, Sherman Adams.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty was definite, however, on two points:

Adams has not handed in his resignation as No. 2 man at the White House, and President Eisenhower hasn't asked him to.

And for the third time in three days, Hagerty told reporters:

Adams, former New Hampshire governor, has acknowledged getting in touch with two federal agencies on behalf of Goldfine and letting Goldfine pay his bills at hotels in Boston and Plymouth, Mass.

Denied

But he has denied — Hagerty said he "knocked into a cocked hat"—what Adams termed insinuations by a House subcommittee that Goldfine received any favored treatment as a result.

Hagerty refused repeatedly to say whether Adams had accepted a $700 vicuna coat and $2,400 Oriental rug as gifts from Goldfine. He said he believes Adams "put on the record all the facts," in a letter Thursday to the chairman of the subcommittee, Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark).

The letter said nothing about a coat or rug. It mentioned the contacts with government agencies

GROUND CREWS DISPATCHED

Say 'Suicide' Plane May Be Down In Tex.

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP)— Two search planes from Hensley Air Force Base, Dallas, reported Friday night that they saw something in the woods between Henderson and Tatum, Tex., that could be Donald Keeton's missing aircraft.

Ground crews made their way toward the spot.

Keeton has been missing since Thursday when he flew a rented Cessna 120 out of Gulfport, Miss., leaving behind a note that he contemplated suicide.

Meanwhile, Texas police had a pickup order, authorized by Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., for Keeton, an airman at the base. His trail ended at a private landing field here in east Texas Thursday.

"Please come home, Don," pleaded his childhood sweetheart, Doris Lynn Bowling of Dallas. And meager clues indicated Keeton, 19, had that in mind when he made a hurried stop near Longview Thursday.

Civil Air Patrol craft went aloft to search for the yellow plane with black trim. Maj. Donald Davidson, commander of the Southern Rescue Coordination Center in Dallas, said the State Highway Patrol was making a ground search.

Keeton landed the Cessna 120 at about 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the Premier Oil Co. private airport at Greggton, a Longview suburb. He asked Earl Cleveland, superintendent, for gas.

Cleveland, who didn't realize it was Keeton until he saw an Associated Press Wirephoto of the youth in Friday's Longview News-Journal, said: "He acted funny. He told me he had flown from the Gulf Coast but wouldn't tell me where he was going. . . . He was very nervous."

Cleveland directed Keeton to the Gregg County Airport eight miles away for fuel. But Keeton, his engine sputtering and the light plane gaining altitude slowly, took off in a different direction — toward Tyler, but also in the general direction of Dallas.

Indiana Is Beleaguered By Weather

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Tornadic winds and new downpours swept Indiana floodlands Friday and rivers threatened to go on a brand new rampage through beleaguered cities and towns.

A three-state area stretching from 3 miles east of Springfield, Ill., to 20 miles east of Zanesville, Ohio, was warned to prepare for possible tornadoes, damaging winds, hail and thunderstorms. A previous alert, which covered the north central Indiana floodlands, was cancelled.

Tornado funnels swirled across Illinois and Indiana in mid-afternoon, but damage appeared to be slight. The Weather Bureau reported twisters above the ground near Dyer, Ind., Warsaw, Ind., and Tinley Park, Ill., a Chicago suburb.

As a warmup to the new storms rains ranging up to 3½ inches pounded cities in the Indiana flood zone, winds of tornado force smashed Logansport and Markleville, and a flash flood isolated the town of Scircleville. Storm damage at Markleville was estimated at $8,000, while National Guardsmen stood by at Frankfort ready for a possible call for help from Scircleville.

First Flood Death

Indiana counted its first death directly related to the floods. Leonard Dunsen, 15, Indianapolis, drowned in the swollen White River when a raft on which he was playing broke up and he was swept beneath the racing waters. His death brought the total of storm-linked fatalities in Indiana this week to 14.

Indiana's storms were part of tempestuous Midwest pattern. An 80-mile-hour wind storm, at first described as a tornado, smashed 800 barracks windows at the Lockbourne Air Base in Ohio.

Stage Is Set For Fight On Farm Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee set the stage for another election-year farm battle Friday by approving a catch-all bill that already is threatened with a possible presidential veto.

Split along party lines, the committee voted 21-10 to send to the House floor a bill continuing the overseas surplus disposal program and proposing controversial new price support programs for wheat, rice, cotton, feed grains and milk.

Lumped in with these features, some of which have drawn fire from Secretary of Agriculture Benson, was a three-year extension of the domestic wool subsidy and school milk programs and various other provisions.

Two years ago, President Eisenhower vetoed a bill calling for mandatory high price supports and a "two price" wheat program idential with the wheat section in the current House committee bill.

Wide Range Seen In Court Cases

Three West Monroe men, arrested Thursday night by State Police, were arraigned in Fourth District Court yesterday on charges ranging from hauling explosives without a permit to illegal carrying of a weapon.

Lonnie Ray Disotell, 18, of 1318 Tim St., W. C. Osborn, 41, of 1407 Tim, and Luther Houston Frost, 47, of 409 Jewell, were apprehended 8.3 miles west of West Monroe on Highway 80.

State Police from Troop F halted them in a car driven by Disotell, at 7:10 p.m., to check on the car's lights and muffler.

They discovered one stick of seismospecial gelatin, 60 per cent, described as highly explosive and equal to several sticks of dynamite, and two .22 rifles.

The men said they were heading for Choudrant. Instead, they were taken to the Ouachita Parish jail.

In court yesterday, Disotell pled guilty to driving with improper lights and without a muffler, and was fined $50 or 20 days on each offense.

Denied Charges

He denied charges of hauling explosives without a permit and illegal carrying of a weapon, and trial on each charge was set for June 20. Bond was set at $750 on each charge.

W. C. Osborn denied three charges - disturbing the peace by appearing in public in an intoxicated condition, illegal carrying of a weapon and hauling explosives without a permit.

Trial on each charge was set for next Friday, and bond on the first charge was set at $100. Bond for each of the other two charges is $750.

Frost admitted disturbing the peace by public intoxication and was fined $50 or 20 days plus 10 days in jail. He denied hauling explosives without a permit and illegal carrying of a weapon and bond for each was set at $750.

In other action, Doyle S. Conville was fined $300 or 60 days after he admitted driving while intoxicated. John James DeWalt, who admitted vagrancy, was remanded for pre-sentence investigation.

Annette Rawls, who had been in the parish jail since her arrest 66 days ago, was sentenced to the time served on two counts of theft of $15.00, a misdemeanor. For two counts of felony theft - $20 and $25 - she received two concurrent six month jail sentences, which were suspended. She was then placed on probation.

Other Cases

Three persons admitted speeding. Fined $100 or 30 days each were Odis L. Arnold and Samuel W. Mitcham. James K. Rogers drew a $25 fine or 10 days.

Gene Baker was fined $300 or 60 days for driving while intoxicated. Henry E. Hicks, who was due for trial on a charge of driving while intoxicated, changed his plea to guilty and received the same sentence.

Robert N. Roberts changed his plea to guilty on two charges. He admitted second offense drunk driving, and drew 125 days in jail, plus a $400 fine or 90 additional days. For driving without a license, he was fined $25 or 10 days.

Others charged with driving while intoxicated were Frank Ross, who will be tried on June 20, and John D. Bailey, with trial set for Sept. 12.

Willie J. Taylor was fined $25 or 10 days, plus five days in jail, for driving without a license.

Trial was set for next Friday for Jessie Cox, charged with illegal use of a weapon.

A sentence of 30 days in jail plus a $100 fine or 30 additional days was meted out to a West Monroe woman. Virginia Adell Brown was tried and found guilty of selling beer without a permit.

Frank A. Lovett will be sentenced on July 7 for allowing his motor vehicle to be driven while the license plates were revoked and also for driving without a driver's license.

Hollis E. Hayward, general secretary of the campus combined "Y" confirmed UPI information concerning the racially - mixed function. It occurred at a YMCA camp — called "singing waters" — east of Baton Rouge near Hammond, La.

Some 10 or 12 Negro students from Southern University and about 33 LSU students participated in the retreat, which involved picnicing, swimming, volleyball, worship and discussions, Hayward said.

He told UPI of the incident after a lengthy conference today with LSU president, Gen. Troy Middleton. University officials advised Heyward to "tell the story completely."

The campuses of LSU and the Negro University are located at opposite ends of Baton Rouge.

Hayward admits he "favors integration." he said "all I regret is bringing additional grief to the university."

Mrs. Hayward, who said she knew of the "Y" activity, but took on part in it, is director of the Presbyterian Student Center at LSU.

The university has the power to hire and fire the YM-YWCA General Secretary, but acts only on the recommendations of the "Y" Board. It is composed of both University and Baton Rouge people. The Student "Y" is financed from University funds and money from the "United Givers" of Baton Rouge.

The University's official statement said: "Louisiana State University has turned over today information on this matter to the Student YM-YWCA Board for investigation and recommendation to the University."

A reliable source close to the University Administration hinted a resignation might be expected soon, and the situation "could mean the death of YM-YWCA activities on the LSU campus by this September,"

The University is under attack by a joint legislative committee set up to investigate purported "Un-American activities." It started this week when the Legislature learned 66 faculty members had signed a petition opposing proposed segregation legislation.

The lawmakers reasoned since its joint committee on segregation "proved in 1957" that "Communism and Integration walk hand-in-hand" : opposition to segregation measures must mean evidence of "Un-American activities.'

UPI learned the legislation investigative committee, steered by Sen. W. M. Rainach and Rep. John Garrett, the state's two segregation leaders, has access to three tape recordings, including one of an LSU coed telling how she was "duped" into attending the inter-racial party.

The committee plans to use them in its probe. The function occurred on April 30-May 1, 1955, but Negroes apparently only attended the final day.

Other tapes reportedly held by the commitee concern a telephone conversation between Hayward and a white man posing as a Negro student from Southern University asking for another "function" at camp Singing Waters, and a tape made by the cook who prepared meals for the group.

Hayward said he remembered the conversation, which occurred in 1956, "like it was yesterday."

"I was evasive, and put him off as politely as possible," "I told him we would discuss it another time."

Hayward, born in Kansas, has worked or attended school in Connecticut, West Virginia, Ohio, California, North Carolina, Colorado and for the past five years has been at LSU. "I am not a communist," he said.

"This was nothing new, and all happened before the 1956 legislature passed a law prohibiting racially mixed social functions and the like," Hayward said. "There has been nothing like it since."

Hayward said on two previous occasions, white and black university students from LSU, Southern and Dillard (Negro school at New Orleans), held "state conventions." In 1953 it was held at the New Orleans Negro Community UMCA and the following year on the Southern University campus.

On both occasions, there was mixed worship, meals and recreation periods, but segregated sleeping, he said.

The Baton Rouge Community YMCA, a completely autonomous group from the student "Y", owns Camp Singing Waters and occasionally rents it to the campus organization for "retreats" Earl Davis, general secretary of the downtown "Y," said the campus organization had programmed the "integrated" party and asked for the camp.

"We turned them down first because the dates they asked for were already taken" he said. When they asked for a second set of dates, we told them the board of directors did not favor such a function, and asked them to withdraw their request, which they did."

Davis said he did not know about the party until almost a year later when the United Givers questioned him about the party, at the urging of a local segregationist group called the Southern gentlemen.

"I flatly denied it happened," Davis said.

"It turned out I was the biggest lier in Louisiana, and I had to tell the two groups so by letter later."

Davis said he learned of the incident from Dennis Chandler, camp caretaker, who told UPI he "objected to the mixed swimming and eating" at the time, but his objections "did no good."

Davis said his organization could not confirm the exact dates of the "retreat" because the LSU group "never rented the camp, and never paid for it. It was never officially sanctioned by us, and for that reason it is not in our records."

Hayward agreed that Davis did not know about the Negro students being invited, but contended he paid for using the camp. He produced two checks showing payment of $34 on April 4, 1955 as an advance, and $11 on May 9, 1955 for the balance.

The camp cost $1.25 per person for a night, Hayward said. "We didn't have to pay for the Negroes, because they just came for the Sunday session. They came about 11 a.m. and stayed until 4 p.m. and left." The LSU students arrived Saturday and stayed overnight.

A printed schedule of events for the "retreat" showed for Sunday: 11 a.m. — worship; 12:00 dinner; 12:45, clean-up, free time; 1:15 session VII: "button, button, who . . .?" 2:30 swim, volley ball. The Negroes left apparently after the swim - volley ball period.

Hayward said the downtown "Y" objected to the integrated meeting, so the campus group "decided to ask the Negroes just for the one day." He said Dan Riggs, camp director at that time, had agreed to let the Negroes attend.

Riggs resigned several months later mysteriously, according to Davis, and went to Texas where he tried to get another job with YMCA. Davis said he was turned down because he (Davis) would not give him an "unqualified recommendation."

Hayward said he was "confident" that the Negro group was both male and female, but could not say for sure because it "was so long ago."

Robert Guy, then president of the YMCA board, called Hayward when the camp was requested by the LSU group, and said the request was "so embarrasing that we don't even want to consider it at a board meeting."

Hayward said after that "we tried several other places, but were turned down, so decided to take this action and invite Negroes for only the one day. As far as I am concerned, what we did we had permission to do, but I am fully aware that Mr. Davis did not know about the Negroes."

Davis said he was sure that Riggs did not agree to letting the Negroes use the camp. "But if he allowed it, which he undoubtedly did, he allowed it on the basis of not being sold on the idea, but being the lesser of two evil."

"If I had been there, I would have chased them off," Davis said.

Like the downtown YMCA, the board of the campus group, made up of some of Baton Rouge's most prominent citizens, does not officially condone integrated activities.

In a recent reiteration of its position, the LSU "Y" board said in a letter to Middleton that it had passed a motion on Nov. 25, 1957, reaffirming "our unity with the University administration in all matters pertaining to the segregation issue."

and payment of hotel bills which the subcommittee says amounted to almost $2,000 over four years in Boston.

The subcommittee counsel said no evidence has been turned up that Adams received a rug or coat from Goldfine.

In any event, Hagerty said, questions about the rug and coat "have no relation to the issue at point, which is whether there was preferred treatment" of Goldfine by government agencies.

Hagerty left the question of the coat hanging unanswered at one news conference in the morning and another in the afternoon. He did tell the second session he had conferred with Adams about reports that the latter had received a coat. He declined to say what Adams told him.

Dictating his words carefully, the press secretary said he had this to add:

"I think the issue here which was raised by the Harris subcommittee is the issue of whether Mr. Goldfine received preferred treatment in federal agencies because of his friendship with Mr. Adams. . .

"I believe also that Mr. Adams, in his letter of Thursday to Mr. Harris, completely and fully answered those insinuations, and put on the record all the facts."

There was no indication Adams would testify before the House group. Hagerty said others "will completely confirm the facts as outlined by Gov. Adams in his letter to Mr. Harris.

Asked whether it was true Adams had offered to resign if this would save the administration embarrassment, Hagerty replied:

"No, it is not."

Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr. (D-Ill) had said Eisenhower should carry out 1952 campaign pledges to keep the government "clean as a hound's tooth" and demand Adams' resignation "not tomorrow, but right at this hour."

Asked about another report, to the effect that Mrs. Adams also got a coat from Goldfine, Hagerty said: "My answer is the same; I am not going to discuss such matters."

Over and over at his second session with reporters, Hagerty refused to comment on a New York Post story saying Goldfine had given Adams a $2,400 Oriental rug two years ago.

The newspaper said Goldfine and Adams chose the rug in Macy's department store in New York and that Goldfine paid for it with a check drawn on one of his textile firms.

Robert W. Lishman, counsel for the House Investigating subcommettee, said he had no evidence of either a Goldfine gift of a $700 vicuna coat or a $2,500 rug to Adams.

Inoculations

County agents Aycock and McDuff noted vaccinations of herds in the areas most affected was carried out on a 24-hour basis. Dr. Vail cautioned against over-optimism with the vaccine, stressing an animal already infected with anthrax could not be saved by a subsequent injection.

All authorities cautioned against any attempt to skin, save the meat of, or use the milk of dead or diseased animals. They stressed in addition personal precautions should be taken by those persons giving injections to animals since the blood of a "carrier" animal could possibly infect a human being with anthrax.

Some sources said this was the worst outbreak of anthrax in this area since the 1927 flood, indicating there may be some association between the disease and the recent high water.

Wide Range Seen In Court Cases

Three West Monroe men, arrested Thursday night by State Police, were arraigned in Fourth District Court yesterday on charges ranging from hauling explosives without a permit to illegal carrying of a weapon.

Lonnie Ray Disotell, 18, of 1318 Tim St., W. C. Osborn, 41, of 1407 Tim, and Luther Houston Frost, 47, of 409 Jewell, were apprehended 8.3 miles west of West Monroe on Highway 80.

State Police from Troop F halted them in a car driven by Disotell, at 7:10 p.m., to check on the car's lights and muffler.

They discovered one stick of seismospecial gelatin, 60 per cent, described as highly explosive and equal to several sticks of dynamite, and two .22 rifles.

The men said they were heading for Choudrant. Instead, they were taken to the Ouachita Parish jail.

In court yesterday, Disotell pled guilty to driving with improper lights and without a muffler, and was fined $50 or 20 days on each offense.

Denied Charges

He denied charges of hauling explosives without a permit and illegal carrying of a weapon, and trial on each charge was set for June 20. Bond was set at $750 on each charge.

W. C. Osborn denied three charges - disturbing the peace by appearing in public in an intoxicated condition, illegal carrying of a weapon and hauling explosives without a permit.

Trial on each charge was set for next Friday, and bond on the first charge was set at $100. Bond for each of the other two charges is $750.

Frost admitted disturbing the peace by public intoxication and was fined $50 or 20 days plus 10 days in jail. He denied hauling explosives without a permit and illegal carrying of a weapon and bond for each was set at $750.

In other action, Doyle S. Conville was fined $300 or 60 days after he admitted driving while intoxicated. John James DeWalt, who admitted vagrancy, was remanded for pre-sentence investigation.

Annette Rawls, who had been in the parish jail since her arrest 66 days ago, was sentenced to the time served on two counts of theft of $15.00, a misdemeanor. For two counts of felony theft - $20 and $25 - she received two concurrent six month jail sentences, which were suspended. She was then placed on probation.

Other Cases

Three persons admitted speeding. Fined $100 or 30 days each were Odis L. Arnold and Samuel W. Mitcham. James K. Rogers drew a $25 fine or 10 days.

Gene Baker was fined $300 or 60 days for driving while intoxicated. Henry E. Hicks, who was due for trial on a charge of driving while intoxicated, changed his plea to guilty and received the same sentence.

Robert N. Roberts changed his plea to guilty on two charges. He admitted second offense drunk driving, and drew 125 days in jail, plus a $400 fine or 90 additional days. For driving without a license, he was fined $25 or 10 days.

Others charged with driving while intoxicated were Frank Ross, who will be tried on June 20, and John D. Bailey, with trial set for Sept. 12.

Willie J. Taylor was fined $25 or 10 days, plus five days in jail, for driving without a license.

Trial was set for next Friday for Jessie Cox, charged with illegal use of a weapon.

Detroit Tatum was found innocent after he was tried on charges of hit and run driving.

A sentence of 30 days in jail plus a $100 fine or 30 additional days was meted out to a West Monroe woman. Virginia Adell Brown was tried and found guilty of selling beer without a permit.

Trial of Hardy Sullivan, charged with aggravated assault, was continued until June 20.

Frank A. Lovett will be sentenced on July 7 for allowing his motor vehicle to be driven while the license plates were revoked and also for driving without a driver's license.

Hollis E. Hayward, general secretary of the campus combined "Y" confirmed UPI information concerning the racially - mixed function. It occurred at a YMCA camp — called "singing waters" — east of Baton Rouge near Hammond, La.

Some 10 or 12 Negro students from Southern University and about 33 LSU students participated in the retreat, which involved picnicing, swimming, volleyball, worship and discussions, Hayward said.

He told UPI of the incident after a lengthy conference today with LSU president, Gen. Troy Middleton. University officials advised Heyward to "tell the story completely."

The campuses of LSU and the Negro University are located at opposite ends of Baton Rouge.

Hayward admits he "favors integration." he said "all I regret is bringing additional grief to the university."

Mrs. Hayward, who said she knew of the "Y" activity, but took on part in it, is director of the Presbyterian Student Center at LSU.

The university has the power to hire and fire the YM-YWCA General Secretary, but acts only on the recommendations of the "Y" Board. It is composed of both University and Baton Rouge people. The Student "Y" is financed from University funds and money from the "United Givers" of Baton Rouge.

The University's official statement said: "Louisiana State University has turned over today information on this matter to the Student YM-YWCA Board for investigation and recommendation to the University."

A reliable source close to the University Administration hinted a resignation might be expected soon, and the situation "could mean the death of YM-YWCA activities on the LSU campus by this September,"

The University is under attack by a joint legislative committee set up to investigate purported "Un-American activities." It started this week when the Legislature learned 66 faculty members had signed a petition opposing proposed segregation legislation.

The lawmakers reasoned since its joint committee on segregation "proved in 1957" that "Communism and Integration walk hand-in-hand" : opposition to segregation measures must mean evidence of "Un-American activities.'

UPI learned the legislation investigative committee, steered by Sen. W. M. Rainach and Rep. John Garrett, the state's two segregation leaders, has access to three tape recordings, including one of an LSU coed telling how she was "duped" into attending the inter-racial party.

The committee plans to use them in its probe. The function occurred on April 30-May 1, 1955, but Negroes apparently only attended the final day.

Other tapes reportedly held by the commitee concern a telephone conversation between Hayward and a white man posing as a Negro student from Southern University asking for another "function" at camp Singing Waters, and a tape made by the cook who prepared meals for the group.

Hayward said he remembered the conversation, which occurred in 1956, "like it was yesterday."

"I was evasive, and put him off as politely as possible," "I told him we would discuss it another time."

Hayward, born in Kansas, has worked or attended school in Connecticut, West Virginia, Ohio, California, North Carolina, Colorado and for the past five years has been at LSU. "I am not a communist," he said.

"This was nothing new, and all happened before the 1956 legislature passed a law prohibiting racially mixed social functions and the like," Hayward said. "There has been nothing like it since."

Hayward said on two previous occasions, white and black university students from LSU, Southern and Dillard (Negro school at New Orleans), held "state conventions." In 1953 it was held at the New Orleans Negro Community UMCA and the following year on the Southern University campus.

On both occasions, there was mixed worship, meals and recreation periods, but segregated sleeping, he said.

The Baton Rouge Community YMCA, a completely autonomous group from the student "Y", owns Camp Singing Waters and occasionally rents it to the campus organization for "retreats" Earl Davis, general secretary of the downtown "Y," said the campus organization had programmed the "integrated" party and asked for the camp.

"We turned them down first because the dates they asked for were already taken" he said. When they asked for a second set of dates, we told them the board of directors did not favor such a function, and asked them to withdraw their request, which they did."

Davis said he did not know about the party until almost a year later when the United Givers questioned him about the party, at the urging of a local segregationist group called the Southern gentlemen.

"I flatly denied it happened," Davis said.

"It turned out I was the biggest lier in Louisiana, and I had to tell the two groups so by letter later."

Davis said he learned of the incident from Dennis Chandler, camp caretaker, who told UPI he "objected to the mixed swimming and eating" at the time, but his objections "did no good."

Davis said his organization could not confirm the exact dates of the "retreat" because the LSU group "never rented the camp, and never paid for it. It was never officially sanctioned by us, and for that reason it is not in our records."

Hayward agreed that Davis did not know about the Negro students being invited, but contended he paid for using the camp. He produced two checks showing payment of $34 on April 4, 1955 as an advance, and $11 on May 9, 1955 for the balance.

The camp cost $1.25 per person for a night, Hayward said. "We didn't have to pay for the Negroes, because they just came for the Sunday session. They came about 11 a.m. and stayed until 4 p.m. and left." The LSU students arrived Saturday and stayed overnight.

A printed schedule of events for the "retreat" showed for Sunday: 11 a.m. — worship; 12:00 dinner; 12:45, clean-up, free time; 1:15 session VII: "button, button, who . . .?" 2:30 swim, volley ball. The Negroes left apparently after the swim - volley ball period.

Hayward said the downtown "Y" objected to the integrated meeting, so the campus group "decided to ask the Negroes just for the one day." He said Dan Riggs, camp director at that time, had agreed to let the Negroes attend.

Riggs resigned several months later mysteriously, according to Davis, and went to Texas where he tried to get another job with YMCA. Davis said he was turned down because he (Davis) would not give him an "unqualified recommendation."

Hayward said he was "confident" that the Negro group was both male and female, but could not say for sure because it "was so long ago."

Robert Guy, then president of the YMCA board, called Hayward when the camp was requested by the LSU group, and said the request was "so embarrasing that we don't even want to consider it at a board meeting."

Hayward said after that "we tried several other places, but were turned down, so decided to take this action and invite Negroes for only the one day. As far as I am concerned, what we did we had permission to do, but I am fully aware that Mr. Davis did not know about the Negroes."

Davis said he was sure that Riggs did not agree to letting the Negroes use the camp. "But if he allowed it, which he undoubtedly did, he allowed it on the basis of not being sold on the idea, but being the lesser of two evil."

"If I had been there, I would have chased them off," Davis said.

Like the downtown YMCA, the board of the campus group, made up of some of Baton Rouge's most prominent citizens, does not officially condone integrated activities.

In a recent reiteration of its position, the LSU "Y" board said in a letter to Middleton that it had passed a motion on Nov. 25, 1957, reaffirming "our unity with the University administration in all matters pertaining to the segregation issue."

White House Is Silent On Adams Issue

and payment of hotel bills which the subcommittee says amounted to almost $2,000 over four years in Boston.

The subcommittee counsel said no evidence has been turned up that Adams received a rug or coat from Goldfine.

In any event, Hagerty said, questions about the rug and coat "have no relation to the issue at point, which is whether there was preferred treatment" of Goldfine by government agencies.

Hagerty left the question of the coat hanging unanswered at one news conference in the morning and another in the afternoon. He did tell the second session he had conferred with Adams about reports that the latter had received a coat. He declined to say what Adams told him.

Dictating his words carefully, the press secretary said he had this to add:

"I think the issue here which was raised by the Harris subcommittee is the issue of whether Mr. Goldfine received preferred treatment in federal agencies because of his friendship with Mr. Adams. . .

"I believe also that Mr. Adams, in his letter of Thursday to Mr. Harris, completely and fully answered those insinuations, and put on the record all the facts."

There was no indication Adams would testify before the House group. Hagerty said others "will completely confirm the facts as outlined by Gov. Adams in his letter to Mr. Harris.

Asked whether it was true Adams had offered to resign if this would save the administration embarrassment, Hagerty replied:

"No, it is not."

Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr. (D-Ill) had said Eisenhower should carry out 1952 campaign pledges to keep the government "clean as a hound's tooth" and demand Adams' resignation "not tomorrow, but right at this hour."

Asked about another report, to the effect that Mrs. Adams also got a coat from Goldfine, Hagerty said: "My answer is the same; I am not going to discuss such matters."

Over and over at his second session with reporters, Hagerty refused to comment on a New York Post story saying Goldfine had given Adams a $2,400 Oriental rug two years ago.

The newspaper said Goldfine and Adams chose the rug in Macy's department store in New York and that Goldfine paid for it with a check drawn on one of his textile firms.

Inoculations

County agents Aycock and McDuff noted vaccinations of herds in the areas most affected was carried out on a 24-hour basis. Dr. Vail cautioned against overoptimism with the vaccine, stressing an animal already infected with anthrax could not be saved by a subsequent injection.

All authorities cautioned against any attempt to skin, save the meat of, or use the milk of dead or diseased animals. They stressed in addition personal precautions should be taken by those persons giving injections to animals since the blood of a "carrier" animal could possibly infect a human being with anthrax.

Some sources said this was the worst outbreak of anthrax in this area since the 1927 flood, indicating there may be some association between the disease and the recent high water.

The Senator said he believes the Alaskan representation in congress would probably take a position on most issues similar to that taken by the Senators from the Pacific Northwest. He reminded Southerners of how helpful the Senators from those states were in limiting the civil rights bill to a voting rights bill with the right to trial by jury.

Long rapped the Eisenhower Administration for its failure to take sufficient action to prevent the recession. He cited the administration's tight money policy as one of the large contributing factors to the recession.

He declared, "In spite of statements of some spokesmen of the Administration to the contrary, the recession is still very much with us. Taking into considesation employees reduced from full time to part time, some 6 ½ million people are still out of work, and according to more conservative estimates the drop-off in our production activities will cost tne nation at least $36 billion by the end of this year."

New Faculty Member Told At NE State

Chester Curtis Johnson, a native of Emporia, Kan., has been added to the physics faculty of Northeast State, with duties beginning during the summer term.

He holds the rank of assistant professor of physics here.

Johnson comes to the college from Stillwater, Okla., where he was a graduate assistant in the physics department of Oklahoma State University from 1956-58.

Master's Degree

His higher academic training was received at Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia, where he received the bachelor's degree, and at Oklahoma State University, from which he completed the master of science degree. He also has done advanced graduate study at the university.

Title of his master's thesis is "Photoconductivity in Semi-conducting Diamond," a work which was published in Bulletin of the American Physical Society.

Professional societies in which Johnson holds membership include the American Physical Society, American Institute of Physics, Lambda Delta Lambda, Sigma Pi Sigma and Kappa Mu Epsilon.

Tim Tam Due For Operation Next Tuesday

Dr. Jacques Jenny will head a team of three or four veterinary surgeons operating on the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner.

Dr. Jenny has compared the operation to be performed on the horse with the removal of bone chips from a human. The horse is expected to recuperate here for two weeks.

The decision to perform surgery on Tim Tam, injured in the Belmont Stakes last Saturday, was made by trainer Jimmy Jones in consultation with Dr. William Reed, a veterinarian, and Mrs. Gene Markey, owner of Calumet Farm.

Jones said, in announcing the decision, "He's ruined and about all we can do is save him for stud."

Dr. Jenny, 41-year-old Swiss-born surgeon, said he has treated a number of good horses with similar conditions.

"Some have raced, some have not. Some have raced and won," he said.

"The operation will make it possible for Tim Tam to race again," Dr. Jenny said.

Dr. Jenny, who operated on Swaps when the great West Coast champion broke a hind leg at Garden State in 1956, believes Tim Tam will make the same complete recovery Swaps did. Then, like Swaps, go to stud.

A spokesman for the Penn vetinary school said no pictures of Tim Tam would be allowed on the horse's arrival here Sunday or Monday because any excitement might cause him to extend or complicate the injury.

He said pictures of the operation would be made available and that the surgeon would make an official report after the operation is completed. Daily bulletins on the horse's recuperation will be issued.

Bandit Gives Up In Disgust; Gets No Help

DALLAS (UPI)— Dallas police Friday night were searching for a slim, would-be bandit who gave up in disgust his attempt to rob a Dallas bank Friday morning because a teller just wouldn't cooperate with him.

Police said the man, between 30 and 35 years old, walked up to teller Mrs. W. M. Small, handed her a note reading "this is a stickup. Put the money in here," then thrust a small bag at her.

Mrs. Small, unrattled by the drama, asked him if he were kidding.

"No," he said.

"But I don't have any money," Mrs. Small answered.

"Where can I get some?" the bandit replied.

Mrs. Small then told the man hers was a savings window, and directed him to a paying and receiving window.

Obviously disgusted by now, the would-be robber walked to the paying and receiving window, then on past and out into the street.

IN HOUSE

Reciprocal Trade Vote Is Explained

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

This week's House vote on extension of reciprocal trade represents a broadening of the base of public opinion favoring the policy.

The policy squeaked through Congress 24 years ago after numerous failures by Cordell Hull and a few other congressmen. It was the first important break in a policy of high protectionism which had been thrown up around America's new industrialization during the 19th century.

One of the reasons it went through was because American industry, in need of foreign markets to ease the effects of the great depression, became divided on tariff theory. At the same time, Europe was fighting for trade, especially in Latin America, for the same reason.

Hull and others also foresaw the possibilities of favorable trade agreements as a powerful diplomatic lever.

But every time Congress has extended the time limit on the authority there has been a great fight, pressed by industrial interests proclaiming their inability to pay American wages and compete with low-cost foreign production.

Gradually, however, business interested in foreign trade has been joined by other groups of varying interests, including many of those wishing to foster good will abroad, until the policy has become generally accepted. The modern battles are largely over tactics of administration and the search of some business for loopholes.

This year's liberal trade proponents included the United States Chamber of Commerce, the League of Women Voters, and such other organizations of divergent views as the big national labor unions and farm organizations.

The Eisenhower Administraiton, which likes to call itself the "modern" wing of the traditionally protectionist Republican party, went to bat as it seldom has for any measure.

With this aid, Democratic leaders in the House threw cold water in this year's great fight before it was well started.

Protectionist leaders in the Senate, headed by Minority Leader Knowland, are still promising a fight. Texas Democrat and Majority Leader Johnson, whose home state oil interests are aligned with Knowland, says the President will get what he wants.

So here is an issue which has defied party lines, created for itself a broad base of national public support, and has overcome a long-delayed and very shaky start.

It is a part of broad international policy which bespeaks American unity in approach to foreign affairs, and confounds the Eisenhower prediction that chaos in Washington would follow Democratic capture of Congress.

More Food Is Seen For '58

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service predicted Friday that production of spring vegetables and melons in 1958 would be slightly above that of last year and about equal to the average.

The service said indicated production is 2 per cent above that of 1957.

Increases in the late spring group of crops more than offset the declines in production of other spring vegetables.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Sanson Set Tomorrow

Final rites for Mrs. Billie Fay Sanson will be held at 9 a.m. tomorrow at the Loche Arbor Baptist Church near Swartz with the Rev. C. B. Thompson and the Rev. H. M. Roach officiating.

Another service will be held at 4 p.m. the same day at the Providence Baptist Church in DeRidder. Mrs. Sanson drowned in Lake Erwin near Oak Ridge Thursday.

She was the wife of the Rev. Devere Sanson, pastor of the Loche Arbor Baptist Church of Swartz, and mother of a 2½ year-old-son, Jonathan.

Burial will be in the Providence Cemetery in DeRidder, under the direction of Hixson Brothers Funeral Home of Monroe.

Priest Demands Congress Halt 'Slave Labor'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Catholic priest contends that Mexicans imported to work on U. S. farms are exploited as "slave labor" and has demanded that Congress halt the program.

A Texas member of a House Agriculture subcommittee which heard the testimony Thursday promptly accused the clergyman of being a "character assassin."

Father James L. Vizzard appeared before the subcommittee on behalf of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference. He said the program had produced bribery, profit- making and exploitation that "would make the corruption found in the teamsters union seem only like petty larceny."

Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex.) said Vizzard has made a "pretty bad charge." He called on the priest to cite specific instances.

Vizzard said he could not do that. But he offered to take Poage to the "dependable, honest and objective" sources of his information— field workers, priests and laymen.

Poage replied that Vizzard should have brought such information to the subcommittee before making such charges "else you place yourself in the position of being a character assassin."

New Faculty Member Told At NE State

Chester Curtis Johnson, a native of Emporia, Kan., has been added to the physics faculty of Northeast State, with duties beginning during the summer term.

He holds the rank of assistant professor of physics here.

Johnson comes to the college from Stillwater, Okla., where he was a graduate assistant in the physics department of Oklahoma State University from 1956-58.

Master's Degree

His higher academic training was received at Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia, where he received the bachelor's degree, and at Oklahoma State University, from which he completed the master of science degree. He also has done advanced graduate study at the university.

Title of his master's thesis is "Photoconductivity in Semi-conducting Diamond," a work which was published in Bulletin of the American Physical Society.

Professional societies in which Johnson holds membership include the American Physical Society, American Institute of Physics, Lambda Delta Lambda, Sigma Pi Sigma and Kappa Mu Epsilon.

Tim Tam Due For Operation Next Tuesday

Dr. Jacques Jenny will head a team of three or four veterinary surgeons operating on the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner.

Dr. Jenny has compared the operation to be performed on the horse with the removal of bone chips from a human. The horse is expected to recuperate here for two weeks.

The decision to perform surgery on Tim Tam, injured in the Belmont Stakes last Saturday, was made by trainer Jimmy Jones in consultation with Dr. William Reed, a veterinarian, and Mrs. Gene Markey, owner of Calumet Farm.

Jones said, in announcing the decision, "He's ruined and about all we can do is save him for stud."

Dr. Jenny, 41-year-old Swiss-born surgeon, said he has treated a number of good horses with similar conditions.

"Some have raced, some have not. Some have raced and won," he said.

"The operation will make it possible for Tim Tam to race again," Dr. Jenny said.

Dr. Jenny, who operated on Swaps when the great West Coast champion broke a hind leg at Garden State in 1956, believes Tim Tam will make the same complete recovery Swaps did. Then, like Swaps, go to stud.

A spokesman for the Penn vetinary school said no pictures of Tim Tam would be allowed on the horse's arrival here Sunday or Monday because any excitement might cause him to extend or complicate the injury.

He said pictures of the operation would be made available and that the surgeon would make an official report after the operation is completed. Daily bulletins on the horse's recuperation will be issued.

Bandit Gives Up In Disgust; Gets No Help

DALLAS (UPI)— Dallas police Friday night were searching for a slim, would-be bandit who gave up in disgust his attempt to rob a Dallas bank Friday morning because a teller just wouldn't cooperate with him.

Police said the man, between 30 and 35 years old, walked up to teller Mrs. W. M. Small, handed her a note reading "this is a stickup. Put the money in here," then thrust a small bag at her.

Mrs. Small, unrattled by the drama, asked him if he were kidding.

"No," he said.

"But I don't have any money," Mrs. Small answered.

"Where can I get some?" the bandit replied.

Mrs. Small then told the man hers was a savings window, and directed him to a paying and receiving window.

Obviously disgusted by now, the would-be robber walked to the paying and receiving window, then on past and out into the street.

ARMED FORCE REPORT

AUSTIN (UPI)—State Selective headquarters said Thursday 3,000 Texans were discharged or relieved of active duty in the armed forces during May.

Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service director, said about 2,500 Texans entered the service in May, either as volunteers or draftees.

IN HOUSE

Reciprocal Trade Vote Is Explained

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

This week's House vote on extension of reciprocal trade represents a broadening of the base of public opinion favoring the policy.

The policy squeaked through Congress 24 years ago after numerous failures by Cordell Hull and a few other congressmen. It was the first important break in a policy of high protectionism which had been thrown up around America's new industrialization during the 19th century.

One of the reasons it went through was because American industry, in need of foreign markets to ease the effects of the great depression, became divided on tariff theory. At the same time, Europe was fighting for trade, especially in Latin America, for the same reason.

Hull and others also foresaw the possibilities of favorable trade agreements as a powerful diplomatic lever.

But every time Congress has extended the time limit on the authority there has been a great fight, pressed by industrial interests proclaiming their inability to pay American wages and compete with low-cost foreign production.

Gradually, however, business interested in foreign trade has been joined by other groups of varying interests, including many of those wishing to foster good will abroad, until the policy has become generally accepted. The modern battles are largely over tactics of administration and the search of some business for loopholes.

This year's liberal trade proponents included the United States Chamber of Commerce, the League of Women Voters, and such other organizations of divergent views as the big national labor unions and farm organizations.

The Eisenhower Administraiton, which likes to call itself the "modern" wing of the traditionally protectionist Republican party, went to bat as it seldom has for any measure.

With this aid, Democratic leaders in the House threw cold water in this year's great fight before it was well started.

Protectionist leaders in the Senate, headed by Minority Leader Knowland, are still promising a fight. Texas Democrat and Majority Leader Johnson, whose home state oil interests are aligned with Knowland, says the President will get what he wants.

So here is an issue which has defied party lines, created for itself a broad base of national public support, and has overcome a long-delayed and very shaky start.

It is a part of broad international policy which bespeaks American unity in approach to foreign affairs, and confounds the Eisenhower prediction that chaos in Washington would follow Democratic capture of Congress.

More Food Is Seen For '58

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service predicted Friday that production of spring vegetables and melons in 1958 would be slightly above that of last year and about equal to the average.

The service said indicated production is 2 per cent above that of 1957.

Increases in the late spring group of crops more than offset the declines in production of other spring vegetables.

Crops increasing over last year were watermelon, sweet corn, onions, cantaloups, cucumbers, tomatoes and snap beans.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Sanson Set Tomorrow

Final rites for Mrs. Billie Fay Sanson will be held at 9 a.m. tomorrow at the Loche Arbor Baptist Church near Swartz with the Rev. C. B. Thompson and the Rev. H. M. Roach officiating.

Another service will be held at 4 p.m. the same day at the Providence Baptist Church in DeRidder. Mrs. Sanson drowned in Lake Erwin near Oak Ridge Thursday.

She was the wife of the Rev. Devere Sanson, pastor of the Loche Arbor Baptist Church of Swartz, and mother of a 2½ year-old-son, Jonathan.

Burial will be in the Providence Cemetery in DeRidder, under the direction of Hixson Brothers Funeral Home of Monroe.

Priest Demands Congress Halt 'Slave Labor'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Catholice priest contends that Mexicans imported to work on U. S. farms are exploited as "slave labor" and has demanded that Congress halt the program.

A Texas member of a House Agriculture subcommittee which heard the testimony Thursday promptly accused the clergyman of being a "character assassin."

Father James L. Vizzard appeared before the subcommittee on behalf of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference. He said the program had produced bribery, profit- making and exploitation that "would make the corruption found in the teamsters union seem only like petty larceny."

Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex.) said Vizzard has made a "pretty bad charge." He called on the priest to cite specific instances.

Vizzard said he could not do that. But he offered to take Poage to the "dependable, honest and objective" sources of his information— field workers, priests and laymen.

Poage replied that Vizzard should have brought such information to the subcommittee before making such charges "else you place yourself in the position of being a character assassin."

Mississippi And King

Negroes who demand the privilege of attending white colleges in the south are not concerned primarily with the question of equal rights, which they already enjoy under the law, but are looking for equal social recognition. They apparently do not take into consideration the fact that social recognition comes when the qualifications are met, and not by force, regardless of the race or color of the individuals involved.

A case in point was found in Mississippi, where the Rev. Clennon King, a Negro minister, sought admission into the University of Mississippi.

Official handling of that case by state peace officers was unfortunate and unjust. A charge of lunacy was sworn out against King, although the officers did not set up any kind of situation that tended to show insanity on the part of King. This is an example of the necessity for amending insanity laws in practically all states, since these laws frequently are used without justification as a means of punishment, intimidation or convenience for others. Unless evidence that has not been shown can be produced regarding King's sanity he should be released immediately.

One peace officer was quoted as saying, "If he is a little off, we will have him committed." This brings to mind the old saying, "Everyone is crazy except me and thee and thee is a little crazy." Everyone has ideas that seem peculiar to others.

There can be no doubt that the application of King was ill-advised and unwise. He had been critical of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which was about the only organization that could have been expected to support him.

He was seeking admission in a state which has never permitted racial integration of the schools on any level, from the lowest of the elementary grades on up through the college post-graduate courses. He had not expected that his application would be accepted.

King is well aware of the fact that he could enter almost any number of colleges or universities in many cities of the United States. He knows that, on the college level, entrance of Negroes has been permitted for several generations. He undoubtedly could attend some of these colleges as cheaply and with as great advantage as he could attend the University of Mississippi. He chooses to try to enter college in a state in which Negroes are so numerous that the white people traditionally have kept the races separated socially, when he could easily go where this sort of sentiment does not prevail.

Plaintively he asserted that if he is "an unwanted American" he will ask to be shipped to Africa. This statement is based upon two completely false assumptions.

If a citizen has half a dozen neighbors and visits freely with three or four of them but finds he is not welcome in the homes of the others he does not proclaim himself an unwanted American. He merely assumes that some of his neighbors prefer other associates and lets it go at that. If he desires their company enough he may find ways to make himself acceptable but he does not go to the police and say, "This man will not let me visit him. I demand that you escort me into his house and compel him to let me visit him."

As far as a return to Africa is concerned, the man has no such desire and if he did have he would find conditions there infinitely worse. Not only is that country greatly retarded scientifically and socially, as compared to the United States, but the relations between the white people and the Negroes there are far worse from the standpoint of the Negro. In that country it is still pretty much a matter of master and slave, in spite of the fact that the Negro population is vastly greater than the white.

Negroes have made greater progress along all lines in the United States than in any other country and have climbed the social, cultural and financial ladder at a faster rate than almost any known people in the world.

The chasm is gradually closing but it is still too wide to be crossed in a single leap. It is like an inexperienced boatman trying to leap from the boat to the shore. If he leaps too soon the boat is shoved back away from the shore and the boatman falls into the water. His arrival is thus delayed and his condition is worse when he arrives.

Army 183 Years Old

The United States army is 183 years old today—June 14, 1958. For this reason it seems appropriate to look at some of the army's accomplishments and to view its potential role in the defense of our homeland against attack from the air.

Our army was founded June 14, 1775, when the continental congress authorized the enlistment of 10 companies of riflemen to fight for freedom of this country. Three weeks later General George Washington assumed command of the colonial militia units besieging British troops in Boston.

The proud military record of the U.S. army over the past 183 years is well known to Americans. The army has engaged in 12 wars and 144 campaigns. It has fought in 26 different lands. The names of its battles and campaigns—Bunker Hill, Saratoga, Yorktown, New Orleans, Gettysburg, Meuse-Argonne, Anzio, Normandy, Inchon—have become watchwords in the history and tradition of America.

In peace as well as in war, the army has served with distinction. It can take credit for many important advances in medicine, engineering, agriculture, electronics and many other fields.

While cherishing the traditions of the past, the army is preparing for the atomic battlefield on which it may have to fight in the future.

Surface-to-surface missiles have been called the artillery of the future. This month the new Nike Hercules missile system will become operational in four selected areas—New York, Washington, Baltimore, Chicago and Philadelphia. This is the beginning of a nationwide program of converting the army's surface-to-air missile sites to the dual capability of firing both Nike Ajax and Nike Hercules missiles. The Hercules is larger, far faster and reaches higher altitudes than the Ajax and with its atomic capability could destroy whole formations of planes. Under development is the Nike Zeus missile system, designed to intercept intercontinental missiles equipped with nuclear warheads.

The army is still one of the most vital parts of our defense system. It is carrying on in the true American tradition, ready to defend our nation against any assault that may be made upon it.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

U.S. Capitalist Talks In Favor Of Soviet Union

The assumption that because a man is a capitalist, he must be anti-Communist or anti-Russian is untenable. Cyrus Eaton is an American capitalist. He has made and makes his money by investments in enterprises in the United States, Canada and elsewhere. He has become a protagonist of more friendly Soviet-American relations. Naturally, that is his privilege.

But he, too often, associates his pro-Soviet attitude with intemperate statements on subjects concerning which he cannot be well informed.

Eaton has said:

"The way to combat Communism is not by witch-hunting and wire tapping. These police-state methods may gain momentary notoriety for the office-seeking politicians who advocate and employ them, but they offer no solution for our long-term economic problems."

To which the following questions may be asked:

1. What is the "solution for our long-term economic problems"?
2. Whose wires have been tapped and by whom?
3. What politicians employ wire tapping and for what purpose?

Concerning the solution, it would be interesting to hear Eaton out. He may have a philosophy and he may not. The fact that a man knows how to manipulate money is not sure proof that he does or does not know anything else. I have for years read Eaton's statements on various subjects and thus far have not discovered that he is either an Adam Smith or a Karl Marx. But there is no knowing: he may have a solution up his sleeve.

Eaton wrote in The Progressive: "Our Mr. Dulles sometimes talks just as the Kaiser did in 1914. And when one becomes swollen with pride, one becomes arrogant and truculent and someone will take up the challenge."

Then he added:

"I feel confident Russia is not now trying to sell the United States on Communism . . ."

Now, just as a matter of accuracy, I wish Eaton would draw up parallel columns showing the similarity of the Kaiser and Dulles, that is the talk of the Kaiser in 1914 and of Dulles in 1958 or any other year, Eaton might choose. It might also be interesting to compare Eaton's statement concerning Soviet Russia's efforts to sell the United States on Communism with Khrushchev's interview on the Columbia Broadcasting System's television show in which Khrushchev assured all Americans that their grandchildren would live under socialism, meaning his particular brand which is called Communism. Either Khrushchev did not know what he meant to say or Eaton did not understand what Khrushchev said. Also, Eaton might read Khrushchev's speech to the Bulgarian Communists which deals with this subject.

Whereas it was possible for Khrushchev to do this Columbia Broadcasting job of propaganda within the United States, it is still impossible for any American to speak to the Russian people. Khrushchev might, of course, justify Eaton's optimism by permitting the speech that Herbert Hoover will deliver at the Brussels Fair to be heard by the entire Soviet Universal State.

Must We Always Allow Enemy To Strike First?

The House of Representatives the other day discussed a policy of the United States or an alleged policy "that the United States will never strike the first blow in a war."

It is not the first time this matter was discussed in Congress, or on other platforms or in the press. There is hardly an American who has not heard it stated and repeated many times. And apparently there are many people who believe that this is set down somewhere as a matter of fixed policy, or even law, as definite as the Monroe doctrine, as inexorable as one of the ten commandments.

Whatever the source of its origin, the belief is prevalent that no matter who the enemy or what the circumstance we will let him hit us first. In the wars with foreign countries which any living man can remember our eventual enemy was in motion before we were and there is a sort of idea that a war usually has started by a ship being blown up with great loss of American life.

Many an American has a fuzzy idea of the circumstances surrounding the blowing up the Battleship Maine in the then Spanish Harbor of Havana on February 15, 1898, with a loss of 266 American sailors. No one was ever able to fasten that on the Spaniard and actually the United States Inquiry conducted by Captain William T. Sampson blamed the disaster on an internal explosion. But we were already very angry at Spain and the Spanish-American war which is often said to have lasted "three months, three weeks, three days, and three hours" was quickly under way, after the Maine sunk.

The sinking of the British passenger ship Luistania with a loss of life totaling 1198, of which 124 were Americans, actually occurred on May 7, 1915, two years before we entered the war against Germany, but it was such acts of German submarine warfare which more than anything else brought us into World War I.

And, of course, we entered World War II after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in which their plans sunk the Battleship Arizona, severely damaged the Oklahoma, West Virginia, Nevada and California and either sunk or put out of commission many other war vessels. There is substantiation for the general belief that in 1941 we waited for the first blow to be struck by the Jap, but we did not expect him to slug so hard.

The next war in which the great powers engage, if such a next war occurs, undoubtedly will start in an entirely different way from past ones and there is no justification for the statement the United States would bare its breast for the enemy blow.

Yet, Representative Errett P. Scrivner, Republican, of Kansas, told the House it is almost an unwritten law that we shall let the other side slam us first. Scrivner is no green pea. He is a veteran Congressman, high on the Military Appropriations Committee.

And Representative Robert L.F. Sikes, Democrat, of Florida, referring to "America's historical practice of allowing the other fellow to strike the first blow," said:

"It is time to stop giving an opponent the all important advantage under present-day conditions of knowing he can strike the first blow, when and how he chooses. Now we advertise piously — we seem to want to glorify the fact —that we are going to let him try to knock us completely out in future struggle before we raise a finger to protect ourselves.

"That is sheer stupidity, despite the fine motives. It is time to realize that we are in a fight for survival against a completely unscrupulous enemy. It is time to let the world know that we expect to take care of ourselves, and that we will deal with each problem as it arises, according to the circumstances that are presented. If survival is to be associated with striking the first blow, and it may very soon be, only a fool would sign his own death warrant. We may, by following our present policy, bring on the war that will destroy us. It must be recognized world-wide that we are not going to let ourselves be destroyed just to preserve a legend."

Scrivner thought that the President, the Congress and the American people should recognize that "good offense is sometimes the best defense" and to let the world quite clearly understand the United States would be governed by circumstances.

In a day when a single bomb dropped on the Capitol Grounds in Washington would leave a hole 3,500 feet deep and reduce to rubble everything six miles east, six miles west, six miles south and six miles north, the world must hope that no nation will strike the first blow in such a warfare.

But it is pretty silly to say, as many continue to do, that we wouldn't strike the first blow even if we knew the enemy was poised to strike us.

Doctors Leaders In Use Of Autos

Some of the earliest historical articles on automobiles are found in medical journals. When the horse and buggy doctor switched to the horseless carriage, he became the test driver for this new industry. The car was a boon to the medical profession because it meant more rapid transportation.

According to John A. Mirt, in an article in the Illinois Medical Journal, the 100,000 physicians of the nation were the best possible group to give the auto a thorough workout. It meant sloshing through water holes on country roads, pushing through snow drifts and bumping over rock littered lanes.

There were no filling stations and the physician was forced to learn the mechanics of the car the hard way. He spent as much time on books dealing with motors, fuels, storage batteries, and carburetors as on anatomy and therapy texts.

The Journal of the American Medical association, from 1906-1909, published an auto section devoted to correspondence from physicians on their experiences and recommendations for improvements. The late Dr. Charles H. Mayo, for example, experimented with steam, gasoline, and electric cars. He reported that steam was the most powerful but gasoline engines were more convenient and would be adopted in the future.

Another Minnesota physician mentioned by Mr. Mirt had trouble on the road and was asked, "What's bothering you, Doc?" His reply: "My deplorable ignorance." He took up the study of gasoline engines and his troubles ceased. A Massachusetts medico had a three wheeler that ran 50,000 miles even though it "coughed and coughed" for six years. The secret? He spent 35-45 minutes every morning checking the entire car.

The editor of the Journal suggested various mechanical improvements, such as standardization of parts to cut production and maintenance costs, as well as a $500 car and simplicity of construction to make the innards easier to reach. A 20 mile an hour limit was urged, as well as physical qualifications for drivers. Then, as now, a person was advised not to drive if he was highly nervous, had defective sight or hearing, or had used a stimulant or medication that would make him less alert.

STETHOSCOPIC REVELATIONS

Mrs. H. writes: Besides the heart beat, what kind of sounds does the physician hear with a stethoscope applied to the chest?

Reply

Breath sounds from the lungs and an occasional gurgle from the stomach and intestines. The room must be relatively quiet to avoid competition from conversation, street cars, honking car and truck drivers, and foghorns.

SYLVIA PORTER

Many Employers Slow In Paying

WASHINGTON — In the past 90 days about 44,000 employers have received a dread notice from the Internal Revenue Service, saying in effect:

"Our records show that you are not making timely payments to us of income or social security taxes withheld from your employes. This is a warning from us to you that we know what you are doing. We are watching you closely from this day on. And we now have power under a new law to punish you severely if you don't pay up at once and stay up to date."

Thousands of additional employers will be receiving similar warnings in coming months.

As 1958 rolls on, Internal Revenue Service officials will follow up the warnings with personal visits to many of the employers and will instruct them to put the taxes owed in special accounts earmarked for the U. S. Government. If any employer still doesn't comply, he'll be open to conviction for a misdemeanor and will be subject to penalties running up to a fine of $5,000, a year in prison or both.

For although the vast majority of Americans — employers and employes — aren't yet aware of it, the IRS finally has obtained a law "with teeth" which will enable it to crack down on employers who withhold taxes from employes, then use the funds themselves instead of turning them over to the U. S. Treasury.

Of course, most employers in this country handle withheld taxes with utmost care and forward them regularly to the Treasury.

But there is a minority — a whopping and increasing one — which has been and is mis-using the funds to an appalling extent.

As of the end of 1957, the number of employers delinquent on transferring to the Treasury income or social security taxes withheld from employes was at a startling 377,253, an all-time record and up from a total of 356,748 delinquent at the end of 1956.

At the yearend, the total of tax money involved was at a peak $300,678,000 up from $279,183,000 at the close of 1956.

In the Chicago area last year, employment tax delinquencies skyrocketed 56.9 per cent on top of a 30.8 per cent increase in delinquencies in 1956 and a 24.3 per cent increase in 1955.

In Hartford, Conn., last year, employment tax delinquencies jumped 34.8 per cent. In Camden, N. J., the rise in delinquencies was 21.6 per cent. In Jacksonville, Fla., it was 29.8 per cent.

What's more, it's highly likely that the delinquency situation has deteriorated even more during 1958's months of recession. Many employers, strapped for funds, surely have been "borrowing" the withheld tax money in the hope that they'd be able to make up the deficiency in time.

"It's deliberate stealing and the 'excuse' that an employer had to use the funds to survive is not acceptable," says Fred C. Scribner, Jr., Undersecretary of the Treasury and the official responsible for supervision of the Internal Revenue Service.

"Income and social security taxes which have been withheld by an employer from pay envelopes of his employes are trust funds and under no circumstances should they ever be considered as belonging to the employer or representing funds which he can divert to his own use," emphasizes Senator John J. Williams, Republican of Delaware, who has been a leader in tracking down the tax delinquencies.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Child Afraid To Attend School

Tommy's case is far more tragic than a lot of preoccupied business men may even guess. His whole life may be altered by his entrance into kindergarten with his present terror and panic. You parents should anticipate such major crises in your child's life and insure him against social disaster.

Case Y-336: Tommy G., aged 5, is about ready to enter school.

"Dr. Crane, Tommy doesn't want to go to school. He cries and clutches my dress.

"He says he hates school and doesn't want to leave me. Isn't this a bad mental attitude for him to take?

"What can I do to offset it? For he is scheduled to enter kindergarten next term."

"Horse Sense" for Mothers

Every young wife who plans a family should realize the value of having more than one child.

Then he will not be spoiled and develop the habit of expecting 100 per cent of the spotlight on his little family stage.

Tommy has no brothers or sisters. Unwittingly, therefore, his parents have showered 100 per cent of their attention on him.

If Tommy had even one brother or sister, the attention would be split 50-50.

And if he were one of five children, as was true of our oldest boy, he would be accustomed to just 20 per cent of the parental spotlight.

One reason why "only" children have trouble in marriage is the fact they drop from 100 per cent to 50 per cent when they pick a mate.

A child who has had but 20 per cent of the adult attention actually gains when he marries for he goes from 20 per cent to 50 per cent.

And this same principle holds true of children like Tommy who dread merging in a group of 25 youngsters. He feels panicky at leaving Mama. For she gives him ALL her attention during the day.

"Cushion" Psychology

A good parent should "cushion" the emotional shocks his children will receive by vaccinating him in advance against major changes.

If Tommy's mother had properly prepared him for entrance into kindergarten, she would have taught Tommy that BIG boys get to go to school.

She would thus have introduced the idea of kindergarten as a very wonderful experience and a mark of bigness on the part of all the children who can attend.

She should have "conditioned" him to being alone in a classroom by taking advantage of her neighborhood church, wherein Tommy could have been a Sunday school pupil every Sunday for the past 5 years.

She should also have scheduled parties in her home to which she had invited other 5-year-olds, so Tommy would be well acquainted with his future kindergarten classmates.

There is usually a great fear of the unknown. Parents of future school children should remove much of this "unknown" element by getting their children acquainted with their future classmates.

Then Tommy and two or three pals could start off to kindergarten by themselves, without the overwhelming fear that Tommy now suffers.

Tommy's mother might have introduced Tommy to his future teacher. Indeed, it is a good plan for kindergarten teachers to hold a party late in the term for the boys and girls who will be entering the next semester.

Thus, the youngsters will get to know the teacher, as well as their future classmates. So the "unknown" element will be greatly reduced and hence they will not be as likely to dread school.

Parents and grandparents should also READ books instead of just telling bedtime stories to their toddlers.

This helps put a "halo" on books and thus, indirectly, on school attendance where such youngsters will learn to read books by their own efforts.

Daily Devotions

For the man said unto us, Ye shall not see my face, except your brother be with you. — Genesis 43:5.

This verse has been the theme of many a religious discourse. It is still true, however that we have responsibilities in dealing with our relatives and those with whom we come in contact — and the obligation to point them toward an active Christian life. Christ asked the question "Who is My mother? and who are my brethren?" Then He pointed toward His disciples, indicating that the Christian family is made up of all people. Truly there are great and rewarding possibilities in personal evangelism.

Our Father, help us to be worthy children, seeking always to enlarge Thy household of followers and disciples In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

Mississippi And King

Negroes who demand the privilege of attending white colleges in the south are not concerned primarily with the question of equal rights, which they already enjoy under the law, but are looking for equal social recognition. They apparently do not take into consideration the fact that social recognition comes when the qualifications are met, and not by force, regardless of the race or color of the individuals involved.

A case in point was found in Mississippi, where the Rev. Clennon King, a Negro minister, sought admission into the University of Mississippi.

Official handling of that case by state peace officers was unfortunate and unjust. A charge of lunacy was sworn out against King, although the officers did not set up any kind of situation that tended to show insanity on the part of King. This is an example of the necessity for amending insanity laws in practically all states, since these laws frequently are used without justification as a means of punishment, intimidation or convenience for others. Unless evidence that has not been shown can be produced regarding King's sanity he should be released immediately.

One peace officer was quoted as saying, "If he is a little off, we will have him committed." This brings to mind the old saying, "Everyone is crazy except me and thee and thee is a little crazy." Everyone has ideas that seem peculiar to others.

There can be no doubt that the application of King was ill-advised and unwise. He had been critical of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which was about the only organization that could have been expected to support him.

He was seeking admission in a state which has never permitted racial integration of the schools on any level, from the lowest of the elementary grades on up through the college post-graduate courses. He had not expected that his application would be accepted.

King is well aware of the fact that he could enter almost any number of colleges or universities in many cities of the United States. He knows that, on the college level, entrance of Negroes has been permitted for several generations. He undoubtedly could attend some of these colleges as cheaply and with as great advantage as he could attend the University of Mississippi. He chooses to try to enter college in a state in which Negroes are so numerous that the white people traditionally have kept the races separated socially, when he could easily go where this sort of sentiment does not prevail.

Plaintively he asserted that if he is "an unwanted American" he will ask to be shipped to Africa. This statement is based upon two completely false assumptions.

If a citizen has half a dozen neighbors and visits freely with three or four of them but finds he is not welcome in the homes of the others he does not proclaim himself an unwanted American. He merely assumes that some of his neighbors prefer other associates and lets it go at that. If he desires their company enough he may find ways to make himself acceptable but he does not go to the police and say, "This man will not let me visit him. I demand that you escort me into his house and compel him to let me visit him."

As far as a return to Africa is concerned, the man has no such desire and if he did have he would find conditions there infinitely worse. Not only is that country greatly retarded scientifically and socially, as compared to the United States, but the relations between the white people and the Negroes there are far worse from the standpoint of the Negro. In that country it is still pretty much a matter of master and slave, in spite of the fact that the Negro population is vastly greater than the white.

Negroes have made greater progress along all lines in the United States than in any other country and have climbed the social, cultural and financial ladder at a faster rate than almost any known people in the world.

The chasm is gradually closing but it is still too wide to be crossed in a single leap. It is like an inexperienced boatman trying to leap from the boat to the shore. If he leaps too soon the boat is shoved back away from the shore and the boatman falls into the water. His arrival is thus delayed and his condition is worse when he arrives.

Army 183 Years Old

The United States army is 183 years old today—June 14, 1958. For this reason it seems appropriate to look at some of the army's accomplishments and to view its potential role in the defense of our homeland against attack from the air.

Our army was founded June 14, 1775, when the continental congress authorized the enlistment of 10 companies of riflemen to fight for freedom of this country. Three weeks later General George Washington assumed command of the colonial militia units besieging British troops in Boston.

The proud military record of the U.S. army over the past 183 years is well known to Americans. The army has engaged in 12 wars and 144 campaigns. It has fought in 26 different lands. The names of its battles and campaigns—Bunker Hill, Saratoga, Yorktown, New Orleans, Gettysburg, Meuse-Argonne, Anzio, Normandy, Inchon—have become watchwords in the history and tradition of America.

In peace as well as in war, the army has served with distinction. It can take credit for many important advances in medicine, engineering, agriculture, electronics and many other fields.

While cherishing the traditions of the past, the army is preparing for the atomic battlefield on which it may have to fight in the future.

Surface-to-surface missiles have been called the artillery of the future. This month the new Nike Hercules missile system will become operational in four selected areas—New York, Washington, Baltimore, Chicago and Philadelphia. This is the beginning of a nationwide program of converting the army's surface-to-air missile sites to the dual capability of firing both Nike Ajax and Nike Hercules missiles. The Hercules is larger, far faster and reaches higher altitudes than the Ajax and with its atomic capability could destroy whole formations of planes. Under development is the Nike Zeus missile system, designed to intercept intercontinental missiles equipped with nuclear warheads.

The army is still one of the most vital parts of our defense system. It is carrying on in the true American tradition, ready to defend our nation against any assault that may be made upon it.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

U.S. Capitalist Talks In Favor Of Soviet Union

The assumption that because a man is a capitalist, he must be anti-Communist or anti-Russian is untenable. Cyrus Eaton is an American capitalist. He has made and makes his money by investments in enterprises in the United States, Canada and elsewhere. He has become a protagonist of more friendly Soviet-American relations. Naturally, that is his privilege.

But he, too often, associates his pro-Soviet attitude with intemperate statements on subjects concerning which he cannot be well informed.

Eaton has said:

"The way to combat Communism is not by witch-hunting and wire tapping. These police-state methods may gain momentary notoriety for the office-seeking politicians who advocate and employ them, but they offer no solution for our long-term economic problems."

To which the following questions may be asked:

1. What is the "solution for our long-term economic problems"?
2. Whose wires have been tapped and by whom?
3. What politicians employ wire tapping and for what purpose?

Concerning the solution, it would be interesting to hear Eaton out. He may have a philosophy and he may not. The fact that a man knows how to manipulate money is not sure proof that he does or does not know anything else. I have for years read Eaton's statements on various subjects and thus far have not discovered that he is either an Adam Smith or a Karl Marx. But there is no knowing: he may have a solution up his sleeve.

Eaton wrote in The Progressive: "Our Mr. Dulles sometimes talks just as the Kaiser did in 1914. And when one becomes swollen with pride, one becomes arrogant and truculent and someone will take up the challenge."

Then he added:

"I feel confident Russia is not now trying to sell the United States on Communism . . ."

Now, just as a matter of accuracy, I wish Eaton would draw up parallel columns showing the similarity of the Kaiser and Dulles, that is the talk of the Kaiser in 1914 and of Dulles in 1958 or any other year, Eaton might choose. It might also be interesting to compare Eaton's statement concerning Soviet Russia's efforts to sell the United States on Communism with Khrushchev's interview on the Columbia Broadcasting System's television show in which Khrushchev assured all Americans that their grandchildren would live under socialism, meaning his particular brand which is called Communism. Either Khrushchev did not know what he meant to say or Eaton did not understand what Khrushchev said. Also, Eaton might read Khrushchev's speech to the Bulgarian Communists which deals with this subject.

Whereas it was possible for Khrushchev to do this Columbia Broadcasting job of propaganda within the United States, it is still impossible for any American to speak to the Russian people. Khrushchev might, of course, justify Eaton's optimism by permitting the speech that Herbert Hoover will deliver at the Brussels Fair to be heard by the entire Soviet Universal State.

The United Nations' 'Attempt Has Foundered'

BASCOM TIMMONS

Must We Always Allow Enemy To Strike First?

The House of Representatives the other day discussed a policy of the United States or an alleged policy "that the United States will never strike the first blow in a war."

It is not the first time this matter was discussed in Congress, or on other platforms or in the press. There is hardly an American who has not heard it stated and repeated many times. And apparently there are many people who believe that this is set down somewhere as a matter of fixed policy, or even law, as definite as the Monroe doctrine, as inexorable as one of the ten commandments.

Whatever the source of its origin, the belief is prevalent that no matter who the enemy or what the circumstance we will let him hit us first. In the wars with foreign countries which any living man can remember our eventual enemy was in motion before we were and there is a sort of idea that a war usually has started by a ship being blown up with great loss of American life.

Many an American has a fuzzy idea of the circumstances surrounding the blowing up the Battleship Maine in the then Spanish Harbor of Havana on February 15, 1898, with a loss of 266 American sailors. No one was ever able to fasten that on the Spaniard and actually the United States Inquiry conducted by Captain William T. Sampson blamed the disaster on an internal explosion. But we were already very angry at Spain and the Spanish-American war which is often said to have lasted "three months, three weeks, three days, and three hours" was quickly under way, after the Maine sunk.

The sinking of the British passenger ship Luistania with a loss of life totaling 1198, of which 124 were Americans, actually occurred on May 7, 1915, two years before we entered the war against Germany, but it was such acts of German submarine warfare which more than anything else brought us into World War I.

And, of course, we entered World War II after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in which their plans sunk the Battleship Arizona, severely damaged the Oklahoma, West Virginia, Nevada and California and either sunk or put out of commission many other war vessels. There is substantiation for the general belief that in 1941 we waited for the first blow to be struck by the Jap, but we did not expect him to slug so hard.

The next war in which the great powers engage, if such a next war occurs, undoubtedly will start in an entirely different way from past ones and there is no justification for the statement the United States would bare its breast for the enemy blow.

Yet, Representative Errett P. Scrivner, Republican, of Kansas, told the House it is almost an unwritten law that we shall let the other side slam us first. Scrivner is no green pea. He is a veteran Congressman, high on the Military Appropriations Committee.

And Representative Robert L.F. Sikes, Democrat, of Florida, referring to "America's historical practice of allowing the other fellow to strike the first blow," said:

"It is time to stop giving an opponent the all important advantage under present-day conditions of knowing he can strike the first blow, when and how he chooses. Now we advertise piously — we seem to want to glorify the fact —that we are going to let him try to knock us completely out in future struggle before we raise a finger to protect ourselves.

"That is sheer stupidity, despite the fine motives. It is time to realize that we are in a fight for survival against a completely unscrupulous enemy. It is time to let the world know that we expect to take care of ourselves, and that we will deal with each problem as it arises, according to the circumstances that are presented. If survival is to be associated with striking the first blow, and it may very soon be, only a fool would sign his own death warrant. We may, by following our present policy, bring on the war that will destroy us. It must be recognized world-wide that we are not going to let ourselves be destroyed just to preserve a legend."

Scrivner thought that the President, the Congress and the American people should recognize that "good offense is sometimes the best defense" and to let the world quite clearly understand the United States would be governed by circumstances.

In a day when a single bomb dropped on the Capitol Grounds in Washington would leave a hole 3,500 feet deep and reduce to rubble everything six miles east, six miles west, six miles south and six miles north, the world must hope that no nation will strike the first blow in such a warfare.

But it is pretty silly to say, as many continue to do, that we wouldn't strike the first blow even if we knew the enemy was poised to strike us.

Doctors Leaders In Use Of Autos

Some of the earliest historical articles on automobiles are found in medical journals. When the horse and buggy doctor switched to the horseless carriage, he became the test driver for this new industry. The car was a boon to the medical profession because it meant more rapid transportation.

According to John A. Mirt, in an article in the Illinois Medical Journal, the 100,000 physicians of the nation were the best possible group to give the auto a thorough workout. It meant sloshing through water holes on country roads, pushing through snow drifts and bumping over rock littered lanes.

There were no filling stations and the physician was forced to learn the mechanics of the car the hard way. He spent as much time on books dealing with motors, fuels, storage batteries, and carburetors as on anatomy and therapy texts.

The Journal of the American Medical association, from 1906-1909, published an auto section devoted to correspondence from physicians on their experiences and recommendations for improvements. The late Dr. Charles H. Mayo, for example, experimented with steam, gasoline, and electric cars. He reported that steam was the most powerful but gasoline engines were more convenient and would be adopted in the future.

Another Minnesota physician mentioned by Mr. Mirt had trouble on the road and was asked, "What's bothering you, Doc?" His reply: "My deplorable ignorance." He took up the study of gasoline engines and his troubles ceased. A Massachusetts medico had a three wheeler that ran 50,000 miles even though it "coughed and coughed" for six years. The secret? He spent 35-45 minutes every morning checking the entire car.

The editor of the Journal suggested various mechanical improvements, such as standardization of parts to cut production and maintenance costs, as well as a $500 car and simplicity of construction to make the innards easier to reach. A 20 mile an hour limit was urged, as well as physical qualifications for drivers. Then, as now, a person was advised not to drive if he was highly nervous, had defective sight or hearing, or had used a stimulant or medication that would make him less alert.

STETHOSCOPIC REVELATIONS

Mrs. H. writes: Besides the heart beat, what kind of sounds does the physician hear with a stethoscope applied to the chest?

Reply

Breath sounds from the lungs and an occasional gurgle from the stomach and intestines. The room must be relatively quiet to avoid competition from conversation, street cars, honking car and truck drivers, and foghorns.

SYLVIA PORTER

Many Employers Slow In Paying

WASHINGTON — In the past 90 days about 44,000 employers have received a dread notice from the Internal Revenue Service, saying in effect:

"Our records show that you are not making timely payments to us of income or social security taxes withheld from your employes. This is a warning from us to you that we know what you are doing. We are watching you closely from this day on. And we now have power under a new law to punish you severely if you don't pay up at once and stay up to date."

Thousands of additional employers will be receiving similar warnings in coming months.

As 1958 rolls on, Internal Revenue Service officials will follow up the warnings with personal visits to many of the employers and will instruct them to put the taxes owed in special accounts earmarked for the U. S. Government. If any employer still doesn't comply, he'll be open to conviction for a misdemeanor and will be subject to penalties running up to a fine of $5,000, a year in prison or both.

For although the vast majority of Americans — employers and employes — aren't yet aware of it, the IRS finally has obtained a law "with teeth" which will enable it to crack down on employers who withhold taxes from employes, then use the funds themselves instead of turning them over to the U. S. Treasury.

Of course, most employers in this country handle withheld taxes with utmost care and forward them regularly to the Treasury.

But there is a minority — a whopping and increasing one — which has been and is mis-using the funds to an appalling extent.

As of the end of 1957, the number of employers delinquent on transferring to the Treasury income or social security taxes withheld from employes was at a startling 377,253, an all - time record and up from a total of 356,748 delinquent at the end of 1956.

At the yearend, the total of tax money involved was at a peak $300,678,000 up from $279,183,000 at the close of 1956.

In the Chicago area last year, employment tax delinquencies skyrocketed 56.9 per cent on top of a 30.8 per cent increase in delinquencies in 1956 and a 24.3 per cent increase in 1955.

In Hartford, Conn., last year, employment tax delinquencies jumped 34.8 per cent. In Camden, N. J., the rise in delinquencies was 21.6 per cent. In Jacksonville, Fla., it was 29.8 per cent.

What's more, it's highly likely that the delinquency situation has deteriorated even more during 1958's months of recession. Many employers, strapped for funds, surely have been "borrowing" the withheld tax money in the hope that they'd be able to make up the deficiency in time.

"It's deliberate stealing and the 'excuse' that an employer had to use the funds to survive is not acceptable," says Fred C. Scribner, Jr., Undersecretary of the Treasury and the official responsible for supervision of the Internal Revenue Service.

"Income and social security taxes which have been withheld by an employer from pay envelopes of his employes are trust funds and under no circumstances should they ever be considered as belonging to the employer or representing funds which he can divert to his own use," emphasizes Senator John J. Williams, Republican of Delaware, who has been a leader in tracking down the tax delinquencies.

Child Afraid To Attend School

Tommy's case is far more tragic than a lot of preoccupied business men may even guess. His whole life may be altered by his entrance into kindergarten with his present terror and panic. You parents should anticipate such major crises in your child's life and insure him against social disaster.

Case Y-336: Tommy G., aged 5, is about ready to enter school.

"Dr. Crane, Tommy doesn't want to go to school. He cries and clutches my dress.

"He says he hates school and doesn't want to leave me. Isn't this a bad mental attitude for him to take?

"What can I do to offset it? For he is scheduled to enter kindergarten next term."

"Horse Sense" for Mothers

Every young wife who plans a family should realize the value of having more than one child.

Then he will not be spoiled and develop the habit of expecting 100 per cent of the spotlight on his little family stage.

Tommy has no brothers or sisters. Unwittingly, therefore, his parents have showered 100 per cent of their attention on him.

If Tommy had even one brother or sister, the attention would be split 50-50.

And if he were one of five children, as was true of our oldest boy, he would be accustomed to just 20 per cent of the parental spotlight.

Star Defines Meaning Of Hot And Cold

By MICKEY ROONEY
Written for UPI

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — I keep hearing and reading about my "amazing and stupendous comeback" and am frankly quite amazed by both the noun and the preceding adjectives.

What amazes me about the whole thing is this comeback business. How, I ask, could I come back when I never went away?

The fact is that while I wasn't away, I might have been. A couple of years ago, I was what show business calls "cold." This, as you might imagine, is the opposite of "hot."

Cold means that nobody wants to put you in a picture because the impression is that you couldn't draw flies into the box office on a hot summer day even if you were covered from head to toe with molasses.

Assuming he has talent and can play the hell out of a role if he can only get it, the actor has to find some producer with guts enough to take a chance on him or some other producer who has a role to fill which other actors are afraid to touch or some other producer who's been away so long, he doesn't know who's hot or who's cold.

What happened to me, frankly, was that my manager, Red Doff, heard that Martin Manulis, producer of CBS' Playhouse 90, had on his schedule a 1½-hour drama about a despicable television comedian who made his own life and the lives of all those who surrounded him unbearable.

The rumor was out that several of TV's top comics had turned down the role because they didn't want to appear before the public in such a miserable characterization.

We grabbed it so fast we couldn't have caught ourselves with a head start.

"The Comedian" was the beginning of Rooney's new deal. Right around the time of the telecast, I was lucky enough to land an Oscar nomination for "The Bold and the Brave."

How did "The Comedian" and the Oscar nomination help the cause? The comments were favorable and producers started to offer me other roles. Before long, I had enough offers to keep busy for the next two years.

Services Held For Mrs. Lieber

Funeral services for Mrs. Ben Lieber, 72, who died Wednesday, were held at 11 a.m. yesterday at the Mulhearn Funeral Chapel with interment following in the Old City Cemetery.

A native of Germany, she was the wife of the late Ben Lieber, prominent Monroe businessman who succumbed 30 years ago. She had lived the greater portion of her life here.

Mrs. Lieber was a member of the Temple B'Nai Israel.

Here's How To Judge Your Maturity

ROCHELLE PARK, N. J. (AP) —If you want to find out how grown-up emotionally you are, here's a test.

Following are seven qualities listed by Dr. William C. Menninger of Topeka, Kan., a noted psychiatrist, as criteria of emotional maturity.

1. Can you change? (Which implies the abandonment of solutions learned in childhood.)

2. Can you accept frustration for future gain? (Compromising rather than running away or fighting.)

3. Can you find more satisfaction in giving than getting? (A reversal of the infant role, which has only demands.)

4. Can you meet stress without disabling symptoms?

5. Can you direct your anger into constructive outlets?

6. Do you have the capacity to love? (The doctor says that is the only neutralizer of hate.)

7. Can you relate to people in a consistent manner? (Or do you switch from friendliness today to hostility tomorrow?)

Menninger, general secretary of the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, advanced the list in a speech before the Bergen County Mental Health Center.

Star Defines Meaning Of Hot And Cold

By MICKEY ROONEY
Written for UPI

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — I keep hearing and reading about my "amazing and stupendous comeback" and am frankly quite amazed by both the noun and the preceding adjectives.

What amazes me about the whole thing is this comeback business. How, I ask, could I come back when I never went away?

The fact is that while I wasn't away, I might have been. A couple of years ago, I was what show business calls "cold." This, as you might imagine, is the opposite of "hot."

Cold means that nobody wants to put you in a picture because the impression is that you couldn't draw flies into the box office on a hot summer day even if you were covered from head to toe with molasses.

IN WEST MONROE

Hospital Group Furthers Plans

Chairmen and co-chairmen of the various hospital committees in West Monroe were last night named as the governing body for the hospital project.

The various groups are ways and means, site, operating, promotional finance, building, legal, publicity, staff and speakers bureau.

A number of additional names were added to the committees, and functions of some of the groups were outlined.

The site committee, which will be concerned with finding a location for the hospital which is of the proper size, not too far out and which has ample parking space, said that anyone who has 10 acres or more which he thinks might be suitable should call the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce office and submit details, which will then be turned over to the site group.

It was suggested that the promotional finance committee go before the civic organizations to see if it would be possible for all the clubs to work together on one project, which would both bring in funds and publicize the project. The publicity committee will work with the promotional finance group on this.

It was also brought out that an obligation of the publicity committee will be to "carefully screen data on the hospital project, so that the newspaper, radio and TV reports would not carry any "undesirable material."

The building committee was instructed to begin thinking of touring various hospitals, and each committee was urged to meet regularly for additional planning.

The question was raised as to how much money from the Hill-Burton act might be used, and a rough figure of 50 to 60 per cent was estimated.

Although it is not yet known how large a bond issue may be involved, since the total cost of the hospital is not known, it was revealed that one a million dollar bond issue, for example, the millage would run about three mills for Ward 5. It was further added, however, that more wards than just Ward 5 might be included.

"We may have a $2 million hospital, or it may be a $4 million," officials pointed out. "But we do know we want one with a least 100 beds."

The next meeting of the group was set for June 27 at 7 p.m. in the West Monroe Chamber offices.

U.S., Britain Served Notice By DeGaulle

PARIS (UPI)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle served indirect notice on the United States and Britain Friday night that France henceforth will pursue an independent course even though preserving its Western ties.

De Gaulle also told Frenchmen in a nationwide broadcast that rebellious Algeria must be pacified so it will be "body and soul" with France. He said he favored setting up "federal links" between France and the people of Africa.

De Gaulle spoke in a radio-TV "fireside chat"—his first since he took power June 1—amid indications that defiant insurgent leaders in Algeria were bowing to his authority.

The new French leader also announced a bold new financial program designed to put France back on its feet. It included the floating of a new national loan and a special "amnesty" to crisis-worried Frenchmen who had been hoarding gold and hard currency in banks outside France.

Bastrop Man Arrested On 3 Felony Counts

Sgt. O. C. Otwell said Pettis had passed three checks each worth $25. Pettis was arrested in Bastrop with the aid of the Bastrop Police Department.

Pettis has been transferred to the Ouachita Parish jail to await his hearing on Monday.

Says 15-20 To Be Charged After Hearing

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Richard Dowling said Friday 15 to 20 persons would be charged as a result of last week's public hearings into alleged vote frauds.

Dowling said the charges growing out of the Feb. 25 district attorney second primary would be made next week, possibly Monday. He would not give names or specific charges.

Dowling's assistant, Leonard Dreyfus, said there was a "strong possibility" the hearings would not be resumed Monday as planned but that some persons who did not testify might be charged.

New Happiness with Full Dimensional Hearing

by: M. A. Hannon

"No sir, not by a long shot," I replied. "And Beltone has the answer waiting for you right here."

He was thrilled to discover that now hearing clearly again was as easy as putting on eyeglasses. . . that this wonderful blessing was now made even more so because Beltone Laboratories' miraculous advance enabled him to hear clearly with BOTH ears, just as nature intended.

My friend was happier than he'd been in months. "Why," he exclaimed, "I can hear who is talking, where sounds come from, even when there's lots of noise. What a blessing Beltone has for the hard of hearing."

Why don't you discover, too, what a thrill it is to hear clearly again with BOTH ears, the marvelous Beltone way? Come in NOW. A happier, more active life may be the result. Maurice A. Hannon, Authorized Beltone Distributor. Beltone Hearing Center, 327 Harrison St., Monroe, La. Phone FA 5-2363. adv.

Meter Jump Operations Bring Term

A seven-months compulsory jail sentence was meted out to Sidney Smith, Negro, in City Court yesterday, after he admitted a system of meter jumping which could have electrocuted meter readers, children, or anyone else who touched it.

The 23-year-old resident of Dog Yard off 8th Street, was sentenced for a "fantastic arrangement" of live wires which he installed to obtain city electricity without paying for it.

Three persons had already been shocked when they accidentally brushed against the wires.

Judge W. M. Harper, in handing out the sentence, sounded a warning that anyone else found meter jumping will be prosecuted.

"It's not only stealing - it endangers people's safety," the Judge commented.

The man had been warned on various other occasions about meter jumping.

"He was doing some fanciful meter jumping - running wires hither and yon. Several wires were used to take the electricity without allowing it to pass through the meter" Harper stated.

IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

Bernstein Park Undergoes Work

The first stage of an improvement and beautification program for Bernstein Park is now underway, with completion slated for next summer.

Tremendous use of the park has brought on crowded conditions, and the need for additional space resulted in the program to develop the entire park.

Mayor W. L. "Jack" Howard revealed yesterday that city workers have cleared several so-far unused acres of a tangle of underbrush this week as a start on the plan.

Other major developments to make the park an outstanding feature of this parish will include clearing and smoothing all other sections of the park which need it, seeding those areas and placing picnic tables and barbecue pits at intervals there, officials said.

Portions of the winding "bayou" and Lake Corrine will be drained, cleaned of underbrush, the banks will be graded to a gentle slope and sandbags will be put in, so children may go wading.

The mayor said that the city may ask the planning commission for ideas on landscaping.

Land Cleaned

A tour of the land east of the present park site shows acres which have been completely rid of weeds, high grass and brush. A pile of debris smouldered as the last remains went up in smoke. The land stood bare and without grass.

"It's too late in the season to seed that area now, but next spring it will be seeded After that, the picnic equipment will be placed there," Howard explained

"The entire park - all of the land included in its boundaries - will be opened up this year. Entry to all of this area can be gained from the perimeter road which goes around the park and borders on the city limits," Howard pointed out.

Only cost for the project will be labor, which is being supplied by city employees who started work on the park last Monday.

Overgrown islands in the park's "bayou" will be cleared, and the section of the bayou which runs from the central road to the zoo will be cleaned.

"We'll pump that water to the section on the other side of the road, then clear the stream bed, grade the banks, put in sandbanks at selected spots and landscape the area," he commented.

A few fish now live in the bayou, along with many gar and turtle. After the cleaning process, which will also rid the bayou of the gar, some bream will be stocked into the water, for fishing.

Water will be piped in, so that a continuous stream of fresh water will prevent the bayou from becoming stagnant.

The time for this work will depend on the amount consumed in pumping the water out into the other section. However, the pumping process should be completed and clearing operations should start by the latter part of June, according to indications.

Pointing out some parkland where pools of water were visible in the grass, Howard said that the spots would be filled in.

Lake Corrine will also be drained, underbrush will be cleared out, and an adequate supply of water will be maintained to keep the lake from stagnation.

In front of the present park area, the drainage ditch which runs toward the American Legion stadium will be drained and cleaned.

Police Group Supports Long On Wine Tax

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Conference of Police Associations Friday joined Gov. Earl Long in support of a higher wine tax.

Rep. Marvin Roberts of DeSoto has announced he plans to amend the tax to dedicate $1,100,000 to continue a pay raise for city police voted in the 1956 Legislature.

Gov. Long's budget committee left this item out of the new budget. The bill is set for a House vote Monday.

Maj. William J. McNamara of New Orleans, conference president, announced endorsement of the increase from 21 cents to one dollar per gallon in the wine tax.

The tax hike will bring in an estimated three million dollars, with $700,000 going for legislative scholarships.

IN WEST MONROE

Hospital Group Furthers Plans

Chairmen and co-chairmen of the various hospital committees in West Monroe were last night named as the governing body for the hospital project.

The various groups are ways and means, site, operating, promotional finance, building, legal, publicity, staff and speakers bureau.

A number of additional names were added to the committees, and functions of some of the groups were outlined.

The site committee, which will be concerned with finding a location for the hospital which is of the proper size, not too far out and which has ample parking space, said that anyone who has 10 acres or more which he thinks might be suitable should call the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce office and submit details, which will then be turned over to the site group.

It was suggested that the promotional finance committee go before the civic organizations to see if it would be possible for all the clubs to work together on one project, which would both bring in funds and publicize the project. The publicity committee will work with the promotional finance group on this.

It was also brought out that an obligation of the publicity committee will be to "carefully screen data on the hospital project, so that the newspaper, radio and TV reports would not carry any "undesirable material."

The building committee was instructed to begin thinking of touring various hospitals, and each committee was urged to meet regularly for additional planning.

The question was raised as to how much money from the Hill-Burton act might be used, and a rough figure of 50 to 60 per cent was estimated.

Although it is not yet known how large a bond issue may be involved, since the total cost of the hospital is not known, it was revealed that one a million dollar bond issue, for example, the millage would run about three mills for Ward 5. It was further added, however, that more wards than just Ward 5 might be included.

"We may have a $2 million hospital, or it may be a $4 million," officials pointed out. "But we do know we want one with a least 100 beds."

The next meeting of the group was set for June 27 at 7 p.m. in the West Monroe Chamber offices.

U.S., Britain Served Notice By De Gaulle

PARIS (UPI)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle served indirect notice on the United States and Britain Friday night that France henceforth will pursue an independent course even though preserving its Western ties.

De Gaulle also told Frenchmen in a nationwide broadcast that rebellious Algeria must be pacified so it will be "body and soul" with France. He said he favored setting up "federal links" between France and the people of Africa.

De Gaulle spoke in a radio-TV "fireside chat"—his first since he took power June 1—amid indications that defiant insurgent leaders in Algeria were bowing to his authority.

The new French leader also announced a bold new financial program designed to put France back on its feet. It included the floating of a new national loan and a special "amnesty" to crisis-worried Frenchmen who had been hoarding gold and hard currency in banks outside France.

Bastrop Man Arrested On 3 Felony Counts

Sgt. O. C. Otwell said Pettis had passed three checks each worth $25. Pettis was arrested in Bastrop with the aid of the Bastrop Police Department.

Pettis has been transferred to the Ouachita Parish jail to await his hearing on Monday.

Says 15-20 To Be Charged After Hearing

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Richard Dowling said Friday 15 to 20 persons would be charged as a result of last week's public hearings into alleged vote frauds.

Dowling said the charges growing out of the Feb. 25 district attorney second primary would be made next week, possibly Monday. He would not give names or specific charges.

Dowling's assistant, Leonard Dreyfus, said there was a "strong possibility" the hearings would not be resumed Monday as planned but that some persons who did not testify might be charged.

New Happiness with Full Dimensional Hearing

by: M. A. Hannon

"Doesn't hearing clearly again mean wearing a lot of junk, too?" asked a man with a hearing problem.

"No sir, not by a long shot," I replied. "And Beltone has the answer waiting for you right here."

He was thrilled to discover that now hearing clearly again was as easy as putting on eyeglasses. . . that this wonderful blessing was now made even more so because Beltone Laboratories' miraculous advance enabled him to hear clearly with BOTH ears, just as nature intended.

My friend was happier than he'd been in months. "Why," he exclaimed, "I can hear who is talking, where sounds come from, even when there's lots of noise. What a blessing Beltone has for the hard of hearing."

Why don't you discover, too, what a thrill it is to hear clearly again with BOTH ears, the marvelous Beltone way? Come in NOW. A happier, more active life may be the result. Maurice A. Hannon, Authorized Beltone Distributor. Beltone Hearing Center, 327 Harrison St., Monroe, La. Phone FA 5-2363. adv.

Bolt Surges In With 71 To Cop Halfway Lead In Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Stormy Tommy Bolt, spitting fire and brimstone, hobbled in with a 71 Friday for 142 and a one-stroke lead over South Africa's par-busting Gary Player at the halfway point of the National Open Golf Championship.

Ben Hogan, meanwhile, turned up with an injured left wrist — incurred while hitting out of the rough at the 17th Thursday — and probably bade good-bye to his hopes for a record fifth title. Hogan, in intense pain, shot 73 for 148.

On another hot and windy day of fluctuating fortunes and sandpaper nerves, Sam Snead's 17th bid for a championship he never has won ended in complete frustration. The slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., his fine game in tatters, skied to an 80 for 155 and failed to make the cutoff.

It marked the first time in his tournament appearances dating back to 1937 Snead had failed to qualify for the final two rounds.

Cary Middlecoff, a redhot advance favorite, barely sneaked into the break at 154 when he registered a scattershot 79, one of his poorest rounds in years.

The jut-jawed Bolt, from Crystal River, Fla., came to the 18th tee needing par for a 69 and a three-stroke lead going into Saturday's gruelling 36-hole showdown.

He drove into the rough at the left of the dogleg fairway, played a seven shot safe 120 yards short of the uphill green and then had a miserable break. His apparently perfect nine-iron pitch, straight at the pin, hit a small mound and kicked back about 45 feet. He three-putted missing a five-footer.

As he stomped off the green, an official of the tournament asked him to go between certain yellow ropes.

"I'll go where I please," Bolt fumed, and strode on.

"I don't want to talk to you fellows. I have a representative who will do all my talking." He later relented and submitted to an interview.

In contrast to the swashbuckling, pugilistic Bolt, young Player, a 22-year-old precisionist who has patterned his game after his hero, Hogan, breezed in with a 68—the only sub-par round of the tournament. He nailed birdies on five of the nine finishing holes and climaxed his round by sinking a 10-foot downhill birdie putt on the 18th.

Two strokes back of the pace-setting Bolt at 144 came Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, with his second straight 72 and what he called "a secret I won't divulge until I win." Stranahan, a brilliant amateur before turning pro, never won the national title.

Tied at 146 were Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C. who fell off his first day pace with a 75 and two Oklahomans — amateur Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City and Labron Harris, balding 49-year old coach of the Oklahoma State tolf team.

Coe, 1949 National Amateur champion and ex-Walker Cup captain, shot a 71 in a threesome with Hogan and Player. Harris, who has a standing bet to treat 40 alumni members of his golf teams if he ever shoots an 80, under any condition, fired a 72.

Gene Littler of El Cajon, Calif., who has been in a prolonged slump, and grandpa Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., playing in his 15th Open, were tied at 147.

Hogan at 148 was bracketed with Bruce Crampton, the good-looking Australian who had a 75, and Tom Nieporte, youthful dark-horse from Bronxville, N.Y., who had a 73.

Orioles, White Hose Play 14 Innings To Tie

BALTIMORE (AP) — Chicago and Baltimore dueled to a 5-5 tie game which was halted at the end of the 14th inning Friday night because of a Baltimore curfew which prohibits any inning starting after 11:59 p.m., EDT.

A crowd of 15,418 sat through 4 hours and 8 minutes of contrasting baseball only to see the game end in a deadlock. It must be played over.

Gernert Sparks Bosox Over A's

BOSTON (AP) — Dick Gernert crashed a run-producing double and his 12th homer during a pair of three run innings Friday night in sparking the Boston Red Sox to a 9-3 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Supported by the hitting of Gernert, Ted Williams and Frank Malzone, right-hander Tom Brewer maintained an old hex by hurling his 15th triumph in 18 lifetime decisions against the A's.

Gernert's double off the wall in left scored Pete Runnels with the first tally in a three-run fourth to break a 1-1 deadlock. His homer, a mightly blast off a light tower above the 379-foot mark with Williams on base, capped a three-run fifth.

The victory enabled the Red Sox to secure thir hold on second place and move within eight games of the American League-leading New York Yankees, who lost to Detroit.

Williams drove in two runs with singles in the first and fifth innings in hiking his average to .295, the highest of the season for the 1957 batting king.

Speed Bowl Feature Won By Greenway

Gary Greenway's 45 won the feature race in the second week of racing at the Monroe Speed Bowl on Winnsboro Road last night with Red Futch second in 25 and Wade Bell third in number 3.

H. L. Hale's 39 won the night's trophy dash when Futch, running even with Hale on the last lap, turned over several times going into the number 2 turn. Futch was unhurt and returned later to win the consolation race in number 25.

Futch broke Wade Bell's short-lived record in the time trials with an 18.9 clocking in number 7. Bell set a mark of 19.4 last week in the first program at the quarter-mile track.

Greenway was second to Futch in the consolation event while Bell won the heat race in number 3. H. L. Hale was second in 39 and Floyd Cook third in Zero.

'TERRIBLY HURT'

Knox Sidelines His Pop, Harvey

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ronnie Knox, the handsome football player who would like to cash in on both his passing arm and his profile, says he doesn't want his stepfather to call signals on his career any longer.

But Harvey Knox, who might be called a quarterback's quarterback, since he's called the plays for Ronnie since the youngster first hit the headlines as a high school passing whiz, has other ideas.

Right now he's "terribly, terribly hurt" over Ronnie's decision to strike out on his own. The 23-year-old football star has contracts with both the Chicago Bears and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios. He announced his decision Friday through Mirror-News Hollywood columnist Kendis Rochlen.

Harvey wishes the boy luck, but adds: "I have a contract for a percentage of his earnings that has six years to run."

In explaining the break-up of the father-son act that has made Ronnie one of the most publicized athletes in the country, the former UCLA tailback said he thought it was time he went out on his own.

"It isn't that I don't love Harvey, or don't appreciate all he tried to do for me," he said. "It's simply a matter of evolution. You've got to grow up some time, and I figure I'm way overdue."

Harvey said the newspaper story was his first intimation that he was being shunted aside, although Ronnie moved into his own apartment three months ago.

Harvey married Ronnie's mother when the boy was 8 and started grooming him for a football career at once.

Under Harvey's tutelage Ronnie became an outstanding passer and transfer student. In pursuit of the proper coaching for his son, Harvey enrolled Ronnie in three high schools and two colleges in successive years.

When Ronnie became interested in an acting career a few years ago, Harvey got him a top agent, a leading drama coach, and an M-G-M contract.

Bolt Surges In With 71 To Cop Halfway Lead In Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Stormy Tommy Bolt, spitting fire and brimstone, hobbled in with a 71 Friday for 142 and a one-stroke lead over South Africa's par-busting Gary Player at the halfway point of the National Open Golf Championship.

Ben Hogan, meanwhile, turned up with an injured left wrist — incurred while hitting out of the rough at the 17th Thursday — and probably bade good-bye to his hopes for a record fifth title. Hogan, in intense pain, shot 73 for 148.

On another hot and windy day of fluctuating fortunes and sandpaper nerves, Sam Snead's 17th bid for a championship he never has won ended in complete frustration. The slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., his fine game in tatters, skied to an 80 for 155 and failed to make the cutoff.

It marked the first time in his tournament appearances dating back to 1937 Snead had failed to qualify for the final two rounds.

Cary Middlecoff, a redhot advance favorite, barely sneaked into the break at 154 when he registered a scattershot 79, one of his poorest rounds in years.

The jut-jawed Bolt, from Crystal River, Fla., came to the 18th tee needing par for a 69 and a three-stroke lead going into Saturday's gruelling 36-hole showdown.

He drove into the rough at the left of the dogleg fairway, played a seven shot safe 120 yards short of the uphill green and then had a miserable break. His apparently perfect nine-iron pitch, straight at the pin, hit a small mound and kicked back about 45 feet. He three-putted missing a five-footer.

As he stomped off the green, an official of the tournament asked him to go between certain yellow ropes.

"I'll go where I please," Bolt fumed, and strode on.

"I don't want to talk to you fellows. I have a representative who will do all my talking." He later relented and submitted to an interview.

In contrast to the swashbuckling, pugilistic Bolt, young Player, a 22-year-old precisionist who has patterned his game after his hero, Hogan, breezed in with a 68—the only sub-par round of the tournament. He nailed birdies on five of the nine finishing holes and climaxed his round by sinking a 10-foot downhill birdie putt on the 18th.

Two strokes back of the pace-setting Bolt at 144 came Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, with his second straight 72 and what he called "a secret I won't divulge until I win." Stranahan, a brilliant amateur before turning pro, never won the national title.

Tied at 146 were Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C. who fell off his first day pace with a 75 and two Oklahomans — amateur Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City and Labron Harris, balding 49-year old coach of the Oklahoma State tolf team.

Coe, 1949 National Amateur champion and ex-Walker Cup captain, shot a 71 in a threesome with Hogan and Player. Harris, who has a standing bet to treat 40 alumni members of his golf teams if he ever shoots an 80, under any condition, fired a 72.

Gene Littler of El Cajon, Calif., who has been in a prolonged slump, and grandpa Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., playing in his 15th Open, were tied at 147.

Hogan at 148 was bracketed with Bruce Crampton, the good-looking Australian who had a 75, and Tom Nieporte, youthful dark-horse from Bronxville, N.Y., who had a 73.

Gernert Sparks Bosox Over A's

BOSTON (AP) — Dick Gernert crashed a run-producing double and his 12th homer during a pair of three run innings Friday night in sparking the Boston Red Sox to a 9-3 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Supported by the hitting of Gernert, Ted Williams and Frank Malzone, right-hander Tom Brewer maintained an old hex by hurling his 15th triumph in 18 lifetime decisions against the A's.

Gernert's double off the wall in left scored Pete Runnels with the first tally in a three-run fourth to break a 1-1 deadlock. His homer, a mightly blast off a light tower above the 379-foot mark with Williams on base, capped a three-run fifth.

The victory enabled the Red Sox to secure thir hold on second place and move within eight games of the American League-leading New York Yankees, who lost to Detroit.

Williams drove in two runs with singles in the first and fifth innings in hiking his average to .295, the highest of the season for the 1957 batting king.

Speed Bowl Feature Won By Greenway

Gary Greenway's 45 won the feature race in the second week of racing at the Monroe Speed Bowl on Winnsboro Road last night with Red Futch second in 25 and Wade Bell third in number 3.

H. L. Hale's 39 won the night's trophy dash when Futch, running even with Hale on the last lap, turned over several times going into the number 2 turn. Futch was unhurt and returned later to win the consolation race in number 25.

Futch broke Wade Bell's short-lived record in the time trials with an 18.9 clocking in number 7. Bell set a mark of 19.4 last week in the first program at the quarter-mile track.

Greenway was second to Futch in the consolation event while Bell won the heat race in number 3. H. L. Hale was second in 39 and Floyd Cook third in Zero.

'TERRIBLY HURT'

Knox Sidelines His Pop, Harvey

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ronnie Knox, the handsome football player who would like to cash in on both his passing arm and his profile, says he doesn't want his stepfather to call signals on his career any longer.

But Harvey Knox, who might be called a quarterback's quarterback, since he's called the plays for Ronnie since the youngster first hit the headlines as a high school passing whiz, has other ideas.

Right now he's "terribly, terribly hurt" over Ronnie's decision to strike out on his own. The 23-year-old football star has contracts with both the Chicago Bears and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios. He announced his decision Friday through Mirror-News Hollywood columnist Kendis Rochlen.

Harvey wishes the boy luck, but adds: "I have a contract for a percentage of his earnings that has six years to run."

In explaining the break-up of the father-son act that has made Ronnie one of the most publicized athletes in the country, the former UCLA tailback said he thought it was time he went out on his own.

"It isn't that I don't love Harvey, or don't appreciate all he tried to do for me," he said. "It's simply a matter of evolution. You've got to grow up some time, and I figure I'm way overdue."

Harvey said the newspaper story was his first intimation that he was being shunted aside, although Ronnie moved into his own apartment three months ago.

Harvey married Ronnie's mother when the boy was 8 and started grooming him for a football career at once.

Under Harvey's tutelage Ronnie became an outstanding passer and transfer student. In pursuit of the proper coaching for his son, Harvey enrolled Ronnie in three high schools and two colleges in successive years.

When Ronnie became interested in an acting career a few years ago, Harvey got him a top agent, a leading drama coach, and an M-G-M contract.

British Heading Wightman Event

By STERLING SLAPPEY

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (AP)—Christine Truman, a 17-year-old schoolgirl with the power of a Marciano, smashed her way to a double victory Friday as Britain's long hopeful tennis gals took a 2-1 lead over the United States in the first day of the Wightman Cup competition.

Only Althea Gibson, gangling Wimbledon and U. S. champion from New York's Harlem, was able to salvage American prestige in the opening day of the series, which ends with three singles and a doubles match Saturday.

Then Miss Truman, a 6-footer who quickly is becoming Englands top ace, took over to put Britain close to its first Cup triumph in 28 years and only its fifth in 30 attempts since the competition began in 1923.

She shipped Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N. Y., 6-4, 6-4 in the No. 2 singles match, then teamed with the revived Miss Bloomer for an easy doubles victory over Mrs. Knode and glamor girl Karol Fageros of Miami, 6-2, 6-3.

The only thing to enliven the dull doubles was Miss Bloomer's misfortune with a half slip she wore under her skirt. At one stage of the second set, the slip slipped—plunging down around her shoelaces.

The petite Miss Bloomer demurely stepped out of the filmy petticoat and with hardly a blush handed it to British Team Capt. Mary Halford. The crowd cheered Miss Bloomer giggled and the match continued — no less dully than before.

It was Miss Bloomer's 24th birthday on Friday, the 13th, and she had 13 cats embroidered on her tennis costume.

Except for Althea Gibson, the first day's program showed glaring weaknesses in the American team which has won 21 consecutive Wightman series since England last won in 1930.

The U. S. will be clearly the underdog in the closing matches, in which Althea Gibson plays Miss Truman, Mrs. Knode meets Miss Bloomer, and Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., plays Ann Haydon in singles, and Althea Gibson and Janet Hopps of Seattle face Ann Shilcock and Pat Ward in doubles.

Carter Gives Sound Beating To Besmanoff

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold Carter, a high-ranked heavyweight before he went into the Army, returned from a 17-month layoff and handed German Willi Besmanoff a sound beating for a unanimous decision Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

Carter weighed 191¼, Besmanoff 193.

There were no knockdowns in the free-swinging battle although Besmanoff slipped down in the middle on the 10th round.

Carter threw leather steadily all night long, several times punching away after the bell, while the German confined his activity to savage flurries.

Although the battle was lopsided, there were times in the third and ninth when Carter appeared to have been wobbled by Willi's right hand punches. However, the 24-year-old boxer from Linden, N. J. continued to swarm over Besmanoff and never stopped applying pressure.

Judge Harold Barnts scored it 8-2. Judge Bill Recht, 6-2-2 and Referee Ruby Goldstein 6-3-1 all in favor of Carter. The AP card had it 8-2 for Carter.

Carter, the 13-5 favorite, had been third or fourth among the heavies before he went into service. Undoubtedly he will reclaim a lofty rating in the near future for Besmanoff was No. 9 among the challengers of champion Floudy Patterson.

In his last previous outing Besmanoff had given overweight Archie Moore, the light heavy champ, a rough night although Archie finally snaked home with a split decision at Louisville, May 2.

Off this effort Carter appeared to be an even more forceful fighter than he was when he whipped Bob Baker, Jan. 11, 1957, his last previous scrap. He really opened up with everything he had in the middle round but couldn't floor the sturdy German.

Referee Goldstein warned Carter for hitting after the bell in the fifth and cautioned him to keep his punches up in the seventh. Although Besmanoff was cut on the side of the left eye in the fifth, the injury had no influence on the outcome.

Lindsay, Cohn In Trans-Miss Ladies' Final

Miss Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., will meet Miss Andrea Cohn, Waterloo, Iowa in the 36-hole finals Saturday.

Miss Lindsay won the title in 1950, was runner-up in 1949 and is playing in her ninth Trans-Miss. Miss Cohn, 18, is in her first tournament.

Miss Cohn Friday played steady golf and took advantage of her opponent's errors in defeating Mrs. J. Harry Henderson, Alexandria, La., 4 and 3.

Richmond Loses Promising Cager

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The University of Richmond has confirmed reports Terry Litchfield, promising basketball player, has been dropped from school for a breach of regulations.

Coach Les Hooker said Litchfield's loss is "really a worse blow than anybody can realize. We're deeply distressed over losing him."

As a freshman last year Litchfield, 6-10, showed outstanding potential and was being groomed as the key man in Hooker's future planning.

Litchfield is from Louisville, Ky.

Gallant Man, Bold Ruler Face 10 Foes

NEW YORK (AP)—Bold Ruler and Gallant Man failed to scare off the opposition for Saturday's $50,000-added Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park. Ten were entered Friday to oppose the two handicap stars in the one-mile race which starts the New York Handicap triple spinning.

The reason for the large field is the weights and the knowledge that sooner or later it will catch up with the big horse. Bold Ruler, star of the Wheatley Stable, is seeking his seventh straight victory with a 135 - pound load. Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man, who finished a fast closing third in the Carter Handicap won by Bold Ruler May 30, has 130 pounds.

This is the third start of 1958 for Bold Ruler, the 1957 Horse of the Year. He won the Toboggan under 133 pounds, the seven-furlong Carter with 135. Gallant Man had 128 in the Carter, his only start of the season.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' entry of Promised Land, 118, and Paper Tiger, 108, could be troublesome in the race, which will be televised and broadcast by CBS from 3:30-4 p.m., EST.

Others entered were Mrs. J.R.H. Thouron's Ben Lond, 111; C. T. Chenery's Third Brother, 113 the Bohemia Stable's Ambehaving 105; Howell E. Jackson's Tick Tock, 111; the King Ranch's Dotted Line, 102; Adele L. Rand's Clem, 114; Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Oh Johnny, 113; and Edward Seinfeld's Admiral Vee, 114.

With 12 starters the Met would gross $59,800, the winner netting $38,270.

Two years ago Nashua got 130 pounds for the race, but finished fourth as Midafternoon won under 11.1. Last year Dedicate failed with 126, and Traffic Judge scored with 118. Tom Fool, Native Dancer and High Gun each won with 130, Devil Diver with 134, Grey Lag with 133, and Eight Thirty with 132. They were the only ones to win with 130 or more since the race was inaugurated in 1891.

Eddie Arcaro will ride Bold Ruler, hoping to achieve the elusive handicap triple. The other two in this series are the Suburban Handicap July 4 at Belmont and the Brooklyn Handicap at Jamaica, July 26. Whisk Broom II won the triple in 1913, and Tom Fool made it in 1953.

Willie Shoemaker flies in from the West Coast to ride Gallant Man, while Ismael Valenzuela pilots Promised Land. Ted Atkinson who won the Carter, and then the Metropolitan-Suburban - Brooklyn triple with Tom Fool, will have to watch what he eats before the race. He's booked to ride Dotted Line (102) and probably will scale three or four pounds overweight.

HOMERS HELP

Tribe Coasts To Win Over Solons

WASHINGTON (AP)—With Billy Moran, J. W. Porter and Minnie Minoso blasting across eight runs on homers, Ray Narleski and the Cleveland Indians coasted to a 10-1 victory over Washington Friday night.

The sixth inning homer by Moran with two aboard was the first of his major league career. Porter's in the seventh, also with two on, was only his second of the season. Both came at the expense of Washington starter Chuck Stobbs who had yielded two unearned runs in the first.

When Minoso connected for his ninth of the season with one on in the ninth inning, Al Cicotte was pitching for the Senators.

Washington's lone run was a home run blast by Jim Lemon, his ninth, in the sixth. Narleski thus won his third in a row and eighth in 12 decisions. He had a four-hitter, fanned eight and walked only one.

Billy Hunter, acquired by the Indians Thursdayin a trade which sent Chico Carrasquel to Kansas City, made a sensational debut in his new uniform. Hunter rapped out two doubles and two singles in five trips to the plate and handled five assists and two putouts flawlessly at shortstop.

Texarkana JC Signs Rebels' Larry Green

Larry Green, all-Twin Cities guard at West Monroe last year, has signed a football grant-in-aid with Texarkana Junior College, it was announced yesterday.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Green of 1602 Jonesboro Road, Larry was all Twin Cities, second team all-district and honorable mention all-state at West Monroe last year. The 180-punder lettered for two years at tackle before being switched to guard last year by Rebel Coach Cecil Pirkey.

Colleges, Pros Keep Up Their Baseball Fued

OMAHA (AP)—There's no end in sight to the strained relations between college and professional baseball, an executive of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. said Friday.

"We're frustrated and disillusioned," Walt Byers told an Omaha Kiwanis Club audience. "The situation hasn't changed in 10 years."

"The NCAA has no negotiating power, no leverage," Byers admitted.

"Is it too much to ask from reasonable people that they leave a college player alone at least from September to June during the school year?" Byers asked. "The scouts won't even leave the boy unmolested for 2½ hours during a ball game."

Byers said he doesn't think it makes sense to suggest any more comprises. The major leagues have rejected several, he said.

In an interview, Byers asserted a scholarship plan established by the Detroit Tigers doesn't meet NCAA rules. The Tiger management has set up scholarships at four Michigan schools but said athletes who use them are not obligated to sign pro contracts with the Detroit team later.

Byers, here for the NCAA baseball tourney which opened Friday night, disclosed the NCAA rules Committee will meet during the tournament.

FIRST SINCE '50 OVER BOBBY

Groth, Kaline Pace Tigers Over Shantz, Yankees, 4-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Groth belted a pair of triples and Al Kaline, who made a game-saving catch in the ninth inning, drove in two runs Friday night as the Detroit Tigers beat southlaw Bobby Shantz for the first time since 1950 with a 4-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

Shantz was shooting for his 13th in a row over Detroit—on Friday the 13th.

The American League - leading Yankees, scoreless since Mickey Mantle parked his 12th homer in the left field stands for a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning, scored in a frantic ninth before relievers Herb Moford and Hank Aguirre finally saved Billy Hoeft's fifth victory in 10 decisions.

Groth, who trupled and scored on shortstop Tony Kubek's relay bobble for a 2-1 lead in the sixth, led off with a triple and scored the clinching run in a wrap-up eighth inning that chased Shantz to his third consecutive defeat. Bobby's now 4-3.

Ozzie Virgil's single scored Groth and Kaline doubled Virgil home in the eighth while Hoeft breezed with a four-hitter. The veteran lefty gave way in the eighth, however, when Moford came on and got Gil McDougald on an inning-ending double play after Kubek had singled and Mantle had walked with one out.

Moford, just up from Charleston, as is Tiger Manager Bill Norman, wasn't as sharp in the ninth. Bill Skowron beat out a bunt and Yogi Berra walked. And when Andy Carey singled Skowron home, Aguirre came on.

West Monroe's Juniors Playing Columbia Team

The West Monroe Kilpatricks and Columbia American Legion Junior baseball clubs meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Columbia in a Fifth District of Louisiana official game. The contest is moved up from its originally slated date of next Monday.

GOING AFTER AKINS

Basilio, Aragon Sign For Match

Basilio signed for an Aug. 28 bout with Art Aragon in Los Angeles to test his ability to fight again at 147 pounds for a possible late fall title match with Akins.

The Basilio-Aragon match, a 12-rounder guaranteeing Basilio $60,000, was announced by Los Angeles matchmaker George Parnassus here just before the International Boxing Club disclosed Basilio's willingness to fight Akins for the welter crown which Basilio vacated.

Sugar Ray dethroned Basilio as middleweight champ in the Chicago Stadium last March 25 and since has been vague about a possible third meeting with Basilio.

In Chicago, Parnassus said Basilio agreed to 30 per cent of the gate with a $60,000 guarantee. Aragon will get 25 per cent and a $35,000 guarantee, or "maybe $40,000," Parnassus said.

Parnassus said the bout may draw "upwards of $300,000" at the gate with a $5 to $25 ticket price scale.

He said Basilio's managers, Joe Netro and John DeJohn, signed at Parnassus' hotel.

Bold Ruler, star of the Wheatley Stable, is seeking his seventh straight victory with a 135-pound load. Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man, who finished a fast closing third in the Carter Handicap won by Bold Ruler May 30, has 130 pounds.

This is the third start of 1958 for Bold Ruler, the 1957 Horse of the Year. He won the Toboggan under 133 pounds, the seven-furlong Carter with 135. Gallant Man had 128 in the Carter, his only start of the season.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' entry of Promised Land, 118, and Paper Tiger, 108, could be troublesome in the race, which will be televised and broadcast by CBS from 3:30-4 p.m., EST.

Others entered were Mrs. J.R.H. Thouron's Ben Lond, 111; C. T. Chenery's Third Brother, 113 the Bohemia Stable's Ambehaving 105; Howell E. Jackson's Tick Tock, 111; the King Ranch's Dotted Line, 102; Adele L. Rand's Clem, 114; Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Oh Johnny, 113; and Edward Seinfeld's Admiral Vee, 114.

With 12 starters the Met would gross $59,800, the winner netting $38,270.

Two years ago Nashua got 130 pounds for the race, but finished fourth as Midafternoon won under 11.1. Last year Dedicate failed with 126, and Traffic Judge scored with 118. Tom Fool, Native Dancer and High Gun each won with 130, Devil Diver with 134, Grey Lag with 133, and Eight Thirty with 132. They were the only ones to win with 130 or more since the race was inaugurated in 1891.

Eddie Arcaro will ride Bold Ruler, hoping to achieve the elusive handicap triple. The other two in this series are the Suburban Handicap July 4 at Belmont and the Brooklyn Handicap at Jamaica, July 26. Whisk Broom II won the triple in 1913, and Tom Fool made it in 1953.

Willie Shoemaker flies in from the West Coast to ride Gallant Man, while Ismael Valenzuela pilots Promised Land. Ted Atkinson who won the Carter, and then the Metropolitan-Suburban - Brooklyn triple with Tom Fool, will have to watch what he eats before the race. He's booked to ride Dotted Line (102) and probably will scale three or four pounds overweight.

HOMERS HELP

Tribe Coasts To Win Over Solons

WASHINGTON (AP)—With Billy Moran, J. W. Porter and Minnie Minoso blasting across eight runs on homers, Ray Narleski and the Cleveland Indians coasted to a 10-1 victory over Washington Friday night.

The sixth inning homer by Moran with two aboard was the first of his major league career. Porter's in the seventh, also with two on, was only his second of the season. Both came at the expense of Washington starter Chuck Stobbs who had yielded two unearned runs in the first.

When Minoso connected for his ninth of the season with one on in the ninth inning, Al Cicotte was pitching for the Senators.

Washington's lone run was a home run blast by Jim Lemon, his ninth, in the sixth. Narleski thus won his third in a row and eighth in 12 decisions. He had a four-hitter, fanned eight and walked only one.

Billy Hunter, acquired by the Indians Thursdayin a trade which sent Chico Carrasquel to Kansas City, made a sensational debut in his new uniform. Hunter rapped out two doubles and two singles in five trips to the plate and handled five assists and two putouts flawlessly at shortstop.

Texarkana JC Signs Rebels' Larry Green

Larry Green, all-Twin Cities guard at West Monroe last year, has signed a football grant-in-aid with Texarkana Junior College, it was announced yesterday.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Green of 1602 Jonesboro Road, Larry was all Twin Cities, second team all-district and honorable mention all-state at West Monroe last year. The 180-punder lettered for two years at tackle before being switched to guard last year by Rebel Coach Cecil Pirkey.

TIMER MISSES MEET

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The 1958 Arizona state high school track and field meet wasn't quite the same this year. Sam Mansfield, a timer in every meet since 1912, missed this one. He suffered a couple of broken ribs in an accident.

Colleges, Pros Keep Up Their Baseball Fued

OMAHA (AP)—There's no end in sight to the strained relations between college and professional baseball, an executive of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. said Friday.

"We're frustrated and disillusioned," Walt Byers told an Omaha Kiwanis Club audience. "The situation hasn't changed in 10 years."

"The NCAA has no negotiating power, no leverage," Byers admitted.

"Is it too much to ask from reasonable people that they leave a college player alone at least from September to June during the school year?" Byers asked. 'The scouts won't even leave the boy unmolested for 2½ hours during a ball game."

Byers said he doesn't think it makes sense to suggest any more comprises. The major leagues have rejected several, he said.

In an interview, Byers asserted a scholarship plan established by the Detroit Tigers doesn't meet NCAA rules. The Tiger management has set up scholarships at four Michigan schools but said athletes who use them are not oobligated to sign pro contracts with the Detroit team later.

Byers, here for the NCAA baseball tourney which opened Friday night, disclosed the NCAA rules Committee will meet during the tournament.

FIRST SINCE '50 OVER BOBBY

Groth, Kaline Pace Tigers Over Shantz, Yankees, 4-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Groth belted a pair of triples and Al Kaline, who made a game-saving catch in the ninth inning, drove in two runs Friday night as the Detroit Tigers beat southlaw Bobby Shantz for the first time since 1950 with a 4-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

Shantz was shooting for his 13th in a row over Detroit—on Friday the 13th.

The American League-leading Yankees, scoreless since Mickey Mantle parked his 12th homer in the left field stands for a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning, scored in a frantic ninth before relievers Herb Moford and Hank Aguirre finally saved Billy Hoeft's fifth victory in 10 decisions.

Groth, who trupled and scored on shortstop Tony Kubek's relay bobble for a 2-1 lead in the sixth, led off with a triple and scored the clinching run in a wrap-up eighth inning that chased Shantz to his third consecutive defeat. Bobby's now 4-3.

Ozzie Virgil's single scored Groth and Kaline doubled Virgil home in the eighth while Hoeft breezed with a four-hitter. The veteran lefty gave way in the eighth, however, when Moford came on and got Gil McDougald on an inning-ending double play after Kubek had singled and Mantle had walked with one out.

Moford, just up from Charleston, as is Tiger Manager Bill Norman, wasn't as sharp in the ninth. Bill Skowron beat out a bunt and Yogi Berra walked. And when Andy Carey singled Skowron home, Aguirre came on.

West Monroe's Juniors Playing Columbia Team

The West Monroe Kilpatricks and Columbia American Legion Junior baseball clubs meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Columbia in a Fifth District of Louisiana official game. The contest is moved up from its originally slated date of next Monday.

GOING AFTER AKINS

Basilio, Aragon Sign For Match

Basilio signed for an Aug. 28 bout with Art Aragon in Los Angeles to test his ability to fight again at 147 pounds for a possible late fall title match with Akins.

The Basilio-Aragon match, a 12-rounder guaranteeing Basilio $60,000, was announced by Los Angeles matchmaker George Parnassus here just before the International Boxing Club disclosed Basilio's willingness to fight Akins for the welter crown which Basilio vacated.

Sugar Ray dethroned Basilio as middleweight champ in the Chicago Stadium last March 25 and since has been vague about a possible third meeting with Basilio.

In Chicago, Parnassus said Basilio agreed to 30 per cent of the gate with a $60,000 guarantee. Aragon will get 25 per cent and a $35,000 guarantee, or "maybe $40,000," Parnassus said.

Parnassus said the bout may draw "upwards of $300,000" at the gate with a $5 to $25 ticket price scale.

He said Basilio's managers, Joe Netro and John DeJohn, signed at Parnassus' hotel.

NO SUBSIDIZATION

Generals Quitting Southern Conference 'With Regrets'

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—Washington and Lee University, whose one-time football powerhouse was shorted out by desubsidization, disclosed Friday it is quitting the Southern Conference it helped organize.

"The entire university family regrets the necessity for this step," said President Francis P. Gaines in a letter to Dr. Frontis W. Johnston of Davidson College, conference president.

Dr. Johnston said the resignation would be accepted with regret.

Dr. William Hinton, chairman of W&L's athletic committee, said, however, the school expects "to be able to continue competition with the nine remaining Southern Conference schools in golf, swimming, wrestling, rifle, tennis and baseball where the use of subsidized athletes is not involved."

It was just eight years ago that W&L, riding high on the crest of a football boom, won the Southern Conference championship. Then less than four years later — on July 23, 1954—the university announced it was canceling its 1954 grid schedule and would return to a simon pure amateur athletic program.

The university stopped giving athletic scholarships, but honored those in effect when the decision was taken.

In the fall of '54, W&L fielded a "junior varsity" football team which played the freshman and Jaycee squads of several other colleges and prep schools. In 1955, the college returned to inter-collegiate varsity competition with a seven - game "watered down" schedule against small colleges in the South and Midwest.

Since then, W&L has confined its schedule to the smaller colleges, and, where possible, to those which participate on an unsubsidized basis missing have been such mainstays as West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia and once-in-a-while opponents such as Tennessee.

Gaines, in his letters to Johnston and Wade, pointed out that the action was taken on instructions from the university's board of trustees.

A university spokesman said the withdrawal from the Southern Conference was not geared to any intention of going into another conference.

Last year, W&L lost all eight of its football games against non - conference foes. In basketball W&L had a 4-9 conference record and a 9-16 all games record.

The school has 13 games scheduled with Southern Conference basketball teams next season.

LOUISE SUGGS SCORES 20

Marlene Hagge Clings To Lead

By BOB HOOBING

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP)—Marlene Hagge clung to a shrinking lead Friday despite a 20-point burst by veteran Louise Suggs in the second round of the $12,000 Round Robin Women's Invitation Golf Tournament.

Louise, picking up 19 points on the front nine, faltered for a double bogey at the 17th but recouped for a nine foot birdie putt on the final hole.

Mrs. Hagge added eight points at the expense of her foursome opponents, Mary Lena Faulk, Mickey Wright and Betsy Rawls for a 36-hole total of plus 31 Louise has 36.

Scrambling over the Tedesco Country Club's 6,174 yard layout, Mrs. Hagge bore down to stay in front. Typical of her day was a wood recovery from a fairway trap on the ninth that salved a par five.

In this 90-mile arithmetic puzzle which concludes Sunday, 16 pros are grouped in foursomes which change from round to round. Competition is within the foursomes with a plus point awarded for each stroke under the three opponents and minus points for strokes over them.

The confusing mathematics involved can be shown by the fact that Miss Suggs made only six points Thursday on a two-under-par 71 but collected 20 Friday by tiring 74.

Betty Dodd, in second place with plus 13 points after the first round, ran into four bogeys, a double bogey and a triple bogey to go with one birdie and plunged to a minus four count.

Illness forced Beverly Hanson to give way to first alternate Joyce Ziske after the first nine. Bev, who spent a sleepless night and was barely able to push herself through the morning action, fell from a field-trailing minus 11 to minus 24.

Miss Ziske recaptured five points in relief.

The score continues in Bev's name and tournament officials indicated she will resume action Saturday.

Miss Wright, Marilynn Smith and Miss Dodd had unplayable lies in the round but the biggest hazard was encountered by Bonnie Randolph on No. 3. As she stroked a putt, a stray dog ran across the green. The ball, nearly hitting one of the animal's paws, rolled between his legs and dropped for a par three.

Suggs narrowly missed an ace on the second where she got a birdie which she matched on the sixth, 16th and 18th holes with cool putting.

Two rounds are slated for Saturday and a final 18 holes Sunday.

The scores:

Marlene Hagge	70-75—145,	plus 31
Louise Suggs	71-74—145,	plus 26
Patty Berg	74-75—149,	plus 13
Kathy Cornelius	72-75—147,	plus 9
Betsy Rawls	75-78—153,	plus 1
Alice Bauer	72-78—150,	minus 1
Wiffi Smith	77-76—153,	minus 1
Betty Dodd	73-81—154,	minus 4
Mary Lena Faulk	75-79—154,	minus 6
Bonnie Randolph	78-76—154,	minus 6
Mickey Wright	75-76—151,	minus 6
Fay Crocker	78-77—155,	minus 8
Jackie Pung	77-80-155,	minus 8
Betty Jameson	76-81—157,	minus 10
Marilynn Smith	78-78—156,	minus 10
Beverly Hanson	78-81—160,	minus 19

Clayton Cole Wins Meet At Bayou DeSiard

Neville senior Clayton Cole defeated Dickie Guerriero, 4-3, yesterday to win the High School - College Boys Handicap Tournament at Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Cole defeated Joe Cage, Mark Womack, and Duggie Haynes to reach the finals against Guerriero. Guerriero, a Tech student, beat S. J. Scholssman, Jim Harper, and Howard John on his way to the final round.

Sixteen high school and college golfers participated in the tournament which began June 5.

Nadir Returns To Action In Select Race

Fifteen 3-year-olds were entered, and if all start the value will be $24,650 with $16,022 to the winner.

Nadir, to be ridden by Jimmy Nichols, hasn't started since he finished fourth behind Tim Tam in the Derby Trial Stakes at Louisville. Nadir has top weight of 126 pounds, conceding four to 18 pounds to his rivals.

His chief opposition is expected from Hubcap, 122, the Brookfield Farm entry of I've Got Rhythm, 120, and Isendu, 116; Strong Ruler, 120; Bumpy Road, 114, and Galley Hill, 116.

AT LAKE PROVIDENCE

Van Hisks Heading Recreation Program

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La.— (Special) — The East Carroll Parish Recreation Commission has appointed Van Hicks as parish recreational director for 1958 and the plans for the summer program are nearly complete. These plans include softball for both boys and girls, swimming instruction and supervised swimming from the Legion pier with qualified lifeguards on duty.

Hicks said that regular league play began Tuesday of this week and will end August 1. There will be four leagues throughout the parish consisting of the Pony League, ages 7-9; Pee-Wee league, ages 10-12; junior league, 13-15; and senior league with age limit 16 through 19 years.

Games will be played twice a week, on Tuesday and Friday nights. The girls' softball games will be played on Thursday nights at the three centers, Lake Providence, Transylvania and Monticello. Sam Sandide will be in charge at the Monticello School, Talmadge Pearson at Transylvania and Penn Sandidge at Lake Providence.

Classes in swimming instruction will begin next Monday, Hicks said with Lake Providence children scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Fridays. Children from other areas in the parish will be transported to the Legion pier on Tuesday's and Thursdays.

The recreation commission is headed by Frank Voelker, Jr., chairman, and is presently composed of the following members: John Markey, F. E. Fortenberry, Sam House, Keener Howard, L. E. Walters, and H. T. Poole. The East Carroll parish police jury, the town of Lake Providence and the parish school board all cooperate in this recreational program. This year's funds were materially supplemented by a gift of $2,250 given by Sheriff J. W. "Red" Gilbert, from the sheriff's salary fund

Youth Receives Reds' Top Bonus

He did not disclose the actual amount paid the youth.

Paul said scout Bobby Mattick signed Beall to a contract with Seattle of the Pacific Coast League and that he was assigned immediately to Visalia of the Class C California League.

Ancestor 1st In Delaware Park Jumps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Ancestor, handling his 169 pounds impost like a champion, Friday won the Georgetown Steeplechase at Delaware Park by a length and a half.

Ridden by Pat Smithwick, Ancestor completed the nearly two-mile run with 12 obstacles in 3:39 4-5 to net $6,880 of the race's $10,440 gross value.

It was Ancestor's third 1958 victory. The victor paid $3.20.

Gerry Colella's Peter Spice and Joe Marrone's Pongfree finished in a dead heat, just a nose in front of Sundance Stable's Barroco, in the $3,500 Forest Hills Purse at Suffolk Downs.

Peter Spice, a 35-1 shot, opened up an 11 length lead down the backstretch and was ahead by 3½ entering the stretch, but couldn't hold on in the mile and 70 yards test for 3-year-olds.

Pongfree and Barroco, the 3-5 favorite in the crowd of 10,360, moved from far back with Pongfree pulling even with Peter Spice at the wire and Barroco just missing.

John S. Kroese's Little Hermit, who fell on Tuesday's fog-bound opening day program, found the sloppy track to his liking and romped to victory in the featured sixth race at Monmouth Park.

The 4-year-old colt by Ambiorix, in winning his second of 14 starts this season, was ridden by Karl Korte and completed the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5. Little Hermit paid $13.80.

Cockfield Stable's Pantene stood off a strong stretch surge by Cain Hoy Stable's Red God to win the Henry Hudson Classified Handicap on the Belmont Park turf course.

The 4-year-old son of Clarion-Curly Locks, ridden by Eddie Arcaro, scored by a half length with Red God a neck to the good of Mrs. Herbert Herff's Tudor Era, who headed Joe W. Brown's Tenacious.

The seven furlongs was run in 1:23, two fifths of a second off Adare 2nd's track record. Pantene paid $9.10.

Hillsdale Horse To Beat In El Dorado Affair

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Strong-finishing Hillsdale is the horse to beat in Saturday's $27,450 El Dorado Handicap at Hollywood Park.

Hillsdale, piloted by Ray York comes off a thrilling win in the Will Rogers Stakes at a mile. His big competition in the mile and one sixteenth feature is expected to come from a pair he whipped in the Will Rogers, Prize Host and Aliwar.

Others in the race, limited to 3-year-olds, are Harcall, Furor Scribendi, Hit The Trail and Sir Ruler.

Nielsen Knocks Quillian From Kent Net Event

BECKENHAM, England (AP)—Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, shaping up for another crack at the Wimbledon title, bounced Bill Quillian of Seattle—the last American entry—out of the Kent Lawn Tennis Championships Friday.

Nielsen, twice a beaten finalist at storied Wimbledon, joined top-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia in the men's singles finals after a routine 6-3, 6-3 victory over Quillian, 10th- ranking U. S. player.

Fraser ousted Denmark's Torben Ulrich by the same 6-3, 6-3 margin.

Holland Reaches French Golf Final

DEAUVILLE, France (AP)—Tim Holland, elegant Rockville Centre, N. Y., golfer, outbattled Ohioan J. Edward Meister in an afternoon thriller Friday and reached the final of the French Amateur championships against perennial champion Henri De Lamaze.

Holland, beaten semifinalist in last week's British Amateur,and De Lamaze, the suave Frenchman seeking his ninth title and fifth in succession, will play 36 holes for the crown Saturday.

Holland, playing "just like a machine, he doesn't make any mistakes" said his morning opponent, defeated Meister one up in 19 holes after the Willoughby, Ohio, veteran had won the last two holes in spectacular fashion to force the match into overtime.

Meister, two down with two holes to play, won the 17th with a par and pulled even on the 18th with a brilliant 40-foot putt for a birdie three.

There his rally ended, however, as Holland took the first extra hole with a par with an eight-foot putt after Meister's 15 foot putt stopped short.

In the morning quarter-finals, Holland had less trouble, scoring a 3 and 2 victory over Richard Nash of Warrenton, Va., who shook his head constantly at his opponent's steady, errorless play.

De Lamaze, who has made this tournament his personal property for more than a decade, won his semifinal match from Marius Bardana of France 2 and 1 after ousting Clarke Hardwicke of Hollywood, 2 and 1 in the morning.

In addition to Nash and Hardwicke, another American—Bob Roos of San Francisco—fell out in the quarter-finals, losing one up to Bardana.

Both Holland and De Lamaze stayed close to par throughout the long day on the 6,220-yard, par 72 Deauville course.

Split Running Of Christiana For 15 Horses

STANTON, Del. (AP)—Fifteen 2-year-olds were entered for Saturday's split division running of the Christiana Stakes at Delaware Park.

Seven youngsters will clash in the first division with eight in the second group. The two races—each a $10,000 added event—will be decided over five furlongs.

Because of stakes triumphs, Ella K. Bryson's Pepping Tom, and Dorchester Farm Stable's Bang Up, have been assigned top weight in their respective divisions—122 pounds each. No rider was assigned Peeping Tom, but Walter Blum was engaged for Bang Up.

Named to oppose Peeping Tom in the first section were Bonus 116, Fred Kratz up; Jennie's Joy, 116, Larry Adams; Curious Roman, 116, Nick Shuk; Ich Bin, 116, Eldon Nelson; Lake Erie, 112, no boy, and Modest Count, 112, Bennie Green.

Among those pitted against Bang Up in the second half were Demobilize, 116, Joe Culmone; Soda Card, 116, Logan Batcheller; Snommis 116, Joe Regalbuto; Weather Prophet 116, Tony Russo; Matisse 116, Steve Brooks; Bay Harbor, 116, no boy, and Auriate 112, John Choquette.

Braves Trade Sawatski For Player, Cash

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Catcher Carl Sawatski Friday night was traded by the Milwaukee Braves to the Philadelphia Phillies for a player to be named later and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Used mostly as a pinchhitter, the 30-year-old Sawatski was sold to make room for the return of pitcher Carlton Willey from the Milwaukee farm club at Wichita, Kan., where he tossed a no-hitter a few weeks ago. He has a 3-3 record with the American Assn. club.

A left-handed batter, Sawatski joined the Braves last year after playing the 1956 season with Toronto in the International League. He was with the Chicago Cubs in 1950 and 1953 and the Chicago White Sox in 1954.

Sawatski batted .100 for the Braves this season, getting only a single in 10 trips. A native of Shickshinny, Pa., he makes his home in Little Rock, Ark.

Generals Quitting Southern Conference 'With Regrets'

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—Washington and Lee University, whose one-time football powerhouse was shorted out by desubsidization, disclosed Friday it is quitting the Southern Conference it helped organize.

"The entire university family regrets the necessity for this step," said President Francis P. Gaines in a letter to Dr. Frontis W. Johnston of Davidson College, conference president.

Dr. Johnston said the resignation would be accepted with regret.

Dr. William Hinton, chairman of W&L's athletic committee, said, however, the school expects "to be able to continue competition with the nine remaining Southern Conference schools in golf, swimming, wrestling, rifle, tennis and baseball where the use of subsidized athletes is not involved."

It was just eight years ago that W&L, riding high on the crest of a football boom, won the Southern Conference championship. Then less than four years later — on July 23, 1954—the university announced it was canceling its 1954 grid schedule and would return to a simon pure amateur athletic program.

The university stopped giving athletic scholarships, but honored those in effect when the decision was taken.

In the fall of '54, W&L fielded a "junior varsity" football team which played the freshman and Jaycee squads of several other colleges and prep schools. In 1955, the college returned to inter-collegiate varsity competition with a seven - game "watered down" schedule against small colleges in the South and Midwest.

Since then, W&L has confined its schedule to the smaller colleges, and, where possible, to those which participate on an unsubsidized basis missing have been such mainstays as West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia and once-in-a-while opponents such as Tennessee.

Gaines, in his letters to Johnston and Wade, pointed out that the action was taken on instructions from the university's board of trustees.

A university spokesman said the withdrawal from the Southern Conference was not geared to any intention of going into another conference.

Last year, W&L lost all eight of its football games against non - conference foes. In basketball W&L had a 4-9 conference record and a 9-16 all games record.

The school has 13 games scheduled with Southern Conference basketball teams next season.

LOUISE SUGGS SCORES 20

Marlene Hagge Clings To Lead

By BOB HOOBING

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP)—Marlene Hagge clung to a shrinking lead Friday despite a 20-point burst by veteran Louise Suggs in the second round of the $12,000 Round Robin Women's Invitation Golf Tournament.

Louise, picking up 19 points on the front nine, faltered for a double bogey at the 17th but recouped for a nine foot birdie putt on the final hole.

Mrs. Hagge added eight points at the expense of her foursome opponents, Mary Lena Faulk, Mickey Wright and Betsy Rawls for a 36-hole total of plus 31 Louise has 36.

Scrambling over the Tedesco Country Club's 6,174 yard layout, Mrs. Hagge bore down to stay in front. Typical of her day was a wood recovery from a fairway trap on the ninth that salved a par five.

In this 90-mile arithmetic puzzle which concludes Sunday, 16 pros are grouped in foursomes which change from round to round. Competition is within the foursomes with a plus point awarded for each stroke under the three opponents and minus points for strokes over them.

The confusing mathematics involved can be shown by the fact that Miss Suggs made only six points Thursday on a two-under-par 71 but collected 20 Friday by firing 74.

Betty Dodd, in second place with plus 13 points after the first round, ran into four bogeys, a double bogey and a triple bogey to go with one birdie and plunged to a minus four count.

Illness forced Beverly Hanson to give way to first alternate Joyce Ziske after the first nine. Bev, who spent a sleepless night and was barely able to push herself through the morning action, fell from a field-trailing minus 11 to minus 24.

Miss Ziske recaptured five points in relief.

The score continues in Bev's name and tournament officials indicated she will resume action Saturday.

Miss Wright, Marilynn Smith and Miss Dodd had unplayable lies in the round but the biggest hazard was encountered by Bonnie Randolph on No. 3. As she stroked a putt, a stray dog ran across the green. The ball, nearly hitting one of the animal's paws, rolled between his legs and dropped for a par three.

Suggs narrowly missed an ace on the second where she got a birdie which she matched on the sixth, 16th and 18th holes with cool putting.

Two rounds are slated for Saturday and a final 18 holes Sunday.

The scores:

Marlene Hagge	70-75—145,	plus 31
Louise Suggs	71-74—145,	plus 26
Patty Berg	74-75—149,	plus 13
Kathy Cornelius	72-75—147,	plus 9
Betsy Rawls	75-78—153,	plus 1
Alice Bauer	72-78—150,	minus 1
Wiffi Smith	77-76—153,	minus 1
Betty Dodd	73-81—154,	minus 4
Mary Lena Faulk	75-79—154,	minus 6
Bonnie Randolph	78-76—154,	minus 6
Mickey Wright	75-76—151,	minus 6
Fay Crocker	78-77—155,	minus 8
Jackie Pung	77-80-155,	minus 8
Betty Jameson	76-81—157,	minus 10
Marilynn Smith	78-78—156,	minus 10
Beverly Hanson	78-81—160,	minus 19

Clayton Cole Wins Meet At Bayou DeSiard

Neville senior Clayton Cole defeated Dickie Guerriero, 4-3, yesterday to win the High School - College Boys Handicap Tournament at Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Cole defeated Joe Cage, Mark Womack, and Duggie Haynes to reach the finals against Guerriero. Guerriero, a Tech student, beat S. J. Scholssman, Jim Harper, and Howard John on his way to the final round.

Sixteen high school and college golfers participated in the tournament which began June 5.

Nadir Returns To Action In Select Race

Fifteen 3-year-olds were entered, and if all start the value will be $24,650 with $16,022 to the winner.

Nadir, to be ridden by Jimmy Nichols, hasn't started since he finished fourth behind Tim Tam in the Derby Trial Stakes at Louisville. Nadir has top weight of 126 pounds, conceding four to 18 pounds to his rivals.

His chief opposition is expected from Hubcap, 122, the Brookfield Farm entry of I've Got Rhythm, 120, and Isendu, 116; Strong Ruler, 120; Bumpy Road, 114, and Galley Hill, 116.

AT LAKE PROVIDENCE

Van Hisks Heading Recreation Program

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La.—(Special) — The East Carroll Parish Recreation Commission has appointed Van Hicks as parish recreational director for 1958 and the plans for the summer program are nearly complete. These plans include softball for both boys and girls, swimming instruction and supervised swimming from the Legion pier with qualified lifeguards on duty.

Hicks said that regular league play began Tuesday of this week and will end August 1. There will be four leagues throughout the parish consisting of the Pony League, ages 7-9; Pee-Wee league, ages 10-12; junior league, 13-15; and senior league with age limit 16 through 19 years.

Games will be played twice a week, on Tuesday and Friday nights. The girls' softball games will be played on Thursday nights at the three centers, Lake Providence, Transylvania and Monticello. Sam Sandide will be in charge at the Monticello School, Talmadge Pearson at Transylvania and Penn Sandidge at Lake Providence.

Classes in swimming instruction will begin next Monday, Hicks said with Lake Providence children scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Fridays. Children from other areas in the parish will be transported to the Legion pier on Tuesday's and Thursdays.

The recreation commission is headed by Frank Voelker, Jr., chairman, and is presently composed of the following members: John Markey, F. E. Fortenberry, Sam House, Keener Howard, L. E. Walters, and H. T. Poole. The East Carroll parish police jury, the town of Lake Providence and the parish school board all cooperate in this recreational program. This year's funds were materially supplemented by a gift of $2,250 given by Sheriff J. W. "Red" Gilbert, from the sheriff's salary fund

Youth Receives Reds' Top Bonus

He did not disclose the actual amount paid the youth.

Paul said scout Bobby Mattick signed Beall to a contract with Seattle of the Pacific Coast League and that he was assigned immediately to Visalia of the Class C California League.

Ancestor 1st In Delaware Park Jumps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Ancestor, handling his 169 pounds impost like a champion, Friday won the Georgetown Steeplechase at Delaware Park by a length and a half.

Ridden by Pat Smithwick, Ancestor completed the nearly two-mile run with 12 obstacles in 3:39 4-5 to net $6,880 of the race's $10,440 gross value.

It was Ancestor's third 1958 victory. The victor paid $3.20.

Gerry Colella's Peter Spice and Joe Marrone's Pongfree finished in a dead heat, just a nose in front of Sundance Stable's Barroco, in the $3,500 Forest Hills Purse at Suffolk Downs.

Peter Spice, a 35-1 shot, opened up an 11 length lead down the backstretch and was ahead by 3½ entering the stretch, but couldn't hold on in the mile and 70 yards test for 3-year-olds.

Pongfree and Barroco, the 3-5 favorite in the crowd of 10,360, moved from far back with Pongfree pulling even with Peter Spice at the wire and Barroco just missing.

John S. Kroese's Little Hermit, who fell on Tuesday's fog-bound opening day program, found the sloppy track to his liking and romped to victory in the featured sixth race at Monmouth Park.

The 4-year-old colt by Ambiorix, in winning his second of 14 starts this season, was ridden by Karl Korte and completed the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5. Little Hermit paid $13.80.

Cockfield Stable's Pantene stood off a strong stretch surge by Cain Hoy Stable's Red God to win the Henry Hudson Classified Handicap on the Belmont Park turf course.

The 4-year-old son of Clarion-Curly Locks, ridden by Eddie Arcaro, scored by a half length with Red God a neck to the good of Mrs. Herbert Herff's Tudor Era, who headed Joe W. Brown's Tenacious.

The seven furlongs was run in 1:23, two fifths of a second off Adare 2nd's track record. Pantene paid $9.10.

Hillsdale Horse To Beat In El Dorado Affair

Hillsdale, piloted by Ray York comes off a thrilling win in the Will Rogers Stakes at a mile. His big competition in the mile and one sixteenth feature is expected to come from a pair he whipped in the Will Rogers, Prize Host and Aliwar.

Others in the race, limited to 3-year-olds, are Harcall, Furor Scribendi, Hit The Trail and Sir Ruler.

Nielsen Knocks Quillian From Kent Net Event

BECKENHAM, England (AP)—Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, shaping up for another crack at the Wimbledon title, bounced Bill Quillian of Seattle—the last American entry—out of the Kent Lawn Tennis Championships Friday.

Nielsen, twice a beaten finalist at storied Wimbledon, joined top-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia in the men's singles finals after a routine 6-3, 6-3 victory over Quillian, 10th- ranking U. S. player.

Fraser ousted Denmark's Torben Ulrich by the same 6-3, 6-3 margin.

AGAINST DE LAMAZE

Holland Reaches French Golf Final

DEAUVILLE, France (AP) — Tim Holland, elegant Rockville Centre, N. Y., golfer, outbattled Ohioan J. Edward Meister in an afternoon thriller Friday and reached the final of the French Amateur championships against perennial champion Henri De Lamaze.

Holland, beaten semifinalist in last week's British Amateur,and De Lamaze, the suave Frenchman seeking his ninth title and fifth in succession, will play 36 holes for the crown Saturday.

Holland, playing "just like a machine, he doesn't make any mistakes" said his morning opponent, defeated Meister one up in 19 holes after the Willoughby, Ohio, veteran had won the last two holes in spectacular fashion to force the match into overtime.

Meister, two down with two holes to play, won the 17th with a par and pulled even on the 18th with a brilliant 40-foot putt for a birdie three.

There his rally ended, however, as Holland took the first extra hole with a par with an eight-foot putt after Meister's 15 foot putt stopped short.

In the morning quarter-finals, Holland had less trouble, scoring a 3 and 2 victory over Richard Nash of Warrenton, Va., who shook his head constantly at his opponent's steady, errorless play.

De Lamaze, who has made this tournament his personal property for more than a decade, won his semifinal match from Marius Bardana of France 2 and 1 after ousting Clarke Hardwicke of Hollywood, 2 and 1 in the morning.

In addition to Nash and Hardwicke, another American—Bob Roos of San Francisco—fell out in the quarter-finals, losing one up to Bardana.

Both Holland and De Lamaze stayed close to par throughout the long day on the 6,220-yard, par 72 Deauville course.

Parties Climax Engagement Days Of Miss Roberta Ard Of Bastrop

Miss Roberta Wayne Ard, whose wedding to Charles Goodwin Gladney will be solemnized this evening at 8 o'clock in Christ Episcopal Church, Bastrop, was honored with a number of parties during the week.

Friday, Mrs. Edwin Madison and Mrs. Bill Carpenter used gardenias as the focal point of the decorations when they entertained in her honor at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club. Miss Ard was dressed in a cool summer frock of blue linen made along sheath lines featuring a jewelled collar. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Attending with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. Ancel Ard, Mrs. E. L. Gladney, Jr., Mrs. F. P. Robinson, Mrs. Shelby Meek, Mrs. Dan Files, Mrs. William Barham, Mrs. Chester Spencer, Miss Sarah Young, Miss Merrilee Parker, Miss Bennie Berry, Miss Sylvia Brister and the two hostesses.

That evening Miss Ard and Mr. Gladney were honor guests in the Bastrop home of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Mattison at a fish supper. The hostess used mixed flowers for the center of the table.

Present for the party, with the engaged couple, were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ancel Ard, Judge and Mrs. E. L. Gladney, Jr., and and Mr. and Mrs. George Goodwin. They received a gift of silver from their hosts.

Thursday's compliment was a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Nathan Bolton with Mrs. Bolton, Mrs. Ben Lee Johnston and Mrs. Clyde Burt hostesses.

The guests included with Miss Ard were Mrs. Ancel Ard, Mrs. E. L. Gladney Jr., Mrs. W. H. Todd, Mrs. Edwin Madison, Mrs. Bill Carpenter, Mrs. James McCormick, Mrs. J. B. Bennett, Mrs. Peggy Pagan, Miss Sarah Young, Miss Bennie Berry, Miss Betty Arnette, Miss Margaret Ann Burt.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Negligence Can Cause Inadequate Diet

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Everyone of us knows a great deal more about diet and nutrition than we put into practice. We read a lot about what makes for an adequate diet — and why

Any young girl who has graduated from high school or college has had sufficient work in home economics not to be ignorant of the field of nutrition. But how often this knowledge is pushed aside in favor of foods to which the individual has become familiar through habit and custom?

Why do you suppose organ meats are so much cheaper than muscle meats? Only because there is so little demand for them. If everyone demanded kidneys, heart, liver, brains, sweetbreads, tripe and so on, there would be less demand for rib roasts and tenderloins.

Superior Nutrition

Yet every nutritionist stresses the need for putting organ in meats in our diet. They offer superior types of nutrition, yet such is custom that we turn up our noses at these cheap and nutritious cuts of meat and call ourselves lucky because we can pay a high price for less nutritious cuts.

We all know from emphasis upon it, that whole-grain cereals and breads offer us vitamins and minerals, as well as an excellent type of protein. But we cast these aside in favor of refined white breads and refined cereals for a dozen reasons we can't even name — custom being the most usual one.

We pride ourselves on being meat and potato eaters and feel indifferent to fruits and vegetables, even though we are or should be well aware that if we want vitamins and minerals these are our richest sources of them.

Can't Fool Bodies

Adults fill themselves up with countless cups of tea, coffee and soft drinks — and thus encourage children to imitate them—though they know that of all beverages milk is the best for them.

But we can't fool our bodies even if we fool ourselves. They "make do" with the food materials given them but they cannot radiate good health, or give us the service we demand of them, if they are constantly short-changed of the proper food essentials. The cells, the tissues, the muscles, the blood, the bones, the teeth demand nourishment and it is we alone who can furnish it.

So, if we are the victims of inadequate diets we cannot plead ignorance; rather it is due to negligence, to indifference and to the weight of faulty food habits to which we are heir. Think about that.

Arlington Is Party Setting

LAKE PROVIDENCE — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dalfiume were complimented prior to their recent marriage when the St. Patrick's church choir entertained at a supper party at Arlington ancestral home of Mrs. S. H. Guenard.

Present for the occasion in addition to the hosts Mr. and Mrs. Guenard, were the honor guests, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Voelker, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dinger, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Bagbey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Zimmer, Hugo Morara, Mrs. Edith Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe LeBeau, Dr. and Mrs. Bill Paris, Mrs. Anna R. Cox and Father Laurence Bonin.

Baby Makes Mom More Beautiful

The mother-to-be in this modern era may be chic and lovely up to the moment she goes to the delivery room. And many a woman has even managed to improve her natural beauty by having a baby.

Time was when this waiting period was done in seclusion, when every woman expected to lose a tooth for a child, a clump of hair, and maybe to look older as the result of the experience.

In recent years, however, the world's glamor girls and working girls who have kept their jobs before and after baby's arrival have helped make the idea of motherhood glamorous, maintaining their charm through the waiting period. They have proved that they can be even lovelier during that time.

Special care is taken of the hair, skin, nails and figure, so that there is no letdown in looks. Biochemical changes occur during pregnancy, creating increasing glandular activity. Sweat and oil glands are busier than usual.

It is a time when the daily bath is essential, with warm water and soap as absolute necessity, and when the bathtub ceases to be safe and convenient, the shower stall takes over.

Complexion Care

If the complexion becomes excessively oily during this time, special cleansers made for oily skin will help the condition. Or if the skin darkens during pregnancy as may happen in those first few months, a lighter powder and brighter shade of lipstick may be required.

Nails reflect nutritional changes, and if they become brittle, perhaps the doctor will recommend additional calcium either in milk or tablet form. A thorough manicure once a week will not only help the nails to look better but will build up the morale. Hands should be creamed after washing the dishes.

Teeth and gums should be attended by a dentist, of course, early in pregnancy. The mouth is particularly sensitive and minor defects may be intensified during pregnancy.

Weight Control

Most doctors agree that keeping the weight down is healthier for mother and child, and the average doctor will suggest a diet for his patient. Good sense keeps the average modern woman away from cookie jar or soda fountain if she wants to keep her weight down, permitting only the increase the doctor approves.

Important considerations are the foundation garments worn during the waiting time. The long-line bra is not a good one to wear during this time. There are especially constructed maternity foundations, scientifically designed to give support where it is needed. Maternity bras have the three-forked strap underlift suspension and control-band support to give necessary uplift and firm control with comfort.

Maternity girdles should be worn on the doctor's recommendation, and should be part of the wardrobe for firm, rigid control at least from the middle of the pregnancy period. These help maintain posture and prevent back-ache if chosen properly. Side lacings enable these foundations to grow along with you.

Parties Climax Engagement Days Of Miss Roberta Ard Of Bastrop

Miss Roberta Wayne Ard, whose wedding to Charles Goodwin Gladney will be solemnized this evening at 8 o'clock in Christ Episcopal Church, Bastrop, was honored with a number of parties during the week.

Friday, Mrs. Edwin Madison and Mrs. Bill Carpenter used gardenias as the focal point of the decorations when they entertained in her honor at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club. Miss Ard was dressed in a cool summer frock of blue linen made along sheath lines featuring a jewelled collar. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Attending with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. Ancel Ard, Mrs. E. L. Gladney, Jr., Mrs. F. P. Robinson, Mrs. Shelby Meek, Mrs. Dan Files, Mrs. William Barham, Mrs. Chester Spencer, Miss Sarah Young, Miss Merrilee Parker, Miss Bennie Berry, Miss Sylvia Brister and the two hostesses.

That evening Miss Ard and Mr. Gladney were honor guests in the Bastrop home of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Mattison at a fish supper. The hostess used mixed flowers for the center of the table.

Present for the party, with the engaged couple, were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ancel Ard, Judge and Mrs. E. L. Gladney, Jr., and and Mr. and Mrs. George Goodwin. They received a gift of silver from their hosts.

Thursday's compliment was a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Nathan Bolton with Mrs. Bolton, Mrs. Ben Lee Johnston and Mrs. Clyde Burt hostesses.

The guests included with Miss Ard were Mrs. Ancel Ard, Mrs. E. L. Gladney Jr., Mrs. W. H. Todd, Mrs. Edwin Madison, Mrs. Bill Carpenter, Mrs. James McCormick, Mrs. J. B. Bennett, Mrs. Peggy Pagan, Miss Sarah Young, Miss Bennie Berry, Miss Betty Arnette, Miss Margaret Ann Burt.

Wednesday at noon, Mrs. Harold McClendon entertained with a luncheon at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club. The luncheon table, covered with a white cloth, was centered with a silver epergne overflowing with gardenias. The same flowers were used in the corsage worn by the honoree.

Attending were Mrs. Ancel Ard, Mrs. E. L. Gladney, Jr., Mrs. L. C. Ingram, Mrs. George Beekman, Mrs. F. P. Robinson, Mrs. James Madison, Miss Bennie Berry. Miss Ard's place was marked with a bridal gift of silver.

It is a time when the daily bath is essential, with warm water and soap as absolute necessity, and when the bathtub ceases to be safe and convenient, the shower stall takes over.

Complexion Care

If the complexion becomes excessively oily during this time, special cleansers made for oily skin will help the condition. Or if the skin darkens during pregnancy as may happen in those first few months, a lighter powder and brighter shade of lipstick may be required.

Nails reflect nutritional changes, and if they become brittle, perhaps the doctor will recommend additional calcium either in milk or tablet form. A thorough manicure once a week will not only help the nails to look better but will build up the morale. Hands should be creamed after washing the dishes.

Teeth and gums should be attended by a dentist, of course, early in pregnancy. The mouth is particularly sensitive and minor defects may be intensified during pregnancy.

Weight Control

Most doctors agree that keeping the weight down is healthier for mother and child, and the average doctor will suggest a diet for his patient. Good sense keeps the average modern woman away from cookie jar or soda fountain if she wants to keep her weight down, permitting only the increase the doctor approves.

Important considerations are the foundation garments worn during the waiting time. The long-line bra is not a good one to wear during this time. There are especially constructed maternity foundations, scientifically designed to give support where it is needed. Maternity bras have the three-forked strap underlift suspension and control-band support to give necessary uplift and firm control with comfort.

Maternity girdles should be worn on the doctor's recommendation, and should be part of the wardrobe for firm, rigid control at least from the middle of the pregnancy period. These help maintain posture and prevent back-ache if chosen properly. Side lacings enable these foundations to grow along with you.

Young Set Matches Tip To Toe

As any mother knows, there is no more fashion conscious person in the world than a young girl, of any age from 6 to 16.

The most meticulous member of the international fashion set couldn't spend more time, thought and tears on her wardrobe than almost any small girl in America. Did you ever, for instance, pick out what you thought was a smart new dress or pair of shoes and bring it home as a surprise for a young daughter? The almost inevitable response is:

"Oh, Moth-ERR! Nobody's wearing that sort of thing any more!"

Wise mothers have learned to let the young fry pick their own clothes and make their own mistakes — it's so much easier on parental nerves and tempers.

The current pitch of the young set is to be coordinated from head to toe — even the shoes must match. So the biggest news on the sub-teen scene this summer is a new line of special occasion dresses, hats, and shoes, all carefully made to match.

There are printed chintzes, Tyrolean heart prints, checked ginghams and rosebud prints, all made up into flat - heeled pumps designed by Capezio to match dresses from two leading children's wear manufacturers and hats designed by John Fredericks.

There's even a beach shoe to match the new "duffle - bag" knit swim suits — an open - toed sneaker of orange kid with strawberry pink piping and cork sole or the same design in bold black-and-white striped cotton.

With the pigtail set, when it comes to fashion coordination, it's all or nothing at all.

FLOWERS ON HER TOES: This fashion-conscious young lady is strictly coordinated from head to toe in her gay summer dress of English garden chintz with full skirt and piped trim and matching skimmer shoes.

Books On La. Presented To London College

LONDON (AP)—A dozen large books, containing codes, statutes, and the constitution of the state of Louisiana were presented to King's College of London at a ceremony today by Prof. F. F. Stone, director of the institute of comparative law at Tulane University.

The volumes were accepted by Dr. Peter Noble, principal of King's College. He spoke warmly of the cordial relationship between the college and Tulane University and said there have been numerous exchanges of students and professors. Stone is here on an exchange basis.

"The books will be avilable to students and research workers in the library here," said Stone.

"They are a gift of the state of Louisiana, presented through its law institute.

"John Tucker, president of the institute, has arranged a number of such presentations, including some to French universities, and to the British Institute of Legal Studies and the law societies."

Questions And Answers

By BETTY LENAHAN

Q.—We are planning to redecorate our living room and dining room and would like some help. The woodwork and the wall where the archway is that separates the two rooms are finished in chestnut. The two-piece sectional sofa is upholstered in white and beige and the tables have mirrored tops. What colors would you suggest for wallpaper, wall-to-wall carpeting and two occasional chairs? Also, we are going to buy new dining-room furniture. Should we get it in a light or dark finish?

A.—Gold grasscloth would be a good selection for the wallpaper in your living room and dining room. You might get the wall-to-wall carpeting in a green and beige tweed, one occasional chair upholstered in red and the other in chartreuse. Dining-room furniture in a light finish would be a nice contrast to the chestnut woodwork and archway wall.

Q.—The built-in range and refrigerator in the kitchen of my new home are brown, the cabinets are birch, the counter tops are lime green and the floor covering is a pink marbleized effect with a lime green feature strip. I would like to paint the walls and use wallpaper on the ceiling drop and perhaps elsewhere in the room. What colors would you suggest?

Q.—We have just bought a six-year-old ranch type house and our three small children will share one room. The furniture is maple with the exception of the baby's crib, which is gray. The draperies are a vari-colored print and the bedspreads are blue. We would like to put tile on the floor, not a nursery pattern, and paint the walls. What colors would you suggest?

Q.—I would like some advice on decorating my living room. The colors I would like to use in the room are cocoa or light brown, aqua or turquoise and a wallpaper with a pattern on a beige background. Could you help me use these colors with suggestions for the rug, sofa, leather easy chair and a pair of small occasional chairs? I have Venetian blinds at the windows. Should I use curtains or draperies and what color? Also, what should I hang over the white painted mantel and on the wall above the sofa? I would like to get the tables in a fruitwood finish.

A.—You can work the colors you like into the color scheme of your living room with a cocoa rug, sofa, upholstered in turquoise, leather easy chair in brown and a pair of small occasional chairs in ivory. I advise using draperies over the Venetian blinds, apricot would be a good color. You might hang a white and gold framed mirror over the mantel and a white framed, gold lined shadow box holding ceramic figurines on the wall above the sofa.

NO SACK LOOK

BURLINGTON, Vt. — (UPI) — Burlington Junior High School Principal Winslow R. Hodgdon banned a scheduled "Sack Dress Day" by seventh, eighth, and ninth-graders who planned to salute the new fashion by wearing sacks. Hodgdon said some of the girls came prepared to wear bran sacks and potato sacks, and some boys even planned to wear bran sacks to class. "This," he added, "could not be allowed."

YOUR PROBLEMS

Thanks For Reminding Who Forget So Easily

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: You're a woman so maybe you can tell me how the female mind works. I'm 29, single, and mixed up.

A girl who works in our office has been making eyes at me for six months. A few weeks ago it was pouring rain and she asked if I'd drive her to the bus-stop. I agreed. We had a polite conversation in the car, nothing more.

The next day, the purchasing agent told me the girl was crazy in love with me but she was burned up because I dropped her off at the bus stop in the rain instead of taking her all the way home.

I was shocked and tried to apologize. She told me to go jump into the lagoon. I told the purchasing agent about her anger and he said to keep trying — she was just playing hard to get.

I've asked her out five times since and have been turned down cold every single time. In the meantime, all her invoices to me have lipstick on them. Please tell me what to make of this.—HANK

There's one in every office — and the purchasing agent is "the one" in yours. A girl who is "crazy in love" with a guy doesn't turn him down five times in a row.

Tell the purchasing agent you're through trying — and since he seems to know so much about what's going on inside this girl's heart and head, ask him to tip you off when her love is so overpowering that she's willing to accept a date with you.

DEAR ANN: I've been sitting here for fifteen minutes, reviewing my problem, trying to think of how to put it down on paper. It suddenly dawned on me that this is the first time I've thought about my problem in an objective, rational manner. Everything is so clear to me now that the solution is very obvious. I don't need any advice.

But since I have the letter in the typewriter, and I have written "Dear Ann", I will finish it by saying . . . "thank you for being available. You've been a great help. Please stick around. I may need you again." — MRS. E.C.H.

Dear Mrs. E.C.H.: How nice of you to write — anyway. Yours is not the first such letter I've received. Need I say I am delighted to be able to help. Sincerely, — ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I just read the letter from the woman who complained because her husband was a clergyman and she had no life of her own. She said she was alone so much she felt like a grass widow.

Well, my husband is a fireman. When I hear people make jokes about how firemen sit around and play cards all day I could shoot 'em.

My husband is on duty 24 hours at a time. He's on call 24-hours a day, 7 days a week. More than once when we were out for the evening he's had to leave a card game in his good clothes to go to a fire.

Yesterday was his day off and he was called on an emergency. He fought a fire for three solid hours, then had to take charge of refilling the tanks on the trucks, and wash the equipment which took another hour.

I've seen him blue in the face from smoke in his lungs. He's fallen through the floor of a burning apartment house. I never know if he's going to come home from his job. So when you women complain about your husband's occupation, please stop a moment and think about the brave sorority who call themselves—FIREMEN'S WIVE

Dear Firemen's Wives: A 21-gun salute to you and your men. A fireman plays many roles — he's the doctor, the life-guard, the rescuer of cats and dogs, the hero who pulls the child out of lthe well — and a million other things. He's wonderful . . . and thanks for reminding all of us who forget so easily.

Dear Ann: I've been seeing a married man for several months and I know he loves me. He says his wife is a nagger and is jealous of him.

Several weeks ago I went to their home and pretended to be taking a survey. I wanted to see for myself what type of woman she was, what the house was like on the inside and so on. I was shocked to meet a beautiful, vivacious person, well-educated and charming. She offered me a cup of coffee and was so sweet I felt like two cents when I left her home.

Last night I had a few drinks and called her on the phone. I didn't identify myself as the survey-taker but I told her about the affair and asked if she'd let her husband go. She said yes—if I would come over in person, and if her husband would face her with the request. She claims her marriage is very solid and didn't believe my story. Shall I bring this out in the open and ask him to choose between us? I know he loves me and not her.—C.O.M.

This cheater has made his choice, Dumbbell. Wake up. Your story is so old if you'd put it to music you could dance to it.

Do yourself a favor and get out of this man's life. I assure you at this stage nothing would please him more.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' new booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped, envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Cites Program On Education In LSU Plan

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana State University dean said Friday night the university's adult education program affected about as many people as are formally enrolled.

Dr. Charles E. Smith, speaking at commencement exercises for the School of Banking of the South, said:

"It has been said that adult education is probably the most significant educational movement in this country in the second half of the 20th century."

Some 104 Southern bank executives received diplomas, signifying the end of three years of intensive study of banking problems on a graduate level.

Church Of Year Named By Group

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi Methodist Conference Friday named Terry Methodist Church as its "church of the year" and the Sartartia circuit as "circuit of the year."

There were 109 changes.

The major changes saw Rev. T. O. Prewitt leave as conference secretary for evangelism and become superintendent of the Seashore district. The Rev. John H. Cook left as secretary of the board of education to become pastor at the First Church of Philadelphia. The Rev. D. T. Ridgeway left as Seashore district superintendent to become secretary of the board of education, while the Rev. W. C. McClellan left the First Church at Philadelphia to become secretary for evangelism.

The ministerial changes for the Vicksburg district were:

Vicksburg District:

Cary, Rev. Charles Lasetter; Community-Church Hill, Rev. E. B. Smith; Crystal Springs, Rev. J. H. Hetrick; Eden-Thornton, Rev. Douglas Vinzant; Fletchers Chapel, Rev. R. A. Givens Jr.; Goodhope - Carer, Rev. Charles planned but that some persons w Leist; Kingston-Mars Hill, Rev. Exo Griffith associate; Redbone, Rev. Nelson Walley; Rolling Fork, Rev. John L. FLOWERS ON HER TOES: This fashion-conscious young lady is strictly coordinated from head to toe in her gay summer dress of English garden chintz with full skirt and piped trim and matching skimmer shoes.

Questions And Answers

By BETTY LENAHAN

Q.—We are planning to redecorate our living room and dining room and would like some help. The woodwork and the wall where the archway is that separates the two rooms are finished in chestnut. The two-piece sectional sofa is upholstered in white and beige and the tables have mirrored tops. What colors would you suggest for wallpaper, wall-to-wall carpeting and two occasional chairs? Also, we are going to buy new dining-room furniture. Should we get it in a light or dark finish?

A.—Gold grasscloth would be a good selection for the wallpaper in your living room and dining room. You might get the wall-to-wall carpeting in a green and beige tweed, one occasional chair upholstered in red and the other in chartreuse. Dining-room furniture in a light finish would be a nice contrast to the chestnut woodwork and archway wall.

Q.—The built-in range and refrigerator in the kitchen of my new home are brown, the cabinets are birch, the counter tops are lime green and the floor covering is a pink marbleized effect with a lime green feature strip. I would like to paint the walls and use wallpaper on the ceiling drop and perhaps elsewhere in the room. What colors would you suggest?

A.—You could get a rather unusual decorative effect in your kitchen by painting the walls a soft shade of green and covering the drop and the ceiling with wallpaper with a pattern of roses with green leaves on a pink background.

Q.—We have just bought a six-year-old ranch type house and our three small children will share one room. The furniture is maple with the exception of the baby's crib, which is gray. The draperies are a vari-colored print and the bedspreads are blue. We would like to put tile on the floor, not a nursery pattern, and paint the walls. What colors would you suggest?

Q.—I would like some advice on decorating my living room. The colors I would like to use in the room are cocoa or light brown, aqua or turquoise and a wallpaper with a pattern on a beige background. Could you help me use these colors with suggestions for the rug, sofa, leather easy chair and a pair of small occasional chairs? I have Venetian blinds at the windows. Should I use curtains or draperies and what color? Also, what should I hang over the white painted mantel and on the wall above the sofa? I would like to get the tables in a fruitwood finish.

A.—You can work the colors you like into the color scheme of your living room with a cocoa rug, sofa, upholstered in turquoise, leather easy chair in brown and a pair of small occasional chairs in ivory. I advise using draperies over the Venetian blinds, apricot would be a good color. You might hang a white and gold framed mirror over the mantel and a white framed, gold lined shadow box holding ceramic figurines on the wall above the sofa.

NO SACK LOOK

BURLINGTON, Vt. — (UPI) — Burlington Junior High School Principal Winslow R. Hodgdon banned a scheduled "Sack Dress Day" by seventh, eighth, and ninth-graders who planned to salute the new fashion by wearing sacks. Hodgdon said some of the girls came prepared to wear bran sacks and potato sacks, and some boys even planned to wear bran sacks to class. "This," he added, "could not be allowed."

YOUR PROBLEMS

Thanks For Reminding Who Forget So Easily

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: You're a woman so maybe you can tell me how the female mind works. I'm 29, single, and mixed up.

A girl who works in our office has been making eyes at me for six months. A few weeks ago it was pouring rain and she asked if I'd drive her to the bus-stop. I agreed. We had a polite conversation in the car, nothing more.

The next day, the purchasing agent told me the girl was crazy in love with me but she was burned up because I dropped her off at the bus stop in the rain instead of taking her all the way home.

I was shocked and tried to apologize. She told me to go jump into the lagoon. I told the purchasing agent about her anger and he said to keep trying — she was just playing hard to get.

I've asked her out five times since and have been turned down cold every single time. In the meantime, all her invoices to me have lipstick on them. Please tell me what to make of this.—HANK

There's one in every office — and the purchasing agent is "the one" in yours. A girl who is "crazy in love" with a guy doesn't turn him down five times in a row.

Tell the purchasing agent you're through trying — and since he seems to know so much about what's going on inside this girl's heart and head, ask him to tip you off when her love is so overpowering that she's willing to accept a date with you.

DEAR ANN: I've been sitting here for fifteen minutes, reviewing my problem, trying to think of how to put it down on paper. It suddenly dawned on me that this is the first time I've thought about my problem in an objective, rational manner. Everything is so clear to me now that the solution is very obvious. I don't need any advice.

But since I have the letter in the typewriter, and I have written "Dear Ann". I will finish it by saying . . . "thank you for being available. You've been a great help. Please stick around. I may need you again." — MRS. E.C.H.

Dear Mrs. E.C.H.: How nice of you to write — anyway. Yours is not the first such letter I've received. Need I say I am delighted to be able to help. Sincerely, — ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I just read the letter from the woman who complained because her husband was a clergyman and she had no life of her own. She said she was alone so much she felt like a grass widow.

Well, my husband is a fireman. When I hear people make jokes about how firemen sit around and play cards all day I could shoot 'em.

My husband is on duty 24 hours at a time. He's on call 24-hours a day, 7 days a week. More than once when we were out for the evening he's had to leave a card game in his good clothes to go to a fire.

Yesterday was his day off and he was called on an emergency. He fought a fire for three solid hours, then had to take charge of refilling the tanks on the trucks, and wash the equipment which took another hour.

I've seen him blue in the face from smoke in his lungs. He's fallen through the floor of a burning apartment house. I never know if he's going to come home from his job. So when you women complain about your husband's occupation, please stop a moment and think about the brave sorority who call themselves—FIREMEN'S WIVE

Dear Firemen's Wives: A 21-gun salute to you and your men. A fireman plays many roles — he's the doctor, the life-guard, the rescuer of cats and dogs, the hero who pulls the child out of lthe well — and a million other things. He's wonderful . . . and thanks for reminding all of us who forget so easily.

Dear Ann: I've been seeing a married man for several months and I know he loves me. He says his wife is a nagger and is jealous of him.

Several weeks ago I went to their home and pretended to be taking a survey. I wanted to see for myself what type of woman she was, what the house was like on the inside and so on. I was shocked to meet a beautiful, vivacious person, well-educated and charming. She offered me a cup of coffee and was so sweet I felt like two cents when I left her home.

Last night I had a few drinks and called her on the phone. I didn't identify myself as the survey-taker but I told her about the affair and asked if she'd let her husband go. She said yes—if I would come over in person, and if her husband would face her with the request. She claims her marriage is very solid and didn't believe my story. Shall I bring this out in the open and ask him to choose between us? I know he loves me and not her.—C.O.M.

This cheater has made his choice, Dumbbell. Wake up. Your story is so old if you'd put it to music you could dance to it.

Do yourself a favor and get out of this man's life. I assure you at this stage nothing would please him more.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' new booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped, envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Cites Program On Education In LSU Plan

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana State University dean said Friday night the university's adult education program affected about as many people as are formally enrolled.

Dr. Charles E. Smith, speaking at commencement exercises for the School of Banking of the South, said:

"It has been said that adult education is probably the most significant educational movement in this country in the second half of the 20th century."

Some 104 Southern bank executives received diplomas, signifying the end of three years of intensive study of banking problems on a graduate level.

Church Of Year Named By Group

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi Methodist Conference Friday named Terry Methodist Church as its "church of the year" and the Sartartia circuit as "circuit of the year."

There were 109 changes.

The major changes saw Rev. T. O. Prewitt leave as conference secretary for evangelism and become superintendent of the Seashore district. The Rev. John H. Cook left as secretary of the board of education to become pastor at the First Church of Philadelphia. The Rev. D. T. Ridgeway left as Seashore district superintendent to become secretary of the board of education, while the Rev. W. C. McClellan left the First Church at Philadelphia to become secretary for evangelism.

The ministerial changes for the Vicksburg district were:

Vicksburg District:

Stormy Marriage

By Vida Hurst

Chapter 34

The dinner which followed the toast was fabulous and not a false note marred the excellence of the food which had been planned, cooked and served with simple elegance.

"Planning dinner parties is my hobby," Kitty admitted artlessly.

"You are a delightful hostess," Randy said warmly. "That's one of the reasons I'm so devoted to you."

"Are you? Devoted to me, I mean?" Kitty asked as if no one else were there.

Randy glanced at Stormy as if asking her pardon for what he was about to say, but her eyes evaded his. It hurt her to see him playing up to the other woman, trying to convince her of his loyalty even though he had married some one else. Stormy thought miserably,"Maybe he's sorry he married me. Maybe he's told her to be patient, it will take a little time, but eventually he will obtain his freedom."

She didn't really believe that, but there was something between her husband and Grandma which she could not understand. Some secret loyalty which even marriage to someone else could not destroy. Stormy had come to Kitty's party because Randy had announced his intention of going without her if necessary. Now dictatorial could be a husband be?

Stormy hoped they could leave early, but it was after ten when they left the table. Coffee was served in the living room. Although it was June the Japanese deposited the heavy silver tray with its precious load of small Dresden cups and saucers on a table before the fireplace. It was June, but cold enough to make the small fire welcome. Kitty took her place behind the coffee pot and the white - coated one withdrew.

"Oriental servants must be handled with care," Kitty said after he had quietly disappeared. "They can be the most loyal or the most despicable servants," Kitty sighed. "They contribute more to one's comfort, than any other factor...."

Randy who had taken the place on the davenport beside her said, pleasantly, "Everyone is not so fortunate as you are."

Randy smiles at Stormy in her chair across the room. "Financially, of course. How many people do you know who can afford a couple of servants since the war?"

Kitty smiled. They sounded as if they had been married for years. And in spite of her determination not to do so, Stormy resented it. Was Randy afraid of Kitty Wallace? Why did he flatter her like this? David seemed to be following the same pattern, but David was her son. At her request David was passing the cups, but in his eagerness to please her the cup on its little saucer slipped and fell, splashing hot coffee on Kitty's expensive new dress.

"I'm sorry," David apologized, but it was Randy who whisked a folded handkerchief from his pocket and mopped up the hot liquid.

"I hope it didn't burn you," the boy said anxiously.

"Nothing is hurt except my new dress," Kitty said ruefully. "I shouldn't have asked you to help. You are as clumsy as your father."

David's face was white. Without another word he left the room. Elsa ran after him and Randy said, "You shouldn't say things like that, Kitty. You know he adored his father."

"I ought to know it. I've heard about it often enough," Kitty retorted. "But if he's going to live with me he'll have to stop being so sensitive."

She tried to resume her role of hostess but the evening was ruined for everyone. David did not return but Elsa came to the doorway long enough to state that David was driving her home.

When her father protested that he would be leaving soon she cried, "I'm not interested in what you do. I'm going with David."

The silence was as awkward as a baby's first steps. Each of the three tired to say something impersonal, but the most casual remark seemed weighted. Stormy thought it was her presence which made it impossible to speak naturally. She wished that she had gone with David and Elsa. She did not feel it was up to her to suggest leaving. What really upset her was that she, Randy's wife, was the outsider. The other two would have had plenty to say if they had been alone

Stormy could have wept with gratitude when Randy glanced at his watch and said, "I didn't realize it was so late. I'm sorry we didn't accomplish our purpose, Kitty. If David is interested you'd better tell him to make an appointment with me at the office."

"Via your secretary, I presume."

"That is customary," he replied. "But if he's going to be a success in any business, he'll have to control his temper!"

School Out Of Southern

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—Washingtoı. and Lee University Friday resigned from the Southern Conference, effective July 1. The announcement followed notification to conference officials.

President Francis P. Gaines in a letter to Dr. Frontis W. Johnson of Davidson College, the conference president, said "the entire university family regreats the necessity for this step."

The university's board of trustees made the decision on unanimous recommendation from Washington and Lee's committee on intercollegiate athletics.

Washington and Lee won the conference football championship in 1950 but four years later deemphasized football and confined its schedule mostly to opponents not subsidizing football.

PAR Group Says Court Takes Power

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Public Affairs Committee of the Mississippi State Bar charged Friday the U. S. Supreme Court "took from the people the power that they had."

The report was made public by committee chairman Hugh V. Wall of Brookhaven.

The heart of the report was, "get the schools out of the courts and get the Army out of the schools."

Wall said a "great many leading lawyers throughout the nation were surprised at the 1954 decision of the court holding that school segregation was unconstitutional.

"But when the President of the United States ordered units of the regular Army to Little Rock to enfore the order of the U. S. District Court, the people throughout the nation were astounded," he said.

Given Copies On Conference From Red Boss

Ambassadors Llewellyn Thompson of the United States, Sir Patrick Reilley of Britain and Maurice DeJean of France called on him separately at his request.

The ambassadors said he handed them copies of Khrushchev's messages to President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain and Premier Charles de Gaulle of France. They were told, they said, that the Soviet Union did not plan to make the messages public.

Convict Man In N.O. Rift

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A young City Hall draftsman was convicted Friday of assault in the first incident since the city's transit system was integrated by court order May 31.

Municipal Court Judge Andrew C. Bucaro ruled Elster Besselle Jr., 23, was guilty of assault in pushing a Negro woman out of the seat when she sat down beside him on a bus.

BY LAWMAKERS

LSU Center Of Concentration

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Lawmakers concentrated more legislative attention on Louisiana State University this week than probably ever before in the institution's 100-year-history.

The spotlight will center again on LSU Sunday night when legislators begin the sixth week of the Legislature's 1958 session.

The Senate Sunday may vote on a proposal to create a board of regents to administer all higher education in the state, including LSU.

On the list of regular business for House consideration Sunday are two proposed constitutional amendments shortening terms of the LSU Board of Supervisors. All three measures won committee approvals this week in spite of strong opposition from board members and other university officials.

A legislative committee's preliminary hearing on segregation-it charges that LSU's faculty includes teachers indoctrinating their students with integration beliefs took the center of the Legislature's stage this week.

The hearing at which Gen. Troy H. Middleton calmly defended the university against the allegations, eclipsed Senate consideration of a gas gathering tax increase, until then the most burning issue of the current session.

Sen. W. M. Rainach of Summerfield, chairman of the investigating committee, said the probe will continue next week.

He admitted the possibility that some LSU faculty members who signed a petition opposing the joint legislative committee on segregation's 1958 proposals will be summoned.

Ready for final Senate consideration Sunday is Sen. Rex McCullough's plan for a single higher education board, the recommendation of a study committee McCullough heads. A 7-2 Senate Education Committee vote flagged the bill on for floor action.

Three House members obtained 7-6 Judiciary B Committee votes to advance separate measures to cut the 14-year terms of LSU's board to seven and eight years.

McCullough contends the board of regents is needed to end "unbridled competition" between the university and the state's nine state colleges which are administered by the State Board of Education.

Reps. T. T. Fields of Union Parish, Jesse McLain of St. Tammany and Alton De Nux of Avoyelles maintain shorter LSU board terms are necessary "to get LSU closer to the people."

Another proposal for halving board members terms was deferred by the Senate Education Committee this week after board members voiced strong opposition.

Two other pieces of LSU legislation marked time quietly during the week. Awaiting House Appropriations Committee consideration is a bill to divert 3 million dollars annually of the state beer tax to be used to finance a 40 million dollar capital improvement program.

Two-Year-Old La. Boy Shot

PLAQUMINE, La. (AP)—A 12-year-old playmate accidentally shot and killed two-year-old Gary Dennis Pugh, Sheriff C. A. Griffon Jr. said Friday.

Gary, son of John and Doris Pugh, was playing Thursday when Arthur Jenkins, son of Edward and Amlia Jenkins, accidentally fired a shotgun which struck the Negro child in the chest.

Dr. R. L. Martinez, Iberville Parish coroner, ruled the shooting accidental and young Jenkins was placed in the custody of his parents.

Griffon said a group of Negro boys were playing at the Jenkins home when the shotgun killed the child.

DELAYED PAYMENT

BANGOR, Me. — (UPI) — Herman J. Le Blanc of Mexico paid a $25 fine on a three-year-old speeding charge after telling the court that the "incident had slipped my mind."

WM Chamber Groups Hold 2 Meetings

Committees of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce continued their fast-moving schedule of meetings yesterday, with the recreation group meeting at 10 a.m. and the newcomers committee gathering for an afternoon session.

The possibility of building additional tennis courts, with perhaps one at West Monroe High School, was discussed by the recreation group. Ben Farmer is chairman of the committee.

Members of the group went on record as planning to cooperate in every way possible with the West Monroe Recreation Board in working out ways for additional recreational facilities in the city.

July 11 at 10 a.m. was chosen as the next meeting date.

Newcomers Group

Chairman John Luffey presided over the newcomers committee meeting, and members discussed calling on personnel of new businesses which come to the city, and new personnel of established businesses.

It was agreed that members of the committee should see that such newcomers are provided with information on housing, churches, schools, civic clubs and the like, with two committee members calling on each newcomer.

It was pointed out at the meeting that 5,000 copies of the new West Monroe street map are expected to be available in the near future, and will be beneficial to all new residents, as well as to many others.

The group is to meet again July 10 at 3 p.m.

Plant Purchase Is Cleared Up

A story several days ago in The World saying that two Shreveport men had purchased the 10-year-old Century Brick Plant in Monroe was in error.

Actually, the two, John W. Porter, former general manager at the Tex-Crete Co., Bossier City, and Charles Brown, former Tex-Crete sales manager, leased only the brick division ofl the plant.

The read; -mix division of Century was not involved in the deal and will continue to operate on a separate basis under the direction of Parker Humble, Monroe industrialist who owns the entire plant.

The announcement released in Shreveport erroneously stated that the entire plant had been sold, but this was not the case, according to Huble

Man Identified

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Keesler Air Force Base authorities Friday identified a man found drown in a creek bed 12 miles north of here as an Air Force instructor missing since Tuesday.

He was Airman 1.C. Robert Lee Hill, 25, of Freeport, Pa., a member of the 3394th student sqcadber of the 3394th student squad-spotted in a creek bed yesterday by a helicopter about four miles from where Hill's locked car was found.

A coroner's jury ruled Hill died of accidental drowning.

MORE LOANS

CHICAGO—(UPI)—The United States Savings and Loan League reports that the nation's 6,000 savings and loan associations made more loans in the first quarter of 1958 than in the same period a year ago. The league said lending by saving associations in the first quarter was $2,323,000,000 as against $2,265,000,000.

"Nothing is hurt except my new dress," Kitty said ruefully. "I shouldn't have asked you to help. You are as clumsy as your father."

David's face was white. Without another word he left the room. Elsa ran after him and Randy said, "You shouldn't say things like that, Kitty. You know he adored his father."

"I ought to know it. I've heard about it often enough," Kitty retorted. "But if he's going to live with me he'll have to stop being so sensitive."

She tried to resume her role of hostess but the evening was ruined for everyone. David did not return but Elsa came to the doorway long enough to state that David was driving her home.

When her father protested that he would be leaving soon she cried, "I'm not interested in what you do. I'm going with David."

The silence was as awkward as a baby's first steps. Each of the three tired to say something impersonal, but the most casual remark seemed weighted. Stormy thought it was her presence which made it impossible to speak naturally. She wished that she had gone with David and Elsa. She did not feel it was up to her to suggest leaving. What really upset her was that she, Randy's wife, was the outsider. The other two would have had plenty to say if they had been alone

Stormy could have wept with gratitude when Randy glanced at his watch and said, "I didn't realize it was so late. I'm sorry we didn't accomplish our purpose, Kitty. If David is interested you'd better tell him to make an appointment with me at the office."

"Via your secretary, I presume."

"That is customary," he replied. "But if he's going to be a success in any business, he'll have to control his temper!"

Given Copies On Conference From Red Boss

Ambassadors Llewellyn Thompson of the United States, Sir Patrick Reilley of Britain and Maurice DeJean of France called on him separately at his request.

The ambassadors said he handed them copies of Khrushchev's messages to President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain and Premier Charles de Gaulle of France. They were told, they said, that the Soviet Union did not plan to make the messages public.

Convict Man In N.O. Rift

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A young City Hall draftsman was convicted Friday of assault in the first incident since the city's transit system was integrated by court order May 31.

Municipal Court Judge Andrew C. Bucaro ruled Elster Besselle Jr., 23, was guilty of assault in pushing a Negro woman out of the seat when she sat down beside him on a bus.

BY LAWMAKERS

LSU Center Of Concentration

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Lawmakers concentrated more legislative attention on Louisiana State University this week than probably ever before in the institution's 100-year-history.

The spotlight will center again on LSU Sunday night when legislators begin the sixth week of the Legislature's 1958 session.

The Senate Sunday may vote on a proposal to create a board of regents to administer all higher education in the state, including LSU.

On the list of regular business for House consideration Sunday are two proposed constitutional amendments shortening terms of the LSU Board of Supervisors. All three measures won committee approvals this week in spite of strong opposition from board members and other university officials.

A legislative committee's preliminary hearing on segregation-it charges that LSU's faculty includes teachers indoctrinating their students with integration beliefs took the center of the Legislature's stage this week.

The hearing at which Gen. Troy H. Middleton calmly defended the university against the allegations, eclipsed Senate consideration of a gas gathering tax increase, until then the most burning issue of the current session.

Sen. W. M. Rainach of Summerfield, chairman of the investigating committee, said the probe will continue next week.

He admitted the possibility that some LSU faculty members who signed a petition opposing the joint legislative committee on segregation's 1958 proposals will be summoned.

Ready for final Senate consideration Sunday is Sen. Rex McCullough's plan for a single higher education board, the recommendation of a study committee McCullough heads. A 7-2 Senate Education Committee vote flagged the bill on for floor action.

Three House members obtained 7-6 Judiciary B Committee votes to advance separate measures to cut the 14-year terms of LSU's board to seven and eight years.

McCullough contends the board of regents is needed to end "unbridled competition" between the university and the state's nine state colleges which are administered by the State Board of Education.

Reps. T. T. Fields of Union Parish, Jesse McLain of St. Tammany and Alton De Nux of Avoyelles maintain shorter LSU board terms are necessary "to get LSU closer to the people."

Middleton and board members opposed all three at this week's committee hearings.

Another proposal for halving board members terms was deferred by the Senate Education Committee this week after board members voiced strong opposition.

Two other pieces of LSU legislation marked time quietly during the week. Awaiting House Appropriations Committee consideration is a bill to divert 3 million dollars annually of the state beer tax to be used to finance a 40 million dollar capital improvement program.

Two-Year-Old La. Boy Shot

PLAQUMINE, La. (AP)—A 12-year-old playmate accidentally shot and killed two-year-old Gary Dennis Pugh, Sheriff C. A. Griffon Jr. said Friday.

Gary, son of John and Doris Pugh, was playing Thursday when Arthur Jenkins, son of Edward and Amlia Jenkins, accidentally fired a shotgun which struck the Negro child in the chest.

Dr. R. L. Martinez, Iberville Parish coroner, ruled the shooting accidental and young Jenkins was placed in the custody of his parents.

Griffon said a group of Negro boys were playing at the Jenkins home when the shotgun killed the child.

DELAYED PAYMENT

BANGOR, Me. — (UPI) — Herman J. Le Blanc of Mexico paid a $25 fine on a three-year-old speeding charge after telling the court that the "incident had slipped my mind."

WM Chamber Groups Hold 2 Meetings

Committees of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce continued their fast-moving schedule of meetings yesterday, with the recreation group meeting at 10 a.m. and the newcomers committee gathering for an afternoon session.

The possibility of building additional tennis courts, with perhaps one at West Monroe High School, was discussed by the recreation group. Ben Farmer is chairman of the committee.

Members of the group went on record as planning to cooperate in every way possible with the West Monroe Recreation Board in working out ways for additional recreational facilities in the city.

July 11 at 10 a.m. was chosen as the next meeting date.

Newcomers Group

Chairman John Luffey presided over the newcomers committee meeting, and members discussed calling on personnel of new businesses which come to the city, and new personnel of established businesses.

It was agreed that members of the committee should see that such newcomers are provided with information on housing, churches, schools, civic clubs and the like, with two committee members calling on each newcomer.

It was pointed out at the meeting that 5,000 copies of the new West Monroe street map are expected to be available in the near future, and will be beneficial to all new residents, as well as to many others.

The group is to meet again July 10 at 3 p.m.

Plant Purchase Is Cleared Up

A story several days ago in The World saying that two Shreveport men had purchased the 10-year-old Century Brick Plant in Monroe was in error.

Actually, the two, John W. Porter, former general manager at the Tex-Crete Co., Bossier City, and Charles Brown, former Tex-Crete sales manager, leased only the brick division ofl the plant.

The read,-mix division of Century was not involved in the deal and will continue to operate on a separate basis under the direction of Parker Humble, Monroe industrialist who owns the entire plant.

The announcement released in Shreveport erroneously stated that the entire plant had been sold, but this was not the case, according to Huble

Man Identified

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Keesler Air Force Base authorities Friday identified a man found drown in a creek bed 12 miles north of here as an Air Force instructor missing since Tuesday.

He was Airman 1.C. Robert Lee Hill, 25, of Freeport, Pa., a member of the 3394th student sqcad ber of the 3394th student squad-spotted in a creek bed yesterday by a helicopter about four miles from where Hill's locked car was found.

A coroner's jury ruled Hill died of accidental drowning.

MORE LOANS

CHICAGO—(UPI)—The United States Savings and Loan League reports that the nation's 6,000 savings and loan associations made more loans in the first quarter of 1958 than in the same period a year ago. The league said lending by saving associations in the first quarter was $2,323,000,000 as against $2,265,000,000.

School Out Of Southern

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—Washington and Lee University Friday resigned from the Southern Conference, effective July 1. The announcement followed notification to conference officials.

President Francis P. Gaines in a letter to Dr. Frontis W. Johnson of Davidson College, the conference president, said "the entire university family regreats the necessity for this step."

The university's board of trustees made the decision on unanimous recommendation from Washington and Lee's committee on intercollegiate athletics.

Washington and Lee won the conference football championship in 1950 but four years later de-emphasized football and confined its schedule mostly to opponents not subsidizing football.

PAR Group Says Court Takes Power

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Public Affairs Committee of the Mississippi State Bar charged Friday the U. S. Supreme Court "took from the people the power that they had."

The report was made public by committee chairman Hugh V. Wall of Brookhaven.

The heart of the report was, "get the schools out of the courts and get the Army out of the schools."

Wall said a "great many leading lawyers throughout the nation were surprised at the 1954 decision of the court holding that school segregation was unconstitutional.

"But when the President of the United States ordered units of the regular Army to Little Rock to enfore the order of the U. S. District Court, the people throughout the nation were astounded," he said.

Murder Attempt Suspect Caught In E. Carroll

Local FBI agent Bill Dent and two parish sheriffs yesterday captured a suspect in East Carroll Parish wanted for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for attempted murder, according to R. J. Abbaticchio who is agent in charge of the New Orleans office of the FBI.

According to authorities, Booker T. Thomas, a Negro about 38, of Delhi, shot at another Negro in Rayville in February, 1957. The victim was wounded but recovered.

Agents said Thomas had been living on a farm in East Carroll Parish since the shooting. Yesterday, local agent Bill Dent, Rayville Sheriff Audrey McKinney and Sheriff Morris Coleman of Lake Providence found the suspect on the farm near the Tensas River.

Says Adams Got Oriental Rug From Goldfine

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Post said Friday that Sherman Adams was given a $2,400 Oriental rug two years ago by his industrialist friend Bernard Goldfine.

The newspaper said Goldfine and Adams picked out the rug in Macy's here, ordered it shipped to Washington and Goldfine paid for it with a check drawn on one of his textile firms.

Murder Attempt Suspect Caught In E. Carroll

Local FBI agent Bill Dent and two parish sheriffs yesterday captured a suspect in East Carroll Parish wanted for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for attempted murder, according to R. J. Abbaticchio who is agent in charge of the New Orleans office of the FBI.

According to authorities, Booker T. Thomas, a Negro about 38, of Delhi, shot at another Negro in Rayville in February, 1957. The victim was wounded but recovered.

Agents said Thomas had been living on a farm in East Carroll Parish since the shooting. Yesterday, local agent Bill Dent, Rayville Sheriff Audrey McKinney and Sheriff Morris Coleman of Lake Providence found the suspect on the farm near the Tensas River.

Play Safe While You Drive!

Keep alert—chew gum

Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend refreshing, delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment.

Says Adams Got Oriental Rug From Goldfine

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Post said Friday that Sherman Adams was given a $2,400 Oriental rug two years ago by his industrialist friend Bernard Goldfine.

The newspaper said Goldfine and Adams picked out the rug in Macy's here, ordered it shipped to Washington and Goldfine paid for it with a check drawn on one of his textile firms.

WOOL LETTER

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith

Yesterday the market was inactive with a little new trade and Commission House buying meeting light offerings. There were no auctions held overseas yesterday while little in the way of actuals business from Boston was reported. London futures, in light volume, closed unchanged to fractionally higher with most operators unwilling to take new positions prior to the week end. Approximately 80,000 bales will be offered at the Australian auction centers next week and the concensus of opinion appears to be for steady prices to prevail.

COTTON LETTER

Yesterday the House Agriculture Committee passed the choice bill. The Senate is working on a similar version which should come to a vote some time next week. The two measures would then be compromised in a joint committee. The House Committee will continue hearings over the weekend on other agriculture commodities and it is possible if things make favorable progress a house floor vote on the Omnibus Farm Bill could take place in about two weeks. It is believed the bill as passed yesterday still has some objectionable features to the administration.

Futures again tended lower declining around 50 cents a bale on further scattered liquidation. Nearby months were under fair pressure and trade price fixing provided the main buying. Unfixed call sales as of June sixth totalled 172,400 bales as opposed to 336,000 last year. The CCC sold 97,697 bales as opposed to 336,000 last year. The CCC sold 97,697 bales for export after August first at average price for middling inch 28.76.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The average price of one inch spot cotton at 14 designated Southern spot markets Friday was five cents a bale lower at 34.79 cents a pound; previous day 34.80; week ago 34.79; month ago 34.82; year ago 33.95; average for the past 30 market day 34.69; middling 15-16 inch average 33.26; sales 72,596.

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 30 to 80 cents a bale lower Friday under pressure of liquidation and hedging.

Farm legislative developments led to wide price swings in distant 1959 crop deliveries with October off $1 a bale at the worst. Those months rallied partially toward the close while the balance of the market held around the lows for the day.

Reports that the House Agriculture Committee approved the cotton section of the omnibus farm bill, aimed at lowering cotton support prices and increasing acreage, touched off the selling movement. Following the announcement that the committee had approved a sweeping omnibus bill, the distant months moved up on views that a bill in its present form faces an administration veto.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Report Zhukov In Retirement

These sources denied Premier Nikita Khrushchev had taken any moves against the friend of President Eisenhower and World War II Soviet hero.

When Khrushchev dismissed Zhukov from his post presumably because Zhukov refused to bow to dictates that the Communist party should prevail in the army over disciplinary and strategic considerations, there was speculation he would not long survive to propagandize his ideas.

Market Climbs To High

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Friday surged to another new 1958 peak in the heaviest trading since May 6.

It was the second broadest advance of the year as 1,209 issues were traded, the greatest number since Jan. 16.

Volume swelled to 3,100,000 shares compared with 2,760,000 Thursday and was the heaviest since May 20.

An estimated 1½ billion dollars was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in the Associated Press average.

Leading issues swept ahead from fractions to 2 or more points. The gains were better than that in mid-afternoon but some late profit taking trimmed prices.

Oils and selected tobaccos were pacemakers early in the day. Rails staged a late spurt to join hands with the industrials. Steels, airlines, coppers and radio-televisions advanced pretty solidly. The rise by motors and aircrafts was more irregular.

The rise was backgrounded by improvement in some fundamental economic indicators. The Federal Reserve Board announced that in May the nation's industrial production had its first upturn since June 1957. Housing starts swung up to a yearly rate of 1,010,000 in May, the first month since January that the 1,000,000 level was passed. Rail freight carloadings were reported last week at the highest point since early December.

The tobaccos were the subject of great excitement in Wall Street due to advance reports there of an article soon to appear in the Readers' Digest evaluating the effectiveness of cigarette filters. U. S. Tobacco and Lorillard, it was thought, would make a good showing in this article.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.20 to its new 1958 peak of $174.30. This was the best rise since May 20. It put the average at its highest level since last Sept. 4.

The industrial component rose $2.60, the rails $1.80 and the utilities 10 cents, all to new highs for 1958.

$39,000 Loan Available For Planning Here

An advance loan of $39,000 was made available to Monroe yesterday for preliminary planning of sewerage system improvements.

The money, approved for use here by the Community Facilities Administration in Washington, may be unneeded.

Mayor W. L. "Jack" Howard, in acknowledging the approval, said that he was pleased to learn that the funds have been made available for the preliminary planning and engineering report.

The preliminary engineering work and studies are necessary to determine how much the project will cost before the city decides to finance it.

"No contracts for the work will be let until the Citizens Committee has studied the preliminary plans. The committee will decide whether to recommend to the City Council that a bond election be called. The people of Monroe would then be able to indicate whether they want the improvements or not, through the bond election," the Mayor pointed out.

He explained that the Citizens Committee is interested in the cost of the project and where it would be located. To gain the government funds, which would have to be repaid if and when the construction started, many federal regulations would have to be complied with.

"The government requires that the preliminary study and engineering be made according to their plans and specifications," Howard stated, adding that there is a good chance the work can be done without need for the CFA grant.

However, the interest-free loan is available to the city in case the need for it arises.

Commissioner John C. Hazeltine of the CFA approved the advance. Last week $115,000 was also made available for surveys and preliminary planning of street, sewer and drainage improvements here.

The latest planning will be for sewerage system improvements and extensions of an existing sewerage system and the replacement of a major interceptor.

Howard said that the interceptor to be replaced is the main outfall sewer line where the cave-in has occurred on Jackson Street.

"Gases have eaten the concrete out, causing deterioration and the cave-in. The engineers will work out the details for a new location," he explained.

In approving the $39,000 for the preliminary planning, the CFA estimated the project would cost $1,250,000. Howard noted that government engineers have not actually come into the city to work out that estimate, and stated that when engineers have made an actual estimate here, the cost could be more or less than the federal figures.

HIGHWAY-SKYWAY

BOSTON—(UPI)—Massachusetts soon will have a combination highway and skyway. Four helicopter landing areas will be built alongside Route 128, Boston's circumferential highway. The idea is to provide a modern means of transportation for the multi-million-dollar industrial plants that line Route 128.

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith

Yesterday the market was inactive with a little new trade and Commission House buying meeting light offerings. There were no auctions held overseas yesterday while little in the way of actuals business from Boston was reported. London futures, in light volume, closed unchanged to fractionally higher with most operators unwilling to take new positions prior to the week end. Approximately 80,000 bales will be offered at the Australian auction centers next week and the concensus of opinion appears to be for steady prices to prevail.

COTTON LETTER

Yesterday the House Agriculture Committee passed the choice bill. The Senate is working on a similar version which should come to a vote some time next week. The two measures would then be compromised in a joint committee. The House Committee will continue hearings over the weekend on other agriculture commodities and it is possible if things make favorable progress a house floor vote on the Omnibus Farm Bill could take place in about two weeks. It is believed the bill as passed yesterday still has some objectionable features to the administration.

Futures again tended lower declining around 50 cents a bale on further scattered liquidation. Nearby months were under fair pressure and trade price fixing provided the main buying. Unfixed call sales as of June sixth totalled 172,400 bales as opposed to 336,000 last year. The CCC sold 97,697 bales as opposed to 336,000 last year. The CCC sold 97,697 bales for export after August first at average price for middling inch 28.76.

COTTON

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Cotton futures advanced early here Friday on trade buying but reacted downward later under weekend long liquidation and hedge selling. Closing prices were steady 5 cents to 60 cents a bale lower.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The average price of one inch spot cotton at 14 designated Southern spot markets Friday was five cents a bale lower at 34.79 cents a pound; previous day 34.80; week ago 34.79; month ago 34.82; year ago 33.95; average for the past 30 market day 34.69; middling 15-16 inch average 33.26; sales 72,596.

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 30 to 80 cents a bale lower Friday under pressure of liquidation and hedging.

Farm legislative developments led to wide price swings in distant 1959 crop deliveries with October off $1 a bale at the worst. Those months rallied partially toward the close while the balance of the market held around the lows for the day.

Reports that the House Agriculture Committee approved the cotton section of the omnibus farm bill, aimed at lowering cotton support prices and increasing acreage, touched off the selling movement. Following the announcement that the committee had approved a sweeping omnibus bill, the distant months moved up on views that a bill in its present form faces an administration veto.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Report Zhukov In Retirement

These sources denied Premier Nikita Khrushchev had taken any moves against the friend of President Eisenhower and World War II Soviet hero.

When Khrushchev dismissed Zhukov from his post presumably because Zhukov refused to bow to dictates that the Communist party should prevail in the army over disciplinary and strategic considerations, there was speculation he would not long survive to propagandize his ideas.

Market Climbs To High

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Friday surged to another new 1958 peak in the heaviest trading since May 6.

It was the second broadest advance of the year as 1,209 issues were traded, the greatest number since Jan. 16.

Volume swelled to 3,100,000 shares compared with 2,760,000 Thursday and was the heaviest since May 20.

An estimated 1½ billion dollars was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in the Associated Press average.

Leading issues swept ahead from fractions to 2 or more points. The gains were better than that in mid - afternoon but some late profit taking trimmed prices.

Oils and selected tobaccos were pacemakers early in the day. Rails staged a late spurt to join hands with the industrials. Steels, airlines, coppers and radio-televisions advanced pretty solidly. The rise by motors and aircrafts was more irregular.

The rise was backgrounded by improvement in some fundamental economic indicators. The Federal Reserve Board announced that in May the nation's industrial production had its first upturn since June 1957. Housing starts swung up to a yearly rate of 1,010,000 in May, the first month since January that the 1,000,000 level was passed. Rail freight carloadings were reported last week at the highest point since early December.

The tobaccos were the subject of great excitement in Wall Street due to advance reports there of an article soon to appear in the Readers' Digest evaluating the effectiveness of cigarette filters. U. S. Tobacco and Lorillard, it was thought, would make a good showing in this article.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.20 to its new 1958 peak of $174.30. This was the best rise since May 20. It put the average at its highest level since last Sept. 4.

The industrial component rose $2.60, the rails $1.80 and the utilities 10 cents, all to new highs for 1958.

Thirteen of the 15 most active stocks rose, one fell and one was unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices rose as volume expanded to 1,010,000 shares compared with 940,000 Thursday.

Seven of the signers of the Declaration of Independence were more than 60 years old.

An advance loan of $39,000 was made available to Monroe yesterday for preliminary planning of sewerage system improvements.

The money, approved for use here by the Community Facilities Administration in Washington, may be unneeded.

Mayor W. L. "Jack" Howard, in acknowledging the approval, said that he was pleased to learn that the funds have been made available for the preliminary planning and engineering report.

The preliminary engineering work and studies are necessary to determine how much the project will cost before the city decides to finance it.

"No contracts for the work will be let until the Citizens Committee has studied the preliminary plans. The committee will decide whether to recommend to the City Council that a bond election be called. The people of Monroe would then be able to indicate whether they want the improvements or not, through the bond election," the Mayor pointed out.

He explained that the Citizens Committee is interested in the cost of the project and where it would be located. To gain the government funds, which would have to be repaid if and when the construction started, many federal regulations would have to be complied with.

The regulations would include a drawing of detailed plans and specifications for the work.

"The government requires that the preliminary study and engineering be made according to their plans and specifications," Howard stated, adding that there is a good chance the work can be done without need for the CFA grant.

However, the interest-free loan is available to the city in case the need for it arises.

Commissioner John C. Hazeltine of the CFA approved the advance. Last week $115,000 was also made available for surveys and preliminary planning of street, sewer and drainage improvements here.

The latest planning will be for sewerage system improvements and extensions of an existing sewerage system and the replacement of a major interceptor.

Howard said that the interceptor to be replaced is the main outfall sewer line where the cave-in has occurred on Jackson Street.

"Gases have eaten the concrete out, causing deterioration and the cave-in. The engineers will work out the details for a new location," he explained.

In approving the $39,000 for the preliminary planning, the CFA estimated the project would cost $1,250,000. Howard noted that government engineers have not actually come into the city to work out that estimate, and stated that when engineers have made an actual estimate here, the cost could be more or less than the federal figures.

HIGHWAY-SKYWAY

BOSTON—(UPI)—Massachusetts soon will have a combination highway and skyway. Four helicopter landing areas will be built alongside Route 128, Boston's circumferential highway. The idea is to provide a modern means of transportation for the multi-million-dollar industrial plants that line Route 128.
